
In His IMAGE

How small man seems, compared to a mountain or even a tree. And yet, how great is his potential! Man can fashion a tree into a chair, a boat, or a house. And he can, if he wants, tunnel through a mountain.

Man has been created in God's own image; he has been given dominion over the earth and over all other creatures on the earth. Among the many gifts which God has given to man are intelligence, initiative and will power. But the use of these gifts must be motivated by the love of God if man is to be rewarded with peace and happiness.

Down through the ages, the Church has been teaching man that the misuse of intelligence and power brings on sin and self-destruction, while love-motivated use of God's gifts brings joy, peace of mind and salvation.

Church attendance, prayer and worship will help anyone understand the proper relationship between God and man.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Man Rises

Lesson for April 26, 1599

(Note to the reader: If you attend Sunday school, you may use a "quarterly" or other book which prints a certain passage of Scripture as the lesson. These printed passages are always taken from the larger amount of Bible material which is referred to at the head of this page. This column is not confined to the printed verses, but is based in general on the whole material, or some part of it which may not be in the printed section. The reader is always invited to read the entire Bible material and not the necessarily small amount which may be printed in the quarterly or used here.)

Dr. Foreman

Success Begins Within

Among the successful men of history, David the king of Israel takes a high rank. There are always reasons outside a man who succeeds, helping his success. Would Abraham Lincoln have achieved his peak of greatness had he lived in 17th-century England or in 20th century America? Would John Calvin have the same world-wide influence as pastor of any modern Presbyterian church as he had in the Geneva of the sixteenth century? Would David have made a good President of the United States? The answer in each case is No.

Nevertheless, circumstances only help on what is already there. A man without the seeds of success in him is not going to be pushed to a high pinnacle of glory merely because the times are calling for a great man. Thus to find the secret of David's success, as with all other great persons, we must look within.

I Samuel 18 brings out the fact of David's tremendous popularity when it was at its peak. Everybody loved David excepting King Saul, who was mad with jealousy. And no wonder. It would have taken a better man than Saul not to be jealous. The king's own son Jonathan loved David "as his own soul." He gave David his crown prince's robe, his armor, even his sword and his bow and arrows. The soldiers loved David, because with him for a leader they always won their battles. The people loved him; he was a popular hero, nothing was too good for him. The women loved him and sang songs about him, what a killer he was. Furthermore, God was with him; and so he succeeded in everything he did.

We have the record (I Sam. 16: 18) of how the young man David looked to another young man, perhaps about his age. The king was looking for a lyre-player, a lyre being a small harp held in the hand. The young man who gave David the recommendation that got him the job, saw a great deal more in him than simply a country musician. He mentions David's family first of all; and from what we know of it (see the book of Ruth) it was a very solid country family from generations back. Then he speaks of his high musical ability, but goes right on to other good points.

A Good Personality Has Many Sides

The young man recommending David proceeds to say that he is a "man of war." This may have been an exaggeration, in the light of all the rest of the story. Or maybe the young man meant to say, "If you ever need a fighting man, just call on David." David was the rugged character we associate with the good soldier. We have his own word for it that he had killed lions and bears with his own hands ("caught him by the beard," he said). But David was smooth as well as rugged. His friends calls him "prudent in speech"—which is more than can be said of all young people. But the climax of the recommendation was: "the Lord is with him." God is always invisible; yet this young man was impressed by a fact which he could not "see" at all: the fact that David was never alone, God was always with him. A person who makes that kind of impression, and is really that kind of person, has a greater certainty of success than if he were endorsed by a President.

PURIFICATION BY HOPE
Charles E. Teets
E.U.B. Church

And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as He is pure. —I John 3:3.

The Christian is a man whose main possessions lie in reversion, most men have a hope, but his is a peculiar one; and its effect is special, for it causes him to purify himself. "Every one that hath this hope in him", that is, the hope of being like Jesus. It is the hope of being Perfect, Glorious, Conqueror over sin, death and hell. So the believer must have a basis upon which this hope is grounded. It is based upon divine love, "Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God:." It arises out of sonship, "Called the sons of God", this is one of the great promises that burns within the hearts of all believers. This hope rests upon our union to Jesus, "When he shall appear", and it is distinctly hope in Him. "We shall be like him." It is the Blessed hope of His second advent that makes us watch day and night. Is this hope making you pure? If not you need to turn to Jesus today. Find him, accept him and work for him while you still have time.

Why should all men have this hope? Because man is of Eternal Worth. Man ought to be on life's main road with God, and filled with a grand sense of his intended destiny. A verse in Proverbs reads: "The path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day." This road on which God walks with man is open, and it is not necessary to use the world's detours. The eternal worth of man is a shining lamp in the darkness. Light falls on the straight and narrow way.

Man is more than a physical being. There is a spirit in man. He is more than a puppet. He is called to be a living witness of the gospel. Man is more than an instrument of the state. He has his individual rights, by the grace of God, to brotherhood and freedom. You are more than a cosmic accident, a disease on the surface of our planet. You can realize your personal relationship as a child of God and experience daily divine love and blessing.

What is Man? Let us hear and hold the Christian answer. Man is the crowning work of God's creation. He is a citizen of two worlds here to help enthrone Jesus Christ. Man's best living is done in the realm of the spiritual. His soundest value is belonging unto God. He is a being of eternal worth. His testimony is to ring with the truth of redemption. Only then does he have complete mastery over himself. He sets before him Jesus as his model. "He purifieth himself even as He is pure." What must it be to be without a good hope? How can there be hope where there if no faith? Grace adopts us; adoption gives us hope; hope purifies us, 'til we are like the Firstborn.

TOP TV—The Dinah Shore Chevy Show—Sunday—NBC-TV and the Pat Boone Chevy Showroom—weekly on ABC-TV.

In this Kingswood, every window is Safety Plate Glass.

Nicest wagon that ever joined your family!

Chevy's station wagons should really be called family wagons. You can choose from five models, including the four-door nine-passenger Kingswood, with its rear-facing rear seat.

Here's a brisk and breezy wagon that'll take on any chore you name, from a trip to the beach to a journey home from the lumberyard. There's room, you see, for a whole half-ton of cargo—a space ten feet long, with the rear seat and tailgate down.

These wagons are easy to load, too—you just roll the rear window into the tailgate and flip it down flat. No liftgate to wrestle with.

Chevrolet's so easy to handle it's a natural for the lady of the house. Big, safer brakes, too. Chevy's even got bigger tires—they come as standard equipment on every one of our wagons. But why not fall in love with a Chevy firsthand—at your Chevrolet dealer's!

Route No. 2, Library, Pennsylvania
vs.
Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his Wife, Huntington Drive, Bridgeville, Pennsylvania;
John C. Mahon and Betty Jane Mahon, his wife, Law and Finance building, 4th Ave. Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.
RESPONDENTS

No. 4930 Equity in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, State of Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a Decree to set aside, vacate and annul that certain Deed dated February 12, 1958, from Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his wife, to John C. Mahon, which is recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber No. 209, Folio 118, and to obtain a Court Order for said property described therein to be sold by a Trustee appointed by the Court to satisfy the claims of the Brookside Lumber and Supply Company, a Corporation, Complainant.

The Bill states that the Respondents, Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his wife, were seized and possessed of certain lands in Garrett County, Maryland, conveyed unto them by a certain deed from Richard S. Browning et al., dated October 18, 1951, and duly recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber No. 171, Folio 313, and that being so seized and possessed they by deed of February 13th, 1958, granted and conveyed the said lands to John C. Mahon, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, which deed is recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber No. 209, Folio 118. That while being so seized and possessed of the land so conveyed to them by the deed from Richard S. Browning et al., Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his wife, became indebted unto the Plaintiff, The Brookside Lumber and Supply Company, for a large sum of money, evidenced by their promissory notes now past due and upon which notes Judgments for the amounts due thereon have been entered in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, State of Pennsylvania, in favor of the Complainant herein. That at the time of making and delivering the deed to John C. Mahon the said Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his wife, were largely indebted to the Complainant and others and were insolvent and had not the means of paying their debts including the debt due the Complainant, apart from the property so conveyed by them to the said John C. Mahon, and that the said conveyance was fraudulently made and for a simulated and pretended consideration and was made to and for the purpose, to hinder, delay and defraud the Complainant and his other creditors of their just and lawful debts. That the said John C. Mahon, Respondent, is not a bona fide purchaser for value of the aforesaid property.

IT IS THEREUPON this 6th day of April, 1959, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Complainants by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some Newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 1st day of May, 1959, give notice to the above said absent Respondents of the object and substance of this Bill, warning them to appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 16th day of May, next, 1959, to show cause, if any they have, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Auto Mechanics Will Be Taught By Robert Martin Next Year

Next year a new vocational course will be introduced at Southern High School. Mr. Robert Martin will organize and head a class in automechanics. There will be enrolled twenty students with sufficient interest in automechanics as a skill to fully develop. This is a three-hour course, five days a week.

The class will be filled by approximately fifty percent juniors and fifty percent seniors.

Instruction will be composed of two-thirds practical shop application and one-third classroom study. The classroom study will be composed of various aspects of automechanics.

Students will work on their own cars as long as they have been instructed on the thing they wish to improve or repair, they may use their own cars for the purpose of education.

The main parts of the course are basic science pertaining to fundamentals of the gasoline engine, automotive electricity, and carburetion.

Mr. Martin, who has taught automechanics at Bel Air High School and Allegheny Trade School, said that emphasis will be put upon the practical and technical aspects of carburetion electricity.

The students who were selected by Mr. Martin and Mr. Ernest Spoerlein, guidance counselor for this new vocational course are; Leroy Lewis, Ernest White, Robert Pennington, Carl Reall, Scott Wilson, Charles Arnold, Carl Ettinger, Bill Lawton, George Heidenreider, Kenneth Gank, Donald Harvey, James Lipscomb, Carl Ricker, Troy Hentine, Everrett James, Dennis Dumire, Donald Clark, and Larry Warnick.

Merged Effort - - - -

There is nothing wrong with the spirit of competition. In business, competition is the life of trade. Among schools it creates initiative and interest, a desire to excel, an urge to be a winner, but also with these is the knowledge that a person must also be a good sport.

There is such competition among the contestants of Northern and Southern High school. These two schools meet on the gridiron and on the basketball court. Both teams fight for all they are worth. Sometimes tempers flare briefly. Rivalry remains intense.

But right now we want to call your attention to something else worth while. It is the merged effort of both schools. Tomorrow night musicians of both schools will give a combined concert at Northern High school. They will be directed first by the band instructor of Northern High school, then by the band instructor of Southern High. Perhaps the first chair in the cornet section will be given to a Northern boy, or the first chair in the clarinet section to a Southern girl. But the students will be mingled together in a quality performance, presented by participants from both schools.

The musical program will show the entire county that students from both schools can work together in harmony and for the good of all areas of the county. And that is a marvelous accomplishment.

It will happen again in just a few weeks when the county-wide vocal program will be given at Southern High. They will life their voices together in providing high class music for the benefit of all.

Both competition and merged effort can be character forming in Garrett county. They both have a valuable place in the life of the students. Isn't it wonderful that both are available?

Mr. Gonder said this was just a part of an order for 10,000 rainbow trout. The balance were to be placed later this spring. Mr. Gonder said the trout ranged in length from nine to thirteen inches.

Conferences Held With Aim To Aid Employment Here

Several conferences have been held by the County Commissioners with state and national agencies in recent days to formulate plans for the alleviation of unemployment in Garrett county. And further conferences are still to come.

Upon three occasions last week the Commissioners were in Baltimore, Washington and Annapolis. They met with the State Roads commission in Baltimore, Congressman John R. Foley in Washington, and Governor J. Millard Tawes and the Secretary of State in Annapolis. They met Monday in the office of the Board on Monday with Dr. Alvin Pasarew, of the State Planning commission.

They are scheduled to appear in Baltimore before the Board of Public Works on Monday, May 4, and as a result will postpone the date of their regular meeting date until Monday and Tuesday, May 11 and 12.

Acceleration of the State Road construction in the county, an increase in the allocation of state coal purchases to county mines, the flood control project in Kitzmiller area were some of the topics under discussion.

Governor Tawes told the commissioners that the newly-formed State Economic development commission would be requested to place this county as a number one area for consideration on its agenda.

They also planned to check with Congressman Foley as to the possibility of having the area declared a distress area with the end in view that priority would be given to any industry that may locate in the area having defense contracts.

It was pointed out that the flood control project for Kitzmiller was a $400,000 project and would require approximately $60,000 of local contribution. It was pointed out that a bond issue might be considered. They also suggested that Senator B. I. Gonder place the matter on the agenda of the legislative council.

Attending these various meetings were Earl S. Shank, mayor of Kitzmiller; Carl A. Schell, Fred B. Glotfelty, C. F. Garletts, county commissioners; Paul W. DeWitt, assistant road supervisor, Garrett county Roads department.

Barn Is Destroyed By Flames Tuesday

A barn owned by Umber Bray, of near Swanton, was completely destroyed by fire on Tuesday evening about 9:15 o'clock.

The Deer Park and Oakland firemen responded but according to William Clatterbuck, chief of the Deer Park department, the structure was a mass of flames when the departments arrived.

No estimated of damages was available. The origin of the fire was not determined. Deer Park firemen also battled a woods fire for about four hours Sunday afternoon near Altamont. The blaze, fanned by high winds, burned over approximately 45 acres of grass and timberland.

New Magistrates Learn About Duties Of Job

The four new magistrates for the county, who will take office on Monday, May 4, held a conference Tuesday with W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney and Corporal Sam Conrad of the State Police.

Stover and Conrad explained the duties of the office and got them ready to take over their new positions.

In Oakland for the conference were Leslie Sharpless, Kitzmiller; Robert E. Maroney, Oakland; John W. Holman, Friendsville, Edward L. Crowe, Jr., Grantsville, who were appointed by the governor recently upon recommendation of the Democratic State Central committee of the county.

Albert Gatto Fatally Injured By Racing Auto

Albert Pete Gatto, Sr., of near Cumberland, a former resident in Mt. Lake Park, was killed Sunday afternoon when struck by one of the speeding stock cars during a 10-lap race at Fort Ashby.

Gatto, 42, was an official at the Potomac Valley Speedway in Fort Ashby. He died enroute to Memorial hospital in Cumberland. Death was caused by a crushed chest, multiple fractures and other injuries.

Track officials said the accident occurred during the second lap of the second race of the afternoon about 2:30 p. m. The stock car was driven by Kenneth Jeffries of Lonaconing.

The car skidded coming around the turn into the straightaway in front of the grandstand and veered toward the inside lane of the banked oval as Mr. Jeffries attempted to straighten it out.

Mr. Gatto, acting as flagman during the race, was standing near the finish line on the track infield. As the car veered toward him Mr. Gatto attempted to jump out of the way but was struck by the speeding car. The impact knocked Mr. Gatto out of his shoes, witnesses said, and hurled his body nearly 90 feet.

Mr. Gatto, an avid stock car enthusiast, had driven in races at the Deep Creek Speedway when

C. of C. Directors Are Being Chosen

The annual election for new directors to the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce is being conducted by mail and the results should be announced soon, according to Willis Shaffer, president.

The 1958 members, some 35 in all, were sent ballots to be voted and returned to Frank McDaniel, secretary. The election committee reported that a little over half the ballots have been received, creating a tie vote for two of the new directors. The committee is asking those who have not yet voted to do so in order to complete the election so that the winners can be announced.

Members were asked to vote for four persons from a list of nine. On the list were Willard L. Hawkins, C. W. Englander, Earl Zepp, Frank Peters, George Hanst, Helmuth Heise, Harold Ashby, Edward Smouse and Howard White.

There are eight other members of the board, four with two more years to serve and four with one year to serve. Those with two more years are Willis Shaffer, Frank McDaniel, I. R. Rudy, Jr., Irvin Feld, while those with one more year to serve are Howard Naylor, Lowell Loomis, Newton A. Coplin and J. T. Cain. Terms expire for Englander, Hawkins, Hanst and Heise.

After being subject to call since March 23 Ray Cassiday was brought before Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr., on Monday on a charge of assault upon his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elsie Reall.

He pleaded not guilty to the charge but the magistrate issued a verdict of guilty and fined the man $25 and costs. The alleged assault took place around Christmas of 1958. He has been held under bond for his appearance since March 23.

Lawrence Wilt pleaded guilty to a charge of adultery when given a hearing last Thursday and was fined $10 and costs.

Lorraine Wiley and Marvin Wiley were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and their trial was set for May 9th. It will be heard before the new magistrate, Robert E. Maroney.

Lad Suffers Skull Fracture In Auto Collision Sunday

DeWitt Boy, Age 6, Improving Following Surgery

A six-year-old Oakland boy was seriously injured in a two-vehicle collision, corner of Third and Alder streets, Sunday shortly after noon, but is showing improvement following surgery in University hospital in Baltimore.

Charles Milton DeWitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert DeWitt, was thrown to the street when the pick-up truck in which he was riding was struck by an automobile.

The lad sustained a depressed skull fracture. He was admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland and later taken by ambulance to the Baltimore hospital, where surgery was performed. The lad was reported improving yesterday.

Cpl. Samuel M. Conrad said the DeWitt boy was in the truck operated by Thomas Howard Upole, Sr., 44, Oakland. He was riding in the rear of the truck with three other children, who also were injured but were treated as out-patients at the hospital. Sustaining minor contusions and abrasions were Linda Sue Upole, 5; Harold Robert Upole, 10; and Thomas Howard Upole, Jr., 12, all children of the driver.

Cpl. Conrad said Upole was driving west on Alder street when the small pick-up truck was struck by a car operated by Evelyn Irene Spiker, 35, route 2, Oakland. Conrad said Mrs. Spiker was driving north on Third street and apparently "ran" a red light. Her car hit the left rear wheel of the truck and overturned it. The four children, riding in the rear bed of the vehicle, were spilled into the street.

Cpl. Conrad said he charged the woman driver with failure to obey an automatically controlled signal light and other charges are pending the outcome of the boy's condition. Neither driver was injured in the accident.

Offutt Children Are Willed $25,000 Each

The four children of the late William R. Offutt will receive $25,000 each under the terms of the last will and testament of the deceased which was placed on record in the office of the Orphans' Court this week.

The balance of the estate was left to his wife, and at her death it will go to the children, their heirs or assigns. The amount of the estate was not listed.

In the original will, drawn July 30, 1945, the children were bequeathed $10,000 each, but in a codicil to the will, executed in November, 1946, the amounts were increased to $25,000.

The children are Mrs. Fannabelle O. Doub, Mrs. Mary Jane Burton, Mrs. Helen Johnson and J. Humbird Offutt.

Mrs. Offutt and the children were named as executors.

Mrs. McComas To Head Civic Club

Mrs. Henry W. McComas was named president of the Oakland Civic club at a luncheon meeting Tuesday at the William-James hotel. She succeeds Mrs. O. T. Graser. Other officers for the coming year include Mrs. Roger Tower, first vice-president; Mrs. Arthur Jones, second vice-president.

A feature of the program was a demonstration on "Cooking the Modern Way," by Miss Mary Everly, home economist for the West Maryland Power company. Following the demonstration, two food prizes were awarded, a meatza pie to Mrs. Earl Wise and a broiled steak to Mrs. Charles Paugh.

The club agreed to help sponsor ticket sales for the Garrett County Playhouse, and named Mrs. Arthur Jones as chairman of the project.

Yesterday, several members attended a First District meeting of the Maryland Federation of Women's clubs in Frederick. These included Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, Mrs. O. T. Graser, Mrs. W. W. Gram, Mrs. Henry McComas, Mrs. Earl Wise and Mrs. Paul Riley.

In charge of arrangements for Tuesday's meeting were Mrs. W. W. Dawson, Mrs. Ralph Pritts and Mrs. A. T. Matthews. Guests were Mrs. Tom Johnson and Mrs. William Grambine, the latter of Elliott City.

MAY COURT ATTENDANTS—Two Oakland residents are members of the May Court at Western Maryland College, Westminster. They are Miss Nancy Jones, left, senior duchess; and Miss Shirley Ream, senior attendant.

County Boys Lose Suits In Big City

The country boys went to the city—and while they didn't exactly lose their shirts, they did lose their suits.

That was the experience of two county commissioners and an assistant to the county roads supervisor last week while on an official trip to Baltimore.

The theft occurred while the group was conferring with members of the State Roads Commission at its headquarters in Baltimore. Upon returning to their car, parked near the building, it was discovered that suits belonging to Commissioners Fred Glotfelty and Carl Schell, and a jacket owned by Paul DeWitt, had been purloined.

One commissioner expressed little concern, commenting that the suit was 12 years old anyway, but regretted the fact that "I had to go to Baltimore to be robbed. We have that talent at home."

Favors National Park in County

The County Commissioners passed a resolution this week favoring the establishment of a national park in the county.

The resolution has been presented to Governor J. Millard Tawes, and to the State Board of Forests and Parks.

The resolution declared that this area was ideally suited for a national park, the most suitable and appropriate in the state, and that Maryland was the only state without a national park.

It cited the value to the county in economic development. The resolution stated the commissioners would work unceasingly toward the establishment of such a park.

If any such decision were made, the area probably would be some of that already owned by the state.

Oakland Man Heads Group I Bank Unit

Frank L. McDaniel, cashier of the First National Bank of Oakland, was elected chairman of Group I, Maryland Bankers' association, at the annual spring dinner meeting last Thursday night at Cumberland.

Group I consists of banks in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Attending from Oakland were: Mr. McDaniel, Ralph Pritts, Sr., Glenn Forman and George K. Littman, from the First National Bank; and Wesley Schaible, Julius K. Littman, Rex Teagarden and Nordeck Shaffer, from the Garrett National.

More Robberies Occur Yesterday

Four Places Entered—Two Safes Battered

After a lapse of five weeks or more four additional robberies occurred in the early morning hours of Wednesday.

Thieves entered the Acorn Associates, Southern States Cooperative, Miller's Sanitary Market and Hub's Harness Shop. In each instance they forced the locks on doors or broke out paneling.

They obtained approximately $60 at Southern States, $12 to $15 at Miller's Market, some $30 at Hub's Harness shop along with cigaret lighters and flashlights. They obtained a quantity of silver dollars at Hub's.

They were only partially successful in opening safes. They got a bottom section of the Southern States safe open where no money was kept, and they must have worked for two hours or more in an unsuccessful attempt to force open the large safe in Miller's Market. It was understood there was a large sum of money in this safe.

Apparently the thieves went to work first at Southern States, and then used a crowbar, wrenches and other tools on the Miller safe which had been stolen from Southern States. They had placed a pile of cartons beside where they worked on the safe in Miller's Market which made it impossible for anyone to see them from the Liberty street entrance. They worked in the full glare of lights both at Miller's and Southern States.

At Southern States they obtained some $18 from a soft drink machine, and a similar amount from a candy machine, and additional money from the cash register. They used keys obtained from the cash register to open the soft drink machine but forced open the candy machine.

They failed to see quantities of change in both Miller's and Hub's which were near the cash registers. They also went through the desks of the Kight's Insurance agency in Hub's Harness Shop, which faces Second street, but got no cash.

At Acorn Associates they apparently obtain nothing but 50 cents.

Authorities were notified early in the morning and they have been conducting an investigation but no trace of the robbers has been found and no arrests have been made.

Bridge Contracts Awarded By SRC

Two bridge contracts in the county have been awarded by the State Roads commission.

The State Foundation Company of Manchester was awarded the project of replacing the curb and bituminous concrete wearing course of the bridge that carries Route 219 across Deep Creek Lake.

The low bid for this work was $8,470. The new deck must be laid before the scheduled painting of the bridge can be started.

The contract for repainting this span and the one that carries route 40 across Casselman river just east of Grantsville, was awarded the Eastwood Painting Company of Baltimore at a low bid of $11,895.

Gas Production Takes Big Jump

County Commissioners Get Check For $28,377.52 As Share Of Total

Natural gas production in the past three months ending March 31, took a big jump of some eight thousand dollars over the last report.

The report for the period was received this week by the County Commissioners. The check was for $28,377.52 and was just $196 shy of being the biggest check ever received.

The number of cubic feet produced in the period totaled 1,541,151,000, more than seventeen million cubic feet per day. The marketable gas was valued at $405,393.17.

The gas company's check was the amount for the seven percent tax on the marketable gas which was $7,971.14 more than for the previous 90-day period. The largest check received for any 90-day period was $28,573.82.

The breakdown of the latest tax receipts showed $11,351.01 as the purchaser's proportion of the tax, (2.8 percent) and $17,026.51 as the producer's proportion of the tax (4.2 percent).

Thirty-six wells were listed as producing gas at this time, two more than the previous report. New on the list were wells listed as "Various" which may or may not mean a total of several wells under agency of Snee and Eberly. Robert Eberly, of Uniontown, was out of his office until today and was unable to be contacted.

Other than those listed as "various," which showed an output of over 900 million cubic feet the biggest output was listed from the Bowser well with over 73 million cubic feet. The Herman and Hanlin well had over seventy million and the Barbara Miller well over 65 million. The Mitchell Rush well showed over 40 million and the Black and Frazee well over 37 million. The first producer in the area, the N. K. Welch well, was still supplying over eight million.

The check was the second one on the new year. Last year's total was $83,888.56. The total for the new year is now $48,783.90. The first $50,000 in any one year goes toward liquidation of the school indebtedness. The next $25,000 goes toward expenses of the Garrett County Memorial hospital and any amount above $75,000 goes into a fund for new school building repairs or additional new construction. A percentage of the total received by the Commissioners goes to incorporated towns if a producing well is located within the corporate limits.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the Commissioners in July, 1951, the county's governing body has received $414,000.74. The complete report of the production for the nine-day period is shown in tabular form.

Bray Appeal Case Results In $300 Fine

At a hearing before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in the Circuit court last Thursday, Umber Bray was fined $300 and costs in an appeal case brought before him from Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr.

Magistrate Sanders had sentenced Bray to serve six months in the House of Correction on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He prayed an appeal.

He pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge Fraley. The Judge suspended a sentence of a year in the House of Correction upon condition he pay his fine, refrain from use of intoxicating liquor, and refrain from operating his automobile.

Sines Pleads Guilty

George Sines, in jail for the past few weeks on a charge of incest, pleaded guilty to two charges. A charge of assault against the man was dismissed by order of the State's Attorney. Judge Fraley is withholding sentence in the case pending an investigation by the parole officer, David Steele.

Melvin Pennington also was tried before the court last Thursday on a charge of bastardy. He was found guilty and given a suspended sentence of two years in the House of Correction, providing he pay $20 a month for support of the child, pay the physician's charge and confinement charges.

FHA Borrowers Lay Plans To Up Income

Garrett and Allegany county farmers who borrow from the Farmers Home Administration have completed making their farm plans which are calculated to boost their 1959 farm income, Beeson Snyder, the agency's local County Supervisor, said this week. Borrowers must make such a farm plan each year.

Better farming practices which some FHA borrowers will be putting into operation include: Proper application of fertilizer and lime according to soil test; production of better quality hay, and the feeding of balanced rations to live stock; use of artificial breeding service; and making use of the Dairy Herd Improvement association.

By the use of these and other proven practices, the Farm Ownership borrowers in the two counties have increased their average gross income over the past five years from $1,158.00 to $7,492.00. During the same period, the value of their personal property has increased from $6,743.00 to $7,946.00, Snyder said. The dairymen have increased their herd average from 5,254 pounds of milk per cow to 7,786 pounds per cow.

During this same five year period, forty FHA borrowers have repaid their loans in full and are now using local banks or cooperative lenders for their credit needs, he concluded.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

By CHARLES GODWIN

One Brick Is Not A Brick

"None of us liveth to himself". Romans 14:7

One brick is not a brick. A brick is made to cooperate with other bricks. It has four sides and two ends, each made to match the sides or ends of other bricks. Alone it has almost no use whatever. Its usefulness depends upon its ability to lie or stand alongside of other bricks.

The world is full of persons who have never learned to work with other people. Perhaps, they desire to play on the team but are unfitted of fears, or personal peculiarities. Perhaps they have interpreted personal freedom as license instead of responsibility. Whatever the cause, whether of selfish attitude or unskilled personality, we have the need of finding our proper relationship to God and our fellow human kind.

"I don't care what other people think," said a pretty little miss of eighteen, with a saucy toss of her head. "I am going to live my own life. If other people don't like it, they know what they can do." Then she went on for a few years and began to wonder why she was omitted from so many of the plans of the crowd. It was not until some kind friend pointed out the futility of trying to live without regard for the good opinion of other people that she began to find the real joys of life. Every person who wants to make friends must learn how to fit into the plans and ideas of other people, without surrendering the vital and fundamental moral convictions of his own life.

"One man is no man," is the Greek motto adopted by one of our American college fraternities. Fraternity is a necessity of life, not a mere luxury. The individual's interests are interwoven with the welfare of others. The individual finds fullness of life by getting out of himself and losing himself in the love and service of others. This teaching of Jesus given nineteen centuries ago is as timely as today.

Drums Are Popular At Toy Workshop

Drums were the most popular toy made at the workshop conducted by Mrs. Jeanne Mochn, Extension Family Life Specialist, last week in the County Extension Office. Toys were made from cans, clothes pins, spools, heavy cord and pieces of discarded innertubes. Children use toys as tools for their play; many times one toy will serve several purposes during a day's play. The drums were made from painted No. 10 cans, with the ends removed. Pieces of innertubes were laced over the ends with heavy cord. Other toys made included nests of cans, clothespins and can; string of spools; clappers, and lawn rollers. These toys are on display in the County Extension Office. Four-H local leaders and Homemakers Family Life Chairmen attended in connection with the Family Life Project carried by both organizations.

Local leaders attending were: Mrs. Ross Crowe, Mrs. Taft Ourler, Monte Vista; Mrs. Harland Bowman, North Star; Miss Ivadene Matthews and Miss Vera Arnold, Underwood; Mrs. Ralph Buckel and Mrs. George Shawley, Bittinger. Homemakers chairmen included Mrs. Iret Martin, Mrs. Charles Warnick, Mrs. Luke Bowman, Swallow Falls; Mrs. Harold G. Bittinger, Mrs. Stanley Baker, Oakland; Mrs. Don Hetrick and Mrs. Danny Klotz, Grantsville. Mrs. Reva Thomas and Mrs. Johanna Stall assisted Mrs. Moehn.

Grantsville Takes Second Win 4 - 2

Repeating their performance of opening week the Grantsville Sluggers chalked up a victory Sunday to remain one of four teams in the first division of the Pen-Mar baseball league.

Other winners Sunday were Hyndman, Barrelville and Centerville.

Grantsville topped the Salisbury Cardinals 4 to 2. The Sluggers scored four runs in the fourth inning in registering their second victory.

Ronald Young, making his debut with the Sluggers, cleaned the bases with a triple and Morgan singled over the other tally during the big inning. Each team used two pitchers but the teams collected only four hits each. Dave Richards pitched for Grantsville until the 7th when he gave way to Manager Robert Keister with the bases loaded. The latter fanned Eddie Davis to halt the threat and saved the win for Richards who struck out eight. Keister fanned five in two and one-half innings.

Don Miller homered for Salisbury in the fifth inning.

Pharmacists sincerely believe that the practice of medicine requires much knowledge, continuous study and a sincere desire to benefit the patient. Therefore, no one should attempt to advise people who are sick except a physician.
Unfortunately, we have laymen, with no medical training, wearing white jacket to simulate a physician, who by means of television and other advertising, presume to tell you what to take when you are sick. Some of the remedies they promote offer only temporary relief. Be wise. Depend on your physician and the specific medicine he will prescribe for your particular condition.

Future Homemakers Present Style Show

The Style Show "Fashion Then and Now," was presented April 14th in the gym at Northern High School, Cove, by the Sr. F. H. A. and the Junior and Senior Home Economics girls.

The meeting was opened by Phyllis Coddington, president of Sr. F. H. A. Phyllis read the script for the show as the girls modeled their clothes.

Costumes of long ago were modeled by Shirley Schlossnagle, Nancy Swauger, Patty Friend, Charlotte McCurdy, Ethel Seibert, Reta Glover, Peggy Platter, Ruth Westerfield, Margaret Hinebaugh, Nancy Friend, Helen Wakefield, Ruth Schmidt, Nancy Doerr, Karen Durst, Elmeda Wilt and Juanita Kahl.

A group of Jr. F. H. A. girls "Put on Their Old Gray Bonnets" and took a ride while that song was sung.

Mary Knox and Lowell Merrill brought to life 'The Bicycle Built for Two" as it was in olden days. Nancy Doerr and Joe Durst showed us the 1959 version.

Ronald Beiler sang "The Plowing Song" while standing beside a plow. The two girls who brought him water were Janet VanSickle, (in a costume of covered wagon days) and Beverlee Buckel, (in her own skirt and blouse creation.) Cheryl Vitez and Rose Marie Minick danced the Charleston (a popular dance of the twenties.)

Joanna Miller, Martha Maust, and Lucy Beiler sang "Dreaming," the national 4-H Club song.

A group of ninth graders styled their chemises. Some 8th graders did an apron dance. The 10th, 11th and 12th grade girls also modeled their garments which they made in Home Economics, which was the real purpose of the style show. The girls who constructed wool suits were Phyllis Coddington, Iva Mae Collier, Juanita Kahl, Ethel Seibert, Nancy Friend, and Joan Savage. Bonnie Spiker made an evening gown. Janet VanSickle made a party dress and wool coat.

In Queens Court

Miss Carol Jean Chaney, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oberlin Chaney, of Frostburg, will represent State Teachers college, Frostburg, at the Shenandoah Apple Blossom festival at Winchester, Va., April 30, May 1 and 2, it was announced.

Miss Chaney, graduate of Beall High school, is a junior at Teachers college where she is majoring in elementary education. She is a member of the Maryland and Madrigal Singers, belongs to Phi Omicron Delta sorority and is secretary of the campus Little Theatre group. She is treasurer of the band and a majorette.

Miss Chaney will be a member of the court of Queen Shenandoah XXXII, Miss Elaine Atwood, of Anchorage, Alaska. The coronation ceremony will be held at the Handley High school bowl on April 30, at 2:30. The pageant will follow at 3 p. m.

Gene Barry, "Bat Masterson" of television fame, will be grand marshal of the parade scheduled for Friday afternoon.

OBSERVE 50th WEDDING EVENT—Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Lichty, of Salisbury, Pa., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 12. The couple's family of eight children were all present with their families and attended morning worship services with them in St. John's Lutheran church in Salisbury, Pa. Members of the family presented a pair of altar vases to the church in honor of their parents which were dedicated at the services. A family dinner was served in the Parish hall. An open house for friends and relatives was observed in the couple's home during the afternoon.

County Agent Gets Many Calls On Clover Mites

Many calls regarding clover mites have been received by James McHenry, County Agent. Mr. McHenry explained that the clover mite is a tiny red mite which enters doorways and windows and crawls on the floor, walls, and furnishings. Their presence is a nuisance and fabrics may be stained when mites are crushed. The mites do not bite persons.

Clover mites originate out-of-doors where they feed on grass and clover. After feeding they climb some object, building, tree, or stone—the young to molt and the adults to lag eggs. The mites are active at temperatures between 45 and 85 degrees F., provided the atmosphere is humid; thus they appear in warm spells during the winter. Summer is passed in the egg stage.

Control Recommended

County Agents' office recommends the use of two pounds of aramite or 1½ pints malathion to 25 gallons of water. This insecticide should be used on the foundation and the grass or lawn area of about 25 feet bordering the house. There is little that can be done against clover mites inside a house as long as the source continues outside.

Traps can be established on window sills with a board streak of oil such as motor or cooking oil. Some effect can be obtained by using oil base fly sprays or oil type furniture polishes on window and door openings. Trapped mites can be picked up with a vacuum cleaner. The mites are harmless to persons and animals.

Plans Complete For May Day Program At Northern High

Plans have been completed for the seventh annual May Day program to be held at Northern High school next Wednesday evening, May 6, at 8 o'clock.

C. O. Bender, president of the Northern High Parent-Teacher association, will crown Miss Sue Hershberger and Richard Spear as May Queen and King. The May court will include couples from grades seven through twelve, and also attendants from Accident, Grantsville, Friendsville and route 40 schools will also be there.

The program will include a variety of dances and also featured will be the senior chorus, the senior band, the quartet club and the majorettes. An added attraction will be a gymnastic trio of Joe Durst, Don Jenkins and Grady Gilpin. Richard McCurdy and Jean Short will handle the dialogue.

The program is given annually by the Physical Education department under direction of Mrs. Fannabel Williams, Lilburn Brown and Denver Mitchell. Alice Lytle is in charge of the working committees. The public is invited.

Reminded To Register

Automobile owners were reminded again by James B. Monroe, commissioner of Motor Vehicles, that if their last name begins with H, I, J, or K, they must re-register before their present licenses expire June 30.

After that date they will not be able to re-register and will be required to take an examination and pay the full fee of $3.50 to obtain a new license.

Stewardship

This land was my father's. Now it is mine. Often, as I work upon it, the words of Genesis come to me: "In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth." And I think, too, of those other words from the same Book: "The Lord God took the man and put him in the Garden of Eden to till it and to keep it."

God entrusted the precious soil to us, and it is our duty to use it well. But he gave us stewardship of something even more precious—our souls. Just as we must care for the land, so must we enrich ourselves, spiritually. And the place in which to cultivate our souls is the Church.

Let us take a lesson from the land, which when well used is wonderfully productive, yet when neglected brings only aridity and erosion. Let us care for our spiritual as well as our physical fields. Let's go to church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

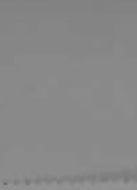
Bible Material: II Samuel 5 through 6; Devotional Reading: II Samuel 7:18-25.

Big Executive

Lesson for May 3, 1959

DAVID, as King of Israel, would not make nearly so large a splash in the modern world as he did in his time. For one thing, his kingdom was a large one, for him, but in our times it would seem to be pretty small. At its greatest extent it measured only about 350 miles north to south, and an average of about 120 east to west. Lay that down alongside the map of your own state, and it will not look enormous. Furthermore, kings are very unpopular nowadays. We cherish the few that are left, but more as curiosities than as vital necessities.



Dr. Foreman

Nevertheless, this ancient freebooter who rose to a throne, who hacked a kingdom out of the wrecks of other kingdoms, was a man of such strength of character personally that he has remained a figure of romance and religion combined, for centuries. It would not do us much good to think of him as king, for nobody around here has any ambitions to become a king. Still, most Americans do cherish the ambition of some day becoming an executive, the bigger the better; and we can do ourselves some good by thinking of David as a good example of a big executive.

For the People

The executive will always be with us. Whether you are operating a lifeboat or an orchestra or a college or a steel plant, there has to be a boss of some kind. People may not like particular bosses, but a man who thinks we'd better abolish all bosses doesn't know what he's talking about. The ancient king, like the modern business executive, is the policy-maker, he makes the decisions that affect his whole business. If he is any good, he is worth his extra salary. But what makes a boss a good one? Of course he should know the business well, from the inside; and David surely did. He knew the land and the people, he was an experienced guerilla fighter, he had been trained in the leadership of smaller units before he took high command. He knew what the people needed, having come up from the ranks, he knew what they thought and what they wanted and how they lived. It is said of him that he "administered justice and equity to all his people." Some kings have used their power for themselves; David used his for his people.

Public Relations

David was no Hitler, perpetually unsatisfied so long as another country was left unconquered. He dreamed no dreams of world-empire. His territory for those days was ample, and larger than most. We read of his friendly relations with other kingdoms on various borders. Now that is another mark of the good executive; he not only uses his position for the public good, but he maintains good "public relations" in every direction. Nowadays every business of any size, including educational institutions, will have a public-relations director. This is not mere advertising. Whatever good your outfit may be able to do, it can do its job better if its aims are understood.

Under God

David was first and last a religious man. He learned some hard lessons the hard way; one of them was that not even a king can be above the law of God. His kingdom, strictly speaking, was not his own; it was God's kingdom which he was expected to manage as God's representative. The people he ruled were God's people before they were his. Like all kings, he came and went; only God remains forever. God is King of Kings, Lord of Lords. When J. B. Phillips came to translate Ephesians 6:9, he had a happy thought. Turning what Paul writes into the forms of the 20th century, he remembers that "master" and "slave" are no longer realistic words. So he has Paul warn employers: Remember that you are responsible to a Heavenly Employer! High office, whether it is in a business firm, a manufacturing plant, a university, or in a political position, is not only a public trust, but it is a responsibility under God.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON
by
Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

Don't Join a Church

Yes, you read that title correctly! I repeat, "Don't join a Church" and will add, "Unless you are a born-again believer in the Lord Jesus Christ." In Acts 2:41 we read, "Then they that gladly received His word were baptized; and the same day there were added unto them about 3000 souls." Here we find the scriptural order for membership in any local church. 1st, they received the Word. "That is, they repented of their sins and believed the gospel, putting their trust in the Lord Jesus Christ." 2nd, they were publicly baptized as a confession that they were through with the old life and from henceforth would place their lot with Jesus Christ. 3rd, they were added to the already existing body of believers known as the Church. The modern trend of getting people into the membership of the Church and then influence them to be converted never originated in the scriptures. This method has led many Churches into apostasy and shall condemn many souls for all eternity. The world is joining the Church. As one has said, "It isn't the water on the outside of the ship that sinks it, it is the water that gets on the inside." The local church of any denomination should consist only of truly converted people.

Governor Proclaims May 3-10 Soil Stewardship Week

Governor J. Millard Tawes proclaimed May 3-10 as Soil Stewardship Week in Maryland. In signing the proclamation in a ceremony in the State House at Annapolis, the Governor urged that "fellow citizens observe this week in our churches of all faiths, and that Marylanders give special heed to their responsibilities to conserve the soil."

The Bible, the Governor pointed out, tells us many times that the land is a gift of God—a gift for man to use with understanding. When man was endowed with mastery over the earth, he assumed the responsibility of preserving the land—its soil, water, plants and wildlife. The true soil steward practices this sacred trust and thereby expresses his gratitude to God.

Farmers, working with Soil Conservation Districts, are learning that land can be used and still be protected against the ravages of time and the forces of storm. Maryland's Soil Conservation Districts are inviting churches of all denominations to join in the observance of Soil Stewardship Week, May 3-10, he added.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

A Noble Purpose Gone Askew

Or, these comments might also be titled an epilogue to Tibet, an epitaph to Hungary. An awesome report by the Dalai Lama, the God-King of Tibet, has confirmed the suspicion that the Communists in Tibet have repeated the ravage of Hungary. The two situations are not dissimilar. In each, human beings were massacred under the Communist guise of "putting down a revolutionary insurrection." In both, the do-nothingism of the free world, except for the expression of a few righteous-sounding bromides was remarkable.

Of equal significance is the mounting evidence that Red China has been faced with other revolts during the last 6 or 7 years. A competent analyst of Communist affairs acknowledges that: "More than 100,000,000 people in China, particularly in border lands such as Tibet, Sinklang and Mongolia, are racially or culturally different from the 'Han people,' as the true Chinese are called. Among them are the 50,000,000 Chinese Moslems, whose religion has been systematically suppressed by the Peiping regime. Millions of Buddist Lamaists in Tibet and Inner Mongolia have been subjected to similar treatment.

Since the end of World War II, the Soviets have forcibly gained control of over 700 million persons—or one third of the world's population. To these enslaved people, the free world has been a shining symbol of refuge, strength and support. They have been encouraged to believe that efforts to throw off the Communist yoke would be aided by something more than trifling words and meaningless platitudes. Thereby, the most noble of purposes has gone askew. The free world has appeared powerless to assist those who strike for freedom. Seeming indifference to the aspirations of the gallant Hungarians and the brave Tibetans has given Western civilization a "black eye," especially in Asia where "face saving" is an ageless and uncompromising virtue.

This inability or unwillingness on the part of the community of free nations to deal courageously with the butchery of international communism brings to mind the impotent chronology of the League of Nations. The League capsized on the rocks created by the rise of "isms,' principally Fascism and Naziism. An atmosphere of frustration was compounded by an incapability for the enforement of decisions, if indeed the League ever summoned its courage to the sticking point. If the rise of communism is to be halted, courage and stick-to-itiveness are essenial. As Shakespeare once wrote " . . . screw your courage to the sticking-place, and we'll not fail."

Plan Area Programs To Recognize Home Demonstration Week

Two area programs are being planned by the Extension service in observance of Home Demonstration week, May 3 to 9.

One program will be held Tuesday, May 5, in the Methodist church social room in Oakland at 8 p. m. A movie, "A Desk for Billie," will be shown, followed by a social period. The committee includes Mrs. Vesta Enlow, Mrs. Charles Warnick and Mrs. Raymond Bittinger.

A similar program will be held at the Grantsville school on Thursday, May 7, at 8 p. m. The committee includes Mrs. Allen Baker, Mrs. John Hershberger and Mrs. Joseph Paul.

Governor J. Millard Tawes proclaimed the week of May 3 to 9 in Maryland as National Home Demonstration week. The national theme is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

Aims are to explain the extension service program to more people and emphasize its contribution to home and family living, to interpret the broad range of the program and to recognize and honor the volunteer leaders.

Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent, explained that the work was carried on locally by training leaders who give information to their club members.

Project leaders are listed in foods and nutrition, clothing and textiles, home management, home furnishings, family life and other topics such as health and safety, international relations, citizenship and civil defense, culture and music.

There are sixteen organized homemaker clubs in the county. Such a group may be organized when 12 to 15 women in an area signify their desire. Clubs are presently located at Accident, Altamont, Bittinger, Casselman, Deer Park, Friendsville, Grantsville, Hoyes, Mars Hill, McHenry, Meadow Glade, Mountain View, New Germany, Oakland, Sunnyside and Swallow Falls.

Tent Caterpillars Becoming Obvious

Tent caterpillar nests are becoming obvious in Garrett County according to James McHenry, County Agent. These tents will continue to grow as the insects hatch and begin feeding on the early buds and leaves. Now is one of the best times to control tent caterpillars. The nest can be pulled out and burned or burned in the trees.

One of the most effective ways is to use insecticides. There are several which are effective. Listed below are the insecticides recommended and the dosage:

DDT—5 teaspoons per gallon of water (50% wettable powder)

Toxaphene—40% wettable powder—6 teaspoons per gal. of water

Methoxychlor — 50% wettable powder—6 teas. per gal. of water

Malathion—25% wettable powder or 50% emulsifiable concentrate—use 7 teaspoons per gallon of water of wettable powder or 1½ teaspoons per gallon of water of emulsifiable concentrate.

Chlordane—50% wettable powder—5 teaspoons per gal. of water

Lead arsenate - hydrated lime—use 5 teaspoons per gal. of water of lead arsenate powder with 6 teaspoons per gal. of water of hydrated lime.

Apply spray to foliage around nest. Lead arsenate is the most poisonous of the insecticides; and therefore, it is recommended that it be used with extreme caution. All insecticides are poisons and should be handled and stored with great care. They should be kept in plainly labeled containers away from food products and where children or pets cannot have ready access to them. Care should be taken not to inhale any of the dust or spray when materials are being mixed or applied. Children and pets should be kept out of a treated area until the spray has dried.

Tent caterpillars, like many other pests, become a community problem. County Agent recommends that people in neighborhoods get together and everyone try to eliminate the nests.

Route No. 2, Library, Pennsylvania
vs.
Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his Wife, Huntington Drive,
Bridgeville, Pennsylvania;
John C. Mahon and Betty Jane Mahon, his wife,
Law and Finance building, 4th Ave. Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.
RESPONDENTS

No. 4930 Equity in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, State of Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a Decree to set aside, vacate and annul that certain Deed dated February 13, 1958 from Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his wife, to John C. Mahon, which is recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber No. 209, Folio 118, and to obtain a Court Order for said property described therein to be sold by a Trustee appointed by the Court to satisfy the claims of the Brookside Lumber and Supply Company, a Corporation, Complainant.

The Bill states that the Respondents, Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his wife, were seized and possessed of certain lands in Garrett County, Maryland, conveyed unto them by a certain deed from Richard S. Browning et al., dated October 18, 1951, and duly recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber No. 171, Folio 313, and that being so seized and possessed they by deed of February 13th, 1958, granted and conveyed the said lands to John C. Mahon, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, which deed is recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber No. 209, Folio 118. That while being so seized and possessed of the land so conveyed to them by the deed from Richard S. Browning et al., Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his wife, became indebted unto the Plaintiff, The Brookside Lumber and Supply Company, for a large sum of money, evidenced by their promissory notes now past due and upon which notes Judgments for the amounts due thereon have been entered in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, State of Pennsylvania, in favor of the Complainant herein. That at the time of making and delivering the deed to John C. Mahon the said Thomas H. Kingsley and Alice Huntington Kingsley, his wife, were largely indebted to the Complainant and others and were insolvent and had not the means of paying their debts including the debt due the Complainant, apart from the property so conveyed by them to the said John C. Mahon, and that the said conveyance was fraudulently made and for a simulated and pretended consideration and was made to and for the purpose to hinder, delay and defraud the Complainant and his other creditors of their just and lawful debts. That the said John C. Mahon, Respondent, is not a bona fide purchaser for value of the aforesaid property.

IT IS THEREUPON this 6th day of April, 1959, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Complainant's by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some Newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 1st day of May, 1959, give notice to the above said absent Respondents of the object and substance of this Bill, warning them to appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 16th day of May, next, 1959, to show cause, if any they have, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Cuba's Castro Came To Town—He appeared as uninhibited as a high school kid who had won a trip to Washington by making straight A's. He strolled the streets as casually as any tourist - and seemed like a young man intent on winning friends and influencing people. The visitor was Fidel Castro, Prime Minister of Cuba, and Washington couldn't remember anyone quite like him.

Castro gave reassurance on three points: (1) Cuba is neither Communist nor Communist-inclined; (2) Only tried and convicted war criminals are put to death in Cuba; (3) Cuba will carry out her commitments as a signatory of the 21-nation treaty for mutual defense of the Western Hemisphere nations against attack.

Castro appears to be a practical man. He said: "Come to Cuba and spend $100."

New Secretary Of State Confirmed—The Senate laid aside its work on labor reform to confirm the President's nomination of Christian A. Herter, of Massachusetts, to be Secretary of State, succeeding John Foster Dulles, who resigned on April 15th, because he was too ill to carry on. As a symbol to the world of our nation's unity, Mr. Herter's nomination was confirmed by a vote of 93 to 0.

Prior to this action, the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations had briefly questioned Mr. Herter and unanimously approved his nomination.

Soviet leaders may have hoped for weakness, but they can expect to meet across any bargaining table Americans who know the Moscow methods.

Opposing Viewpoints On Foreign Aid—The "Citizens Foreign Aid Committee", in testimony before a Congressional committee last week, criticized foreign aid as a "giveaway philosophy" — extravagant" — "Wasteful." Those of us who favor the Mutual Security Program, sometimes referred to as Foreign Aid, hold that it strengthens our national security, helps us avoid having to maintain much larger and more costly armed forces, and fights Communist expansion by helping stabilize lesser developed countries.

Labor Reform Measure Considered Throughout the week the Senate considered labor reform legislation. The Kennedy-Ervin bill, having cleared the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee faced a hazardous journey on the Senate floor. The hazards spring from conflicting strategies. Co-sponsor of the bill, Senator Ervin, introduced an amendment which would have set aside that part of the bill which would change certain provisions of the Taft-Hartley law. The Senate rejected the Ervin amendment by 27 yeas to 67 nays. Administration spokesmen in the Senate will offer numerous strengthening amendments to the Kennedy-Ervin bill. Literally dozens of amendments have been offered by various Senators. Each amendment will have to be considered on its individual merits. Much work on this legislation lies ahead of us. I shall oppose any strategy which confuses the pattern of labor-management relations as drawn by the Taft-Hartley Act.

On one point, all seem agreed: There is urgent need for some kind of labor reform legislation.

Breakdown In Highway Program—There is a threatened breakdown in the 41,000-mile Federal highway program. To keep the program on schedule without boosting the national debt, President Eisenhower proposed a hike in the gasoline tax. The Majority in the Congress does not seem to look favorably on the bike. And there the matter stands.

It is encouraging to note that people are beginning to realize that things have to be paid for. There is no such thing as something-for-nothing.

Spending Spree Fizzles—Some of my colleagues in the Senate interpreted last November's election returns as a mandate for heavy government spending and at first seemed hell-bent to add more dollars to nearly all the items in the President's budget, and add a few items of their own. They have cooled off a bit. I think they must have been reading their mail from the voters "back home."

Federal Activities In Maryland—The Postmaster General tells me that city delivery service including parcel post delivery, is to be established at Pasadena, Md., effective May 16th.

The Secretary of the Army tells me that a construction project is to be started at Hollabird next month. It is construction of a 3-unit Army Reserve Center and a 3-bay maintenance shop.

Who Said "No Flying Saucers"?—Our scientists are making almost incredible progress. Wraps are coming off secret experiments and plans, which have been going on for a long time. In testimony before committees of Congress, we have been given a peek at the amazing world of tomorrow. Soon you'll be seeing—

A flying saucer capable of zooming upward, hovering almost stationary, then flying sideways at close to supersonic speeds. Our Armed Services no longer deny they are working on a flying saucer, they say, in fact they will officially test it quite soon.

A flying platform, held aloft by air streams forced at high pressure from the vehicle toward the ground. This was demonstrated in Washington last week. A troop carrier, it is designed to fly at high speed just above the tree tops.

A flying tank, able to skim a few feet above the earth's surface at up to 200 miles an hour. Tests of a one-ton model of this vehicle for the Army will be made this summer by National Research Associates, a Maryland firm.

A seagoing flying saucer that can float, rise 20 to 50 feet above the surface of the ocean, hunt out submarines by flying at low altitudes and high speeds.

A flying automobile, to travel a few inches above the surface of either level land or water. One model now being developed by Spacetronics, Inc., is to sell for less than $4,000.

A flying ocean-going vessel, circular, about 1,000 feet in diameter, to carry hundreds of passengers at speeds up to 175 miles an hour while flying at perhaps 50 feet above the surface of the ocean.

All of these futuristic craft—and others—were described to Congress last week by Armed Services experts—not as dreams, but as vehicles now on or approaching the test stage, likely to be in use soon.

Human Needs - - - -

"Incentives, not subsidies, meet human needs." This was the heading of an article in the May issue of "Nation's Business." It is so timely that we are reprinting the entire article, even though somewhat longer than the usual editorial comment found in this column. The article follows:

The day's most costly question is: "Don't you believe in meeting human needs?" Only the wicked can answer no.

This permits those with schemes for spending government money to smear with a nasty stick anyone who dares to challenge their proposals.

So long as an ounce of emotion outweighs a pound of logic the government can thus be embarked on all sorts of adventures calculated to meet human needs that the people or their state governments have been unable or unwilling to meet.

Presumably the needs are genuine and urgent. Presumably the plans for meeting them are well intentioned.

The misfortune of our country—and of other benevolent countries before us—is that economic forces are not swayed by good intentions. The evidence of this is on clear view in dozens of places:

Thirty years ago the government undertook to meet the human needs of farmers. Today the farmers' needs are only slightly less but the government's problem in monumental.

Twenty years ago government attempted to legislate a balance of power between working men and employers. Today we have a labor despotism that dares threaten government officials who fail to carry out its orders.

More recently, in an effort to build up stockpiles while meeting the needs of a war economy, government artifically stimulated production of strategic metals at home and abroad. Today, with the stockpiles overflowing, we are using among other things, quotas, tariffs, and subsidies in an effort to stabilize the metals industry.

Twelve Students Are Achievement Award Winners at Southern

Twelve students were named as recipients of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club second annual achievement awards today by R. Thomas Thayer, president of the local organization.

Called To Flue Fire

The Oakland firemen traveled sixteen miles Sunday morning about 7:30 o'clock to put out a fire caused by a defective flue, at the home of Zeddock Miller, on Hoopole Ridge.

A notation on the report of the firemen states: 'Third call to this house, same flue." There was no damage.

Oakland firemen also received another alarm on Saturday but it was a woods fire and the Oakland department notified the Forestry department.

Publishes New Book On Trigonometry

Nathan Niles, associate professor of mathematics at the U. S. Naval Academy, and husband of the former Margaret Rudy, formerly of Oakland, has just had a textbook on trigonometry published.

Publisher is John Wiley and Sons, Inc., of New York City. It came off the press this month.

The contents provide a new approach to the teaching of an old subject. Mr. Niles has been teaching mathematics for eighteen years. Besides his instruction at the Naval Academy he is a lecturer in mathematics at McCoy college, Johns Hopkins university.

He and his wife and two children reside in Annapolis.

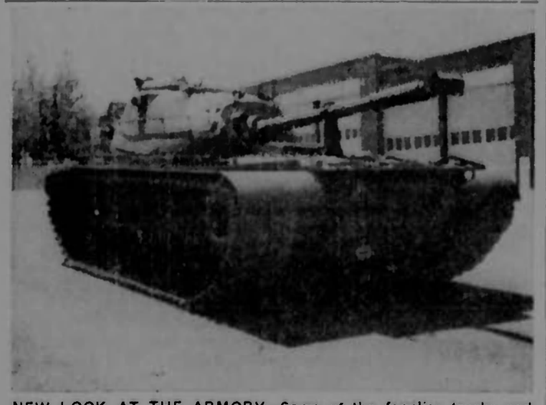
To Hobnob With Eisenhower

Miss Mary Louise Helbig left Wednesday for Washington, D. C., where she will represent the Maryland Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs on a committee for Employment of the Physically Handicapped. Miss Helbig is state chairman of public affairs for the state organization.

One of the speakers will be President Eisenhower. A reception will follow.

Brought To Hospital

Clyde L. Huffman, about 24, from Gastonia, N. C., enroute in a northerly direction, became ill at Gormania, W. Va., yesterday and was brought to the Garrett County Memorial hospital in the Minnich ambulance. He had been out of the hospital in North Carolina only three days.



NEW LOOK AT THE ARMORY—Some of the familiar trucks and bulldozers at the Army have been replaced with medium tanks as part of the program converting the local unit from an engineering to a combat arms company. Shown is one of two M-48 tanks attached to the guard here. The vehicles weigh 49½ tons fully equipped and can attain a speed of 60 miles per hour with their 810 horsepower engines. Armament includes .30 and .50 calibre machine guns and a 90 mm. cannon. They carry two fuel tanks, each with a 100 gallon capacity, and average between three and four gallons of gasoline per mile.—Photo by The Republican.

County Officials Seek State Help

Conference Held With Public Works Board To Reduce Unemployment

Garrett County officials on Monday asked the state for assistance in relieving their unemployment problem.

The appeal was presented to the Board of Public Works by State Senator Bernard I. Gonder, the three county commissioners and their attorney. It was the fourth of a series of conferences with state agencies to ask similar help from all groups. Most of these were listed in a news article in last week's issue.

Specifically the men asked the Board of Public Works for help in these areas:

Acceleration of state roads construction in the county; increased coal purchases by the state from Garrett County mines; state participation in a flood control project at Kitzmiller; getting priority with the newly-formed state economic development commission; establishment of a national park in the county; construction of an airport on farm property at McHenry; investigation of the possibility of having the federal government declare the county a "surplus labor area" and a "distress area."

Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., attorney for the Board of County Commissioners, told the board that about 18 percent of the county's labor force is out of work. He said the 800 residents of Kitzmiller, mining town, are among those hit worst. The federal government will give $280,000 toward a flood wall there when the local people have $60,000 toward it. Hamill said $15,000 is all that can be raised. This leaves a $45,000 deficit blocking a project that would provide jobs.

Gov. Tawes said the Board of Public Works can make grants from the state's emergency fund only to state agencies. He suggested the county contact the Board of Geology, Mines and Water Resources to see if money for erosion control is available.

James Rennie, state budget director, said "We've got something to look into if it's true" that some coal purchases for state institutions now come from out of state mines as contended by the Garrett officials. He promised to investigate.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein suggested the state might donate some forest land in Garrett county for development by the federal government as a national park. Hamill said the State Department of Forests and Parks might object to this idea but Tawes told the delegation to go ahead and push the proposal. He said the Board of Public Works "could extend considerable cooperation in this regard."

Tawes said the State Roads commission already is looking into the possibility of stepping up its program in Garrett county.

Magruder Is Winner In Public Speaking

Thomas Magruder III, Garrett County, and Donna Simpson, Allegany County, were chosen on April 30 to represent the Western Maryland Region in the State Public Speaking event. Alternates selected were Kathy Yaste of Garrett County and Mervin Hast, Allegany County. This regional event was held in the WOW Hall in Grantsville, last Friday evening.

"4-H Club Work and projects are helping me to grow as I should in wisdom, stature, and in favor with God and man" was the opening sentence of the winning talk by Tom Magruder, Westernport area. The general subject was "4-H Club Work—What It Is and What Its Members Do." Each of the participants talked on this subject based on their 4-H experiences in projects and activities.

The four speakers have been selected in their respective county after meeting the qualifications of being between the ages of 14 and 21, three years of 4-H club work completed, and enrolled in the public speaking project.

Decisions of the three judges including Mrs. Kathleen Layman, former Garrett 4-H local leader, and at present an elementary teacher at Frostburg College, were based upon the naturalness of delivery, holding of interest, informational, and the ease of the speaker before the audience.

The State Contest will be held during 4-H Club Week at the University of Maryland in August.

Summer School Will Be Initiated Here

A program of an experimental nature designed to give pupils an extra four weeks schooling of half day sessions, is now being considered by the Board of Education, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. The development of the program will depend largely upon response of parents, he added. If successful, the same type of program could be developed for other school communities another year.

The tentative rules and regulations governing the proposed summer school program are as follows:

Dates—June 15 to July 10 (no school July 3); Hours—9:00 to 12:00 daily (except Saturday and Sunday).

For any child who will be in grade three by September 1, through high school.

Class size limited to 20—enrollment on a first come, first served basis.

A fee of $12:00 per pupil will be charged, payable on or before June 1. This money is to be used to pay for teachers' salaries and needed supplies.

Classes will be held at Dennett Road and Southern High School, and pupils must provide their own transportation.

Teachers will be selected on basis of need after enrollments are determined. Program will stress mainly mathematics and language arts, at levels in keeping with needs of pupils.

No class will be offered with fewer than 20 pupils. No report cards will be issued. Parents may contact the teachers for an evaluation of work done. No fees will be refunded after June 1, unless class is disbanded.

Registration Day will be Monday, May 18, 1:00 to 4:00 P. M.

Mostly Clear And Warm

The week's weather has been clear and warm for the most part, with two or three days bordering on the "hot" side.

Hafer Tells GOP Women About Russia

John J. Hafer, Cumberland funeral director and business man, discussed his recent visit to Soviet Russia at a dinner meeting of the Garrett County Republican Women's club at the William James hotel last Thursday evening. About 70 attended.

Mr. Hafer, who has traveled in about 20 foreign countries, spoke of life under Communism with its disregard for human welfare and its thought control and fear. He emphasized that we enjoy so many freedoms in America, many of which are unknown in other lands. He says our system of free enterprise and competition has produced a vitality he found lacking in most countries.

He pointed out the general apathy toward religion in Christian countries where there is a state church. He said life in Russia looked intolerable to him and declared Communists were masters of the technique of subversion.

He said women's group could help to further the cause of freedom in this country and warned against the softness and indifference in many areas. He compared Russia, taking on a national program of hard work for every one, to America where labor unions were constantly asking for shorter working hours, more pay for less work.

Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, club president, reported on the membership project wherein 2,700 cards were sent to Republican women of the county inviting them to join the club to work for the party's welfare and growth.

She read the resolution passed by the Maryland Federation of Republican Women, urging support of President Eisenhower's efforts to balance the budget and halt inflationary spending. She is serving as county chairman for the Bertha Adkins scholarship fund being promoted to establish annual awards for women to do graduate study in the social sciences.

Miss Floss Shaffer, treasurer, reported 122 members to date. Mrs. Jay Bell sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Merritt Feather.

It was announced that the Sixth Congressional Spring rally would be held at Urhana, south of Frederick, May 27, with reservations to be in by May 21. Mrs. Richard Nixon will be guest of honor. Speaker will be Mrs. Ransom Elston.

Arranging the dinner were Mrs. W. W. Grant, Mrs. Ernest Liller, Mrs. Robert Martin, Mrs. Vernie Smouse and Miss Floss Shaffer. The club presented Mrs. Hafer with an orchid corsage.

Will Get Information On Women's Short Course

Rural Women's Short course club chairmen of Homemaker units of the county will soon receive definite information about the classes offered June 15 and 19 at the University of Maryland campus.

Twenty classes are offered with each woman allowed to select three classes each day.

There will be classes in home economics, beekeeping, international health and safety, and several classes in home furnishings.

Eighteen from the county attended last year and Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent, said she hoped that more would be able to attend this year. A dinner for those planning to attend and those having attended previously is planned for Thursday evening, May 21, at 6:15. Reservations are being taken by Mrs. Kenneth Ridder.

School Board To Meet With P.-T. A. Heads May 12

The Garrett County School Board is planning to meet with all PTA presidents of the county at its regular meeting scheduled for May 12. The meeting will begin at 10:30 A. M., after which those present will go to the Dennett Road School for lunch, and then visit some of the nearby schools following the luncheon.

Most of the day will be spent discussing school board policies, teacher salary and replacement problems, school costs, the federal education bill, the educational program, school improvements, and any other matters important to the general welfare of the schools.

The school board members, on behalf of the County Teachers' Association, have also requested the County Commissioners to meet in joint session with them and a group of representatives of the Teachers' Association to discuss the matter of salaries for the coming year. This meeting is set for 9:30 A. M.

Hope Second Rotenone Test Will Provide Fishing Facts

In an attempt to make an accurate appraisal of the improvement in fishing conditions in Deep Creek Lake, fish biologists are planning to once again rotenone the Hooppole Run area, a 50-acre section of the lake, sometime this fall, probably shortly after Labor Day.

The plan was announced this week by H. J. Elser, fishery biologist for the department of research and education; and Edwin M. Barry, chief of fish management for the State Game and Inland Fish commission. Mr. Elser and Mr. Barry were in Oakland Monday conferring with officials of the Pennsylvania Electric company and others interested in the project.

The Game and Fish commission is now in its third year of an experimental program which followed the first rotenoning program in September, 1955. The commission has experimented with the placing of great northern pike in Deep Creek lake, which is termed a predator fish, in an attempt to relieve the lake of some of the many thousands of yellow perch. It was declared at that time that there was an overpopulation of the yellow perch which made it impossible for all of them to obtain enough food to grow to any size.

Mr. Elser noted that there was already a marked improvement in the yellow perch population, since the introduction of northern pike, with a corresponding improvement in size and a decrease in the number.

This biological study of fish conditions still has two more years to go but the fish biologists hope that this second rotenoning will make it possible to find many answers to their problems.

On September 7, 1955, the 50-acre section of the Lake, known as Hooppole run was chemically treated with rotenone, a derris root powder, killing all the fish in the area. Size, length, weight and conditions of the fish were determined and a program evolved which was thought best for improving the fisherman success in the lake. The rotenone powder suffocated the fish by constricting tiny blood vessels of the gills. The powder was not harmful to animals or humans and the area became fishable again within four days. The experiment created much interest at the time.

Tagging Program

Mr. Elser also revealed that a tagging program was under way. Tags have been placed on the lower lip of a number of species of fish and they have been released in various parts of the lake, in an attempt to find whether or not they remain in the same general area or whether or not they move about. The Game commission is anxious to determine where these tagged fish are caught and fishermen catching these are urged to give the information to game wardens or leave at the promotion council information booth along Deep Creek Lake.

MAURICE BROOKHART

Brookhart Named To School Board For 6-Year Term

Maurice S. Brookhart, Pennington street, Oakland, was re-appointed as a member of the Board of Education yesterday by Governor J. Millard Tawes. The term is for six years, and will be effective until May 1965.

Duplicate Bill Is Vetoed By Governor

Governor Tawes vetoed bills enacted by the 1959 General Assembly last Thursday, one of them being a duplicate measure for Garrett county.

The duplicate bill involved appointment of an industrial engineer for Garrett county. Tawes said Senator B. I. Gonder, sponsor of the bill had requested him to sign the House version because it was better, as amended, than the Senate bill.

Others vetoed were two to prohibit banks and trust companies in five counties from performing certain acts in connection with estates unless represented by a lawyer. Two others were rejected on advice of the attorney general that they were unconstitutional. Three others were turned down because they duplicated bills already signed or to be signed.

Salary Quotation Incorrect

It was incorrectly stated last week the salary of the deputy treasurer would be $3,600. The correct amount is $3,000. This was one of the bills signed into law last week by the Governor. It allowed for the appointment of a deputy treasurer and fixing the salary. The treasurer receives $4,500 for his salary and this amount was unchanged in the new measure.

Robbers Continue Their Depredations

Robbers this week continued their operations within the area but the results were unproductive.

They entered the Meyer Pontiac garage on Sunday night but obtained very little of value, as far as is known.

The same night they broke into the trailer of the Dan Houck Coal company at Deer Park, by removing a glass but took nothing of value.

No arrests have been made so far.

WEEKLY SERMON
by

How Did You Vote?

"Last Sunday, I voted to close the church; not intentionally nor maliciously, perhaps, but carelessly, thoughtlessly, indifferently, I voted. I voted to close its doors, that its witness and its testimony might be stopped. I voted to close its open Bible on its pulpit - - the Bible that had been given us by years of struggle and by the blood of martyrs who died that we might have it to read. I voted for our minister to stop preaching the glorious truths of the gospel of Jesus Christ. I voted that the children of the Sunday School no longer be taught the Bible and no longer lift their tiny voices in singing. I voted for every Missionary to be called home, every native worker supported by the church to stop preaching, every hospital, every school and every dispensary in its foreign missionary fields to be closed. I voted for the darkness of superstition, the degrading influence of sin, the blight of ignorance and the curse of selfishness once again to settle their damning load on the shoulders of an already over-burdened world. For you see, I could have gone, and I should have gone, but I didn't. I stayed away from church last Sunday."

New Chemical Weed Killer Recommended For Corn Field Use

Many farmers have found they can control weeds in corn with chemicals as well as by following standard cultural practices. For years, 2,4-D applied either pre or post-emergence has done an excellent job of controlling annual broad leaved weeds in corn, says County Agent James McHenry.

Recently a new weed killer, Simazine 50 W, has come on the market for use on corn. In tests at the University of Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station, conducted by the Agronomy Department, this herbicide has looked very good for controlling both annual broad leaved weeds and grass type weeds. In fields of corn where Simazine has been used, no annual weeds have come up all season long.

At present, Agent McHenry said, the University of Maryland Extension Service is making a trial recommendation for the use of four pounds to the acre of Simazine 50 W as a pre-emergence spray in corn.

There are two disadvantages to using this chemical: One is the cost of the chemical; and the other is its residual effect in the soil.

The cost problem can be overcome by band applications of the chemicals over the row at time of planting.

Because of its residual effect, Simazine should not be used on corn if you want to plant a crop on the same land next fall. If you use Simazine this spring, its residual effect will have been dissapated by the spring of 1960, and any crop can then be planted on this land.

If you have broad-leaved weeds in corn, use 2,4-D. If you have both, broad leaved weeds and grasses are a problem, then try Simazine, Agent McHenry said.

THE AMERICAN WAY

By JOHN T. FLYNN

(EDITOR'S NOTE: John T. Flynn is a noted author, lecturer and radio commentator.)

You have to hand it to the forces of the Left and their dupes. There is no limit to their attacks. The latest in a long list of forays is an attack on belief in God. That may sound like a rash statement—and, of course, the new campaign is not carried on so brashly. But here is the story. As I write, it is taking place in a small community outside New York City. But it could ultimately affect every parent and child in America, as you will see.

First, I suggest you read the following brief prayer:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Now this prayer is recited each morning by the children in the public schools of a district in Long Island. It is a non-denominational prayer approved by the New York State Board of Regents. It is not compulsory in the schools of New York State. It is up to the local schools to adopt the prayer or not, as they see fit. And in the schools which have adopted it, of course, there is no compulsion on the children to say it—they can say it or not as they choose.

However, five citizens of this district have brought suit against their local school board to force it to abandon use of the prayer in their schools. But this is by no means a local matter. The idea seems to be to carry the suit all the way to the Supreme Court of the United States, in an effort to expunge from the public schools of America any belief in or respect for God.

Naturally, the opponents of the prayer do not admit that this is their purpose. They base their opposition on the tradional American concept of the separation of church and state. And knowing our present Supreme Court for what it is, it is not inconceivable that the learned justices could stretch their adjudication to embrace this specious reasoning. It is obviously a smoke-screen, because no church or group of churches is trying to worm its way into the public schools. We acknowledge and pay our respect to God in the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Every session of the Congress of the United States opens with a prayer. There are four specific references in the Declaration of Independence to our nation's dependence on Almighty God. Every American coin bears the legend "In God We Trust"—and in 1956 the Congress adopted that phrase as the national motto of the United States. The Constitution of the State of New York—as well as those of many other American states—pays its respect to God.

As I said, this prayer is non-denominational and its use is not compulsory in the New York schools. What, then, is behind this drive to expunge the idea of God and respect for a Supreme Being from the schools of the United States? Well, who are the most dedicated and implacable enemies of God and religion in our modern world? The communists and their dupes. And here is the strange part of the story.

The suit brought by the five citizens to abolish this prayer in the schools caused quite a furor in the Long Island community. But the five litigants refused to talk. They referred all inquiries to an outfit called the New York Civil Liberties Union. And what is that? It is an affiliate of the American Civil Liberties Union. The ACLU has in it a number of deluded "liberals" as well as some communist-fronters. It has always been soft on communism and is always ready to go to bat for the so-called "civil liberties" of communists. One of the main recent activities of the American Civil Liberties Union—and particularly its Southern California branch—has been a drive to try to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities—the committee responsible for many exposures of the communists in our midst. The ACLU's affiliate, the New York Civil Liberties Union, was buy only two years ago trying to hold a meeting to honor the editor of the Communist Daily Worker! Only last year this same New York outfit was up in arms. Over what? Over an attack on the liberties of a loyal American? Not at all. It was horrified because a member of the Communist Party was not permitted to address the students on the campus of a tax-supported college.

But this is the organization which is evidently behind the drive to wipe the idea of God from the public schools of the United States

Successful Jaw Treatment Told

Dr. Alvin P. Friend, Oakland dentist, told the Maryland State Dental association Tuesday he has had considerable success in treating dislocation of the jaw.

Dr. Friend said he used an injection of sodium psylliate to shrink the jaw point. Alcohol injections have been used in the past, he said.

He said people who throw their jaws out of place while talking, eating or yawning are usually suffering from subluxation which he described as a self-reducing, incomplete dislocation. Both subluxation and complete dislocation, or luxation, results in acute pain in the joint and obscure facial pain from ear to forehead.

Dr. Friend said that after giving the injection he advises his patient to remain on a soft diet for several weeks. He said talking or singing should be avoided until the dislocation is corrected.

The association meeting was held in Baltimore. The Maryland Dental Hygienists, meeting concurrently with the dental association elected Elaine Graham, Oakland, as treasurer. Retiring president was Mrs. William L. Graham, a former Oaklander, the former Miss Mildred Biser.

County Residents Get $64,000 Each Month In Social Security

Garrett County residents are receiving about $64,000 each month in Social Security payments according to James A. Gwinn, manager of the Social Security district office in Cumberland.

Payments are not paid automatically, Gwinn emphasizes that an application must be filed before they can be paid. He urges claimants to bring proof of age and marriage and their last year's tax returns with them on their first visit, to help insure prompt payment of their claim.

Friendsville Men Involved in Crash

Two Friendsville men and a Baltimore trucker escaped serious injury in a two-truck accident last Thursday at Jug Bridge, route 40, about three miles east of Frederick.

A flat-bed truck hauling steel cylinders of hydrochloric acid ran into the rear of a two and one-half ton flat bed vehicle carrying G. Emerson Bishoff and Harold R. Fike, of Friendsville.

State Police said the heavier-laden vehicle carrying the acid went over a 25-foot embankment trapping the driver, William H. Carter, of Baltimore, beneath it.

The steel drums were broken open and the acid fumes seeped out, keeping rescuers from extricating Carter until gas masks were obtained from Frederick. Spectators standing at a distance said they felt the effects of the acid fumes on their skin.

Finally Carter was rescued when a wrecker pulled the truck from the embankment. He, Bishoff and Fike were taken to the Frederick Memorial hospital. Bishoff and Fike, however, left before being treated. They had only minor injuries. The Bishoff truck was loaded with bags of fertilizer, almost a complete loss. Trooper J. W. Lechliter, who investigated charged Carter with reckless driving and Bishoff with failure to have tail lights. Both trucks were badly damaged.

Bishoff told members of his family that they had checked their tail lights a few miles back of the scene of the accident and that they were burning at the time.

Bishoff and Fike were brought to their homes near Friendsville Friday afternoon by J. Edwin Falkenstein, Myersville, a cousin of the former, who returned to his home Saturday morning.

Who's Who At Northern High

By Ruth Westerfield

KAREN KAY KINSINGER

Among the entire Senior Class I believe the person who has traveled the most is Maryland's State President of the Future Nurses of Maryland Club. This cute, brown-haired, big brown-eyed senior is Karen Kinsinger, who has traveled in almost every state in the United States plus Mexico and Canada. Some interesting places which she has visited are the Yellow Stone National Park, Grand Canyon, Salt Lake City, Cherokee Reservation in the Smoky Mountains. I've only mentioned a few.

The 17-year old lady is active in her school. An Honor Roll student, she is a member of the Senior Chorus in which she played the main role in the Variety show held April 17; past member of the National Junior Honor Society, Science Club, Projector Operators; and was an attendant to the 1959 F.F.A. Sweetheart, Miss Reta Resh.

"Kay" is a candidate for an academic diploma and is carrying the following subjects: senior chorus, physics, Latin II, English, and P.O.D.

I had sort of a surprise when she didn't include traveling for an interest. Reading, swimming, piano playing, and sewing keep her busy as her main interests.

The second oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Kinsinger, she lives in the Casselman Valley near Grantsville.

Before entering N.H.S. she attended Grantsville Elementary. Kay is a member of the Casselman Mennonite Church.

To Take Rail Tour

Several local business men of the community will participate in the railroad industry tour of the Cumberland area. It will be held Wednesday, May 13.

The tour will leave the Queen City station in Cumberland at 1:30 for a four-hour tour of the rail and industrial facilities of the area. Charles T. Shafer and Baity Ridder, manager of two Cooperatives in Oakland, have accepted invitations to attend and there may be others.

Air conditioned coaches and special observation cars will be included on the train. The tour will include the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, the $10 million yard expansion facilities of the railroad, the Queen City Brewing Company, the Western Maryland railroad yards at Ridgeley, the Allegany Ballistics laboratory, West Virginia Pulp and Paper company facilities at Luke, the Kelly Springfield Tire company and the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Church Women Meet

The United Council of Church Women met at St. John's Lutheran church at Red House Friday afternoon, May 1. Forty-four members of seven denominations were present.

The theme was "How Much Is Enough?" Mrs. W. A. Swartzentruber, chairman, had charge of devotions. Participating in the devotional program were Mrs. Otho Friend, Mrs. Reuben Fazenbaker and Mrs. Herbert Leighton. Mrs. Herbert Leighton rendered a solo. Guest speakers were Mrs. William C. Rogers, of Mt. Lake Park Baptist church; Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, Emanuel Lutheran church, Bittinger.

Mrs. Hope Moon presided at the business session and welcomed guests and representatives. Mrs. Edward Wenger discussed the literacy program.

New officers and committee chairmen were installed by Mrs. William Bell: Mrs. E. G. Wenger, president; Mrs. Ernest Spoerlein, vice-president; Mrs. Hope Moon, secretary; Mrs. Veryl Weimer, treasurer; chairman: Mrs. Vernie Smouse, Christian World Missions; Mrs. W. W. Grant, World Day of Prayer; Mrs. Walter Campbell, Christian Social Relations; Mrs. Reuben Fazenbaker, May Fellowship Day; Mrs. M. L. Brown, Christian World Relations; Mrs. Earl Roth, World Community Day; Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, leadership education; Mrs. Walter DeBerry, public relations; Mrs. William Bell, finance; Mrs. Harold White, "The Church Woman" magazine; Mrs. E. Ray Jones and Mrs. J. B. Swetzer, nominating.

Following the service a fellowship tea was served by ladies of St. John's church.

A Belgian uprising was crushed by the government with fifteen dead and over 50 wounded.

Secretary of Labor reported over 11,000 boys and girls were employed illegally in United States.

She won't be guest of honor at any Mother's Day banquet. But who cares?

Her glory has always been greater than mere national recognition.

She wears her orchid in her heart.

She doesn't want speeches. But she'll find inspiration, as always, in the pastor's sermon.

And sitting there in church, with her grown up boys and girls, she'll recall the days when first they toddled along to Church School.

And she'll thank God!

Yes! She'll thank Him that it doesn't take a Mother's Day to bring her family to God's House!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Facing My Sin

Lesson for May 10, 1959

LAST WEEK something was said about David learning a hard lesson the hard way: namely that not even a king, an absolute monarch, is so highly placed that the law of God no longer concerns him. David lived in a time when in most kingdoms the king's will was law. Even if what he did was wrong for most people, if he did it he couldn't be wrong, for he was king. The brave prophet Nathan brought David to his senses; he made him face his own sin. The whole story is there in II Samuel, and has often been told. We can learn much from it; for it shows one way in which we can do what we all hate to do and some people never can do: face our own sins and admit that they are sins and that we committed them.

Dr. Foreman

To Know

"You can't carve rotten wood," says an old Chinese proverb. And no prophet or preacher is going to get far making any one face his sins if the person involved has no notion of any difference between right and wrong. A conscience can be educated; but who can educate what isn't there? Now David had a conscience; that is, he knew that some things are right and some are wrong. When Nathan told him that made-up story about the rich man and the poor man and the lamb, David was hot. The rich man was wrong, David saw; very wrong, wrong enough to be executed on the spot. If David had reacted calmly to Nathan's story—if his response had been something like, "Well, that's a rich man for you," or "After all, that poor man was relieved of an expensive luxury," Nathan would have got nowhere with him. The first thing I need in order to face my sin, when that time comes, is to know, down in my bones, that sin is real, that some things are right and others are wrong. If I think "right" and "wrong" are just emotional words, meaning no more than "I like it" and "I don't like it," then I shall never face my own sin, I shall never even know what is eating away my soul.

To Imagine

Another thing is needed before I can face my sin. I must be able to imagine what it is like to be sinned-against. When David got so angry about that story Nathan told him, he wasn't angry about what happened to the rich man, though that would be a tragedy too. He was angry about the incident, because in his mind's eye he could see exactly how the poor man felt. (Was this because David's own father had been a sheep-herder?) Now no one up to that time had ever stolen a wife from David. He had done some wife-stealing even before the time of Bathsheba, but he had never seen the wrong in it. Wife-stealing was a recognized privilege of kings in those days. By a brilliant, inspired single thrust when David's guard was down, that prophet made David see as it were in one flash what he had done to Uriah and to Bathsheba.

To Confess

There is a step beyond seeing that I have sinned. This is admitting that I see it. But there are two ways of admitting one's sin, whatever it may be. One is the "so what?" approach. "Yes, I did it, but it isn't very bad . . . Yes, I admit it, but I couldn't help it . . . I did it, but am I so much worse than a hundred other people? . . . Yes, I did it, but why not forget the whole thing, shall we?" This is not facing my sin at all. It is only admitting an act without seeing what a sin it is. The other way of admitting sin is to feel a deep sense of shame before God and man too. It is to stop excusing and defending myself, it is to take sides (so to speak) with the prosecution, It is to see myself no longer fit to be a companion for God or men. If what I can feel about my sin can be expressed in the language of the 51st Psalm, then there can be some hope for me. If I do not despise my sin, if I do not somehow share God's feeling about it, then I shall go on down and down. It is only when I see the pit into which I am falling, and see that it is a bottomless pit, that I am ready to be rescued.

Fish and game wardens picked up several elderly people who were fishing without licenses. In each case game wardens were told that Maryland has a law that permits people past 70 years old to fish without a license.

Magistrates and wardens checked their law books and could find no such act. However, no one was fined or otherwise prosecuted.

Legislative records show that during the 1951 session of the General Assembly the Garrett County delegation sponsored a bill which provided that all anglers residing in Maryland who had reached their 70th birthday would be permitted to fish in all Maryland waters without license.

The bill passed both House and Senate but was vetoed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin because "it was not in the best interests of the state and would reduce revenue from licenses intended to help with the conservation of fish and wildlife." Directors at the time were Harry C. Edwards, George E. Coddington and Arthur B. Green.

Chemical warfare chief pointed to possibility of Russian subs firing missiles loaded with poison and became against this country.

Bill Favoring Aged Anglers Was Vetoed

During the past few days reports have been learned of a misunderstanding on the part of several 70-year-old and older anglers.

Senate Clarkson

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator
Maryland

Labor Reform Passes Senate—By 90 yeas to 1 nay, the Senate passed S. 1555, officially titled "Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosing Act of 1959," sometimes referred to as the Kennedy-Ervin labor reform bill.

That the labor bill as reported was lacking in certain respects was evident by the addition during the debate on the Senate floor of numerous amendments, several of which were readily accepted by the sponsors of the original bill.

Probably the most significant shortcoming was that the bill as reported did not give the workers—the rank and file, the dues-paying members of unions—the tools with which they could "clean their own house." It seemed important to most of us in the Senate that the legislation include a Bill of Rights, guaranteeing to union members the fundamental rights which we tend to take for granted but which unfortunately have been denied to the individual members of some unions.

Among other amendments added to the bill on the Senate floor were those providing: recognition of a fiduciary relationship between union officers and members; certain restrictions on organizational picketing; prohibition of "hot cargo" clauses in contracts between unions and common carriers; and a solution to the vexing problem of the "No Man's Land". I voted for these corrective provisions. In each instance, I considered my vote a vote for the rank and file of labor, and for a healthy labor-management relationship.

This legislation will go far in removing many abuses. However, I was disappointed that the Senate did not act favorably on the McClellan amendment to prohibit secondary boycotts.

The labor movement is a potent force on the American scene. Its success has been due to the efforts of honest men whose interest has been the welfare of the union membership. As in nearly all organizations, labor has its undesirable element which, though in the minority, has been effective in some instances in denying the rights of the majority. It was to protect the rights of the rank and file against the relatively few unscrupulous union officials that a labor reform bill had to be written.

Just as I voted for S. 1555 (the Kennedy-Ervin bill) with the interests of the rank and file of labor at heart, I shall support any future legislation which promises to benefit the working man—protect his right to earn a decent income and allow him to participate in the decisions of his representative organization.

Ambassador And Military Heads Confirmed—By a rollcall vote of 79 to 11, the Senate confirmed the President's appointment of Mrs. Clara Boothe Luce, of Connecticut, to be Ambassador to Brazil.

The Senate also confirmed Presidential nominations which our Committee on Armed Services had previously approved: General Nathan F. Twining, to be Chairman of Joint Chiefs of Staff, and General Thomas D. White to be Chief of Staff, Air Force (both reappointments), and General Lyman L. Lemnitzer to be Chief of Staff, Army.

Consumer Study Proposed—This past week I co-sponsored a resolution to establish a Select Committee on Consumers to make a comprehensive study of the nature and extent of the economic problems of consumers. The committee would report to the Senate from time to time with recommendations for legislation desirable for the solution of the problems.

Banking And Currency Committee Work—We held open hearings on the nominations of Henry C. Wallich, of Connecticut, to be a member of the Council of Economic Advisers; William J. Hallahan, of Maryland, to be a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board (reappointment); and Earl F. Hastings, of Arizona, to be a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission (reappointment.) We also considered a bill relating to the striking of a commemorative medal for the 100th silver discovery birthday.

Deep-Water Port For Salisbury—Last week I appeared before a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Appropriations to express my full approval of the proposed project to widen and deepen Wicomico River at Salisbury, Maryland, so that an adequate port can be established there. The first step, for which I asked that an appropriation be made would be a survey, already authorized by the Public Works Committee. I feel that the port project is essential to the economic well-being of the Delmarva Peninsula.

Two Marylanders Honored—A three-man committee has been appointed to select the sites for five salt water conversion plants as authorized by Congress—and two of the three are from Maryland: Dr. Wilburn C. Schroeder, University of Maryland, and Sheppard C. Powell, Baltimore. Dr. Schroeder is a professor of chemical engineering at the University, and is an international consultant on engineering and water problems. Mr. Powell, a mechanical and chemical engineer, has served for over 35 years as a consultant both in the United States and abroad in cities, States, and nations on industrial water problems.

Space Rocket Contract to Maryland—The Space agency has awarded to the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory of Pinto, Maryland, the contract for the third and final stage of the Delta space vehicle, successor to the Thor-Able which was used last year in several deep space probes. First and second stages of the Delta, to be built by Douglas Aircraft Company, are liquid-fueled. The third stage, to be built by the Maryland firm, is a solid-propellant rocket. The contract calls for 12 of the space vehicles over the next two years. The Delta will stand about 90 feet high, weigh over 100,000 pounds loaded, and developed more than 150,000 pounds' thrust. The Delta, featuring an active guidance control, will be capable of putting 250 pounds in orbit. It is considered a much needed interim launching vehicle. The Delta will polar-orbit satellites and for several deep outer space missions.

The "Hound Dog", a new weapon for the U. S. atomic arsenal, won high marks on its first major test last week. One of the 43-foot guided missiles was fired from a B-52 bomber, high over the Atlantic. In combat, a single B-52 could carry four of the missiles aloft and hurl their hydrogen warheads at targets 500 miles away.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress for an extra 45 million dollars to speed work on manned spaceships.

The Pentagon. An Amazing Building—The headquarters of our Armed Forces are housed in an amazing structure called The Pentagon. I never cease to marvel at the bigness of this building. The National Capitol would fit into any one of it five wedge-shaped sections. Some statistics: It has 7,600 windows, 65,000 light fixtures. At one time, 13,000 workers were employed in the construction of be used for both equatorial- and the building. It has 44,000 telephones, connected by 160,000 miles of cable. There are 3,000 clocks and 550 water fountains. The corridors extend a total of 17 miles. There are 150 stairways and 19 escalators. During an average day, Pentagon personnel consume 35,000 cups of coffee, 3,800 quarts of milk and 7,000 soft drinks.

Points To Keep In Mind When Buying Bulk Bin

Bulk delivery of feed is one of the labor saving developments in the field of materials handling.

A. V. Krewatch, Extension Agricultural Engineer at the University of Maryland College of Agriculture, lists several points which should be kept in mind before a bulk bin is actually constructed.

In determining the size of bins to build, at least four different aspects should be considered. These are the amount of feed fed a day or week, the interval of feed delivery or home grinding of feed, the size of economical delivery amount from the feed dealer, and a margin of safety to provide for emergencies.

The economical size of delivery in specific localities may determine the size rather than the amount of feed fed each day or the interval of delivery. Some feed dealers insist on making a complete load delivery which in some cases is as much as six tons. This may also mean a price reduction.

The safety margin provided for emergencies such as nondelivery due to bad weather, exhausted supply, mechanial failure, and others should provide at least 30 percent additional bin capacity.

The bin volume required for different types of feed and grains varies widely, states Krewatch, the amount required for daily feed being approximately 80 cubic feet for a ton of feed. In contrast a space of only 40 cubic feet is needed for storage of one ton of wheat.

Letter to the Editor

Editor, The Republican.
Dear Sir:

Any mawkish attempt to identify Galileo with religious disputes through use of quotations from his writings (Letter to the Editor, April 16) creates this hazard: Readers might be led to probe into facts surrounding the clash that occurred between religion and Galileo when he dared advance the belief that the sun did not move about the earth. Certainly he was not intensely concerned about petty disagreements having to do with the uncertain origin of Easter, the accuracy of Christmas, or the calendar's controversial placement of Sunday!

Galileo was concerned, however, with the science of physics, and he founded that science. His crude telescope unveiled many celestial secrets. The reward for his devotion and toil, and his contribution to enlightenment and progressive living, was a summons to appear before the Inquisition in Rome. He was told that "The proposition that the sun does not revolve about the earth is foolish, absurd, false in theology and heretical, and expressly contrary to Holy Scriptures . . ."

As any superficial study of his biography will show, Galileo was intimidated into an agreement that he never again would attempt to teach that the earth revolves around the sun. Sixteen years passed. Then the astronomer yielded to the urge of truth. He wrote a book. The book stated all the known arguments that the earth does move around the sun. Galileo, then seventy, was again brought to Rome. Under the threat of being thrown in chains, and after a month in prison, the old man agreed to recant. After a short period during which he was torn between his own certainties and visions of fiendish torture that may be in store for him, he finally recorded the following: "I, Galileo, being in my seventieth year, being a prisoner and on my knees, and before your Eminences, having before my eyes the Holy Gospel which I touch with my hands, abjure, curse, and detest the error and the heresy of the movement of the earth."

The adherents of superstition had won. They had compelled a feeble old man to voice a shameful reversal of his most cherished convictions. The fertile muck of ignorance, without a trace of tolerance or refinement, had witnessed its day of fruition. Thus, fearful and shaken, Galileo was able to save himself from being burned at the stake—the fate of his knowledge-seeking predecessor, Giordano Bruno, who was burned in the public square opposite the Vatican on the night of February 17, 1600.

But Galileo was not out of the shadow of his tormentors. He was kept under strict surveillance so that he could not write or discuss any of his views. When blindness and sickness overtook him he asked for a little more liberty. The reply came in the form of a threat of confinement in a dungeon. When he died at the age of 78 he was even denied the right to be buried with his loved ones.

But the truths of his discoveries lived to mock his persecutors! (It is gratifying to note that even children's encyclopedias carry the basic account of the early-day indulgence in barbaric credulity). The Church had to find a way to reconcile its ancient doctrines with the overwhelming new growth of provable facts. And those same doctrines have been undergoing modifications ever since.!

No, under the circumstances that governed his life, shaken and shackled as he was by the purveyors of brutality, primitive bigotry, and cut-throat treatment for heretics, I'm certain that Galileo would not wish to have his name linked with the lead line in a debate as to whether Easter is pagan or Christian. If, however, he were free to choose—and no man was less acquainted with freedom!—it is highly unlikely that he would be inclined in the direction of the latter!

Very sincerely yours,
WILBERT N. SAVAGE,
Scottdale, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I concede the right of every man to believe what he wishes; this is the privilege every man has in our country.

What I am writing is without rancor or to be critical. I just want to give my view as it appears to me.

I grant that Easter is mentioned several times in the Old Testament. This is conclusive proof that Easter has nothing to do with Jesus' resurrection since the Old Testament was written hundreds of years before He arose. Furthermore Easter occurs on a different date every year. We celebrate the 4th of July on the same date every year, not on a different one. I am not condemning Christmas and Easter days for they are memorials worthy to be honored and remembered, but they are not holy days. The word holy appears a great many times in the Bible. At no time are these days designated as holy. I still maintain that there is only one Holy Day, the Sabbath.

The Son of Man is Lord also of the Sabbath (Mark 2-8). In many other places it is called the Sabbath of the Lord. The Sun (not Christ) shall arise with healing in His wings. Oh, certainly, when the sun rises in the morning after a cold night, how nice, warm and comfortable we feel. All animal and plant life would soon perish on the earth if it were not for the healthy sunshine. However, the sun cannot heal our spiritual ills, only Jesus, our saviour, the Son of God can do that by His love and grace.

When Jesus was baptized with water, He gave an example for all Christians to follow. Baptism is a spiritual Sacrament.

The writer states in "Easter Is Christian", that Christians are "expressly forbidden the Passover." Now I wish to ask a question. If Christians are forbidden the Passover, then why did Jesus eat the Passover with His apostles the night before the Crucifixion? Do you have an adequate answer? I cannot understand where eating a dinner with a Jewish family in New York has any bearing on this subject matter.

When the rite of baptism was instituted, circumcision was abrogated, and not effective, hence Paul's admonition against it (Gal. 5-4), and if we read the several verses following the 4th verse we can easily see what he means. He does stress the fact that faith in Jesus and love for our fellow men are the necessary prime factors in our religious life.

It is true that God sometimes speaks to us with symbols, but this does not give us the right to use a symbol to change a passage in scripture to suit our convenience. To illustrate how symbolizing is carried too far: A man made the assertion that the five stones David took from the brook before his encounter with Goliath was symbolical of Jesus' crucifixion. One stone for His death, two stones for the nails in His hands, one stone for His riven side, and one stone for the nail in His feet which were nailed together. This is about the limit for symbolizing. I do not pretend to be learned, since I did not see the inside of a school house until I was nine years old, and did not go to school a day after I was fifteen.

However, I do believe that I have enough common sense not to distort scripture to my own taste.

I am able to discern right from wrong. I can also tell the difference between SON and SUN.

Respectfully,
ROOT BEACHY,
Jennings, Md.

"More Roads to Recovery"

This is National Hospital Week, May 10-16 during which the Nation's hospitals make a special effort to tell the story of their activities to the people they serve. Our theme this year is "More Roads to Recovery." The constantly expanding services your hospitals are providing to bring you longer life and better health.

Increasingly the roads to recovery are centering in the hospitals. For the effective diagnosis and treatment of a growing number of conditions, the doctor must be able to call upon the team-work of many skilled professional and technical workers, and an ever-growing array of scientific tools and supplies. For economy and efficiency, these are centered in the hospital.

It is the hospital's responsibility to see that these skilled hands and costly tools are in constant readiness to serve, twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, throughout the year. The hospital must always be prepared to meet the unpredictable need whether for the patient already under care, for the individual emergency, or for community disaster. The emergency entrance of the Garrett County Memorial is the door in our community that is always open.

Medical progress has created hospital progress and in turn hospitals are furthering medical progress. Miracles are expected of hospitals nowadays, and much of the time they come to pass. Supportive measures such as blood transfusions, and intravenous therapy have made successful surgery possible in cases formerly considered hopeless. What was spectacular yesterday is taken for granted by the public today.

Also taken for granted today is maternity care in the hospitals. Medical care in pregnancy and child birth assures mothers and babies of an optimal chance not only for life but for future health. Hospital delivery is part of this assurance. As a result, the hospital has become the nation's birth-place.

As a result of better health care, the proportion of persons in the older age group is steadily increasing. Their needs are creating new demands for short-term hospitals care, their needs are stimulating a wide range of expanding programs in the field of chronic care, and have given fresh impetus to the attack on killers and disablers such as cancer or heart disease.

The smallest hospital today can offer services—roads to recovery—that were unknown even in the great medical centers of yesterday.

All of these increases in services, and the concentration of services have increased the number of employees required to provide services for each patient. For every one hundred patients hospitalized each day, there are, on the average, sixty-three more employees than in 1946.

A non-profit institution serving the public, hospitals must provide care for those unable to pay. For some of these patients, the hospital must pay all the costs of care, for welfare patients, government agencies pay far less than the cost of care, and the hospital must make up the difference.

Areas which directly provide the new road to recovery are largely responsible for the increased cost of operating the hospital of today. In these special services accurate prediction and maximum standardization cannot apply. While hospitals may establish schedules for tonsillectomies, the stork does not fly a regular schedule, and we have no means of establishing an appendectomy week. Nor can we predict which of the hundred routine cases may become complicated cases where recovery depends upon a new diagnostic test, or typing and cross-matching of blood, or oxygen, or special drugs, or a number of infrequently used procedures or treatment.

We expect the rise in hospital cost to continue because the factors producing the recent increases are still operating—The advance of medical science, the increased use of medical services by the public, the growing needs for skilled personnel, and the inflationary trend.

Hospital work offers rich rewards in human satisfaction. We must also offer reasonable financial security in addition. In an era of explosive growth hospitals must depend as never before upon community support and community understanding if comprehensive services of high quality are to be made available to all people.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON
by

Sunday In Wrong Place

The following is condensed from the Moody Monthly - - "I'm sorry you made Sunday where you did, dear God. You chose a day that comes at the end of a hard week, and I get all tired out. You have chosen the day we sleep late. But then, this too, is the day of the week that we have our biggest meal and it takes all morning to prepare it. Church hour is fixed just when we are preparing dinner. Then, too, you must think of John. He is cooped up in his job all week and Sunday morning is the only time he has to relax or get some diversion. He can tinker with his car or the lawn mower, or mow the lawn. God, you know Sunday is, at such a bad time. Sunday is, in our viewpoint, a day of relaxation and also a day to catch up on work. Dear God, we hope you see our viewpoint, and that it is not our fault we skip the Sunday meetings. Two of them would take most of our day. Relatives and friends come to visit - - and you know we visit sometimes too. You see, dear God, you have chosen the wrong day. If you would select another day we would be glad to go to all the services."

Sermonette By Area Ministers

By WILLIAM C. ROGERS
Loch Lynn Baptist Church

"Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again." St. Luke 6.38

Continuing the general theme of "Religion in Every-day Life", we can notice, with profit, Jesus Christ's reference to, and approval of a generous selling custom of that day. It is said that a merchant dealing in grain would fill a bag, or the bosom of a man's robe, then press it down, shake it together, and also give an overflowing portion of it to the customer.

While this illustration was given as a promise of general reward to those who practice generosity; yet there is need, in this day of higher prices and smaller packages, to apply this principle of God-like liberality to everyday business trade.

In this country, the laws regarding weights and measurements protect the consumer from direct cheating. However, even though a merchant operates within the law, he may be far from generous, and while the business may be legal, the methods used may not be ethical!

There have been outstanding commercial leaders who have applied Christian teaching to both management and methods of trade: To name a few in recent times: there was Mr. Huyler of candy fame, Mr. Kraft of the cheese business, Mr. Nash of a large clothing company; and to-day, Robert Le Tourneau of big machinery fame.

God grant that there may be many more, both small and great, who will bring the highest moral and ethical principles into daily practice.

"Where cross the crowded ways of life,
Where sound the cries of race and clan,
Above the noise of selfish strife,
We hear Thy voice, O Son of Man!"

—F. Mason North.

THE BIG CHANGE

is TO an ELECTRIC RANGE!
Cool-Clean-Fast-Automatic-Economical-Modern
An electric range keeps the kitchen cool! The oven is heavily insulated so heat stays where it belongs. Outside remains cool. Surface units transfer heat directly to the bottoms of pots and pans — not to the surrounding air. The kitchen stays cool.
An electric range is clean! It cooks without producing soot. That means less scouring of pots, less cleaning in the kitchen. Surface units clean themselves by burning off spilled foods. Other parts are a breeze to clean.
An electric range is fast! Ovens and broilers pre-heat rapidly. Surface units reach desired temperatures almost as fast as you can turn them on. And this fast heat is accurate.
An electric range is automatic! You just set the controls. You may leave the house and feel completely confident that food will be cooked just like you want it. "Controlled heat" makes the electric range automatic and reliable.
An electric range is economical! It heats quickly and efficiently. Most surface cooking, at low settings, uses fuel thriftily. Heat conservation and fuel conservation save money.
An electric range is modern! It has been engineered for efficient and convenient service, designed for sleek and modern appearance. It takes the guesswork — and the failures — out of cooking and baking. It uses the most modern fuel.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, our dad and granddad, Allen E. Uphold, who passed away one year ago, May 7, 1958.
One year has passed since that sad day;
When the one we loved was called away.
No one can ever take your place
Or fill your vacant chair.
Although you're not with us today,
Our wishes to impart.
We will put our wishes in writing
In hopes that they will be read.
Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all.
We often sit and think of you
When evening shades are falling.
And in our hearts there comes a longing
If you could only come home.

Sadly missed by his Wife, Children and Grandchildren.

Strip Mine Rules Now More Strict

Strip mining regulations are to be tightened considerably under a bill made a new law during the past 10 days.

The bill sponsored by Delegates Conlon, of Cumberland, and Delegate Elbert Buckel. Bittinger, was among a number of bills signed by Gov. Tawes.

First, it increases the bond that an operator must post for strip mining from $100 to $300 an acre, and sets $1,200 as the minimum bond.

The total area to be backfilled in any working must not exceed acreage under bond and upon failure to observe this regulation the director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines has the power to stop the removal of overburden until the exposed area has been reduced to four acres or less by backfilling.

No additional strip mining permit will be issued until the operator complies with this provision.

The filing fee for a permit has been reduced from $200 to $50. Also changed is the time required from the end of the stripping to the filing of a completion report with the bureau. Formerly six months, it will now be 30 days.

At the time of the final report the director notes the number of acres not backfilled and the operator has $300 an acre deducted.

Also the strip miner must rehabilitate the excavated area by backfilling or the building of farm ponds "acre for acre."

In the past, legislators have gone for higher bonds for each acre. A low bond, they have insisted, has induced the operators to abandon the excavations, as it would be cheaper to forfeit the bond than reclaim the mined area. The first strip mine bill did not apply if less than 250 tons of coal were taken out. This was deleted but a clause inserted that provisions do not apply in prospecting if the area is covered up again.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear mother, who passed away, March 1, 1959.
Oh! Dear mother how I miss you
Your dear voice on earth I'll never hear
But, oh, how happy we will be,
When we meet in Heaven to spend Eternity.
I should not grieve for you
When I know your are at rest,
Where pain and death will never be
In that home of the blest.

By her daughter,
Mrs. Joe Cook

Government dabbling in other economic fields has been equally disillusioning. The benefits are either less than expected or overbalanced by the resulting complications.

Human needs are not met by complications. They are met by an economic system strong enough and versatile enough to support jobs. Jobs, in turn, produce the goods by which needs are satisfied.

Fortunately, our economy as originally set up had a great deal of built-in equilibrium. It has always managed to straighten itself after every push to the left. It has been able to do this because it offered rewards and opportunity to those who were willing to work. Each new government effort to meet human needs reduces those rewards and opportunities a little.

Oppressive taxes and controls impede private effort. So government must shoulder additional responsibility, reducing further the field for individual action.

Subsidies to a group or community require, in fairness, subsidies for those with whom they compete. Eventually the subsidies become a right to which the beneficiaries are encouraged to believe themselves entitled.

When the Rural Electrification Administration was created 24 years ago it was authorized to lend money at two percent interest to speed electrification of farms. Now, with farms 95 percent electrified, the President has suggested that the interest rate be raised to equal government's borrowing cost.

This caused Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson to urge the borrowers to "fight with beer bottles" if necessary to keep their advantages. House Speaker Sam Rayburn asked, "Why not a little subsidy for the millions who, until a few years ago, were the underprivileged?"

With equal logic we can "continue unemployment benefits to those who were recently unemployed," "sickness benefits to the recently ill," "depressed area aid to communities recently depressed," "educational benefits to the recently illiterate."

We can, and in truth are, building an increasing group that depends on government rather than ambition for advancement.

In Michigan and Pennsylvania, unemployment remains high though in those and nearby states jobs are available for skilled people. Employment agencies observe: "Unemployment benefits are very attractive."

Apparently they are less attractive in West Virginia. Cleveland M. Bailey of that state urges aid for depressed areas so that "100,000 unfortunate West Virginia boys can come home." The 100,000 left their native state to find employment. What Representative Bailey wants to stop is the spirit that kept this country from remaining a narrow band of states along the eastern seaboard.

Even where that spirit still exists today, government intervention is working to erode it. A young man who recently started his own business reports sadly, "I was determined to get along without government help—but all my competitors were getting it. Now I'm getting it, too—every bit I can."

It is time to consider if this is the sort of society we want. Shall we force individuals to accept government help, or shall we encourage them to be self-reliant and ambitious?

How Congress acts on the subsidy measures urged in this session can go a long way toward setting our course.

We can depend on the individual to meet his own human needs by offering incentives, giving him room to grow and prosper.

Or we can so conduct ourselves that Khrushchev's statement "your grandchildren will live under socialism" becomes a prediction rather than a threat.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

World Law-An Optical Illusion

Nearly 175 years ago, Alexander Hamilton in THE FEDERALIST proclaimed: "Let the thirteen States, bound together in a strict and indissoluble Union, concur in erecting one great American system, superior to the control of all transatlantic force or influence, and able to dictate the terms of the connection between the old and the new world." Whether the number is thirteen or fifty, from the fabric of this basic tenet has been woven the ideal and truism of the sovereignty of the United States—that power of the republic which in the ultimate sense determines, administers and preserves the government of its people.

Changing conditions and expanding responsibilities have become almost synonymous in a world half free and half slave. There are those who contend that American sovereignty has been diluted as a consequence of a variety of international liaisons since the last great war. But, with equal fervor, it can be argued that the U. S. has been able to guide "the terms of the connection between the old and the new world." The durability of the latter will be tested in times ahead.

Never before in history has it been more imperative to establish order and peace on this globe. Accordingly, Aristotle's philosophy that "good law means good order" has been stretched by some to include a new concept of world law. Well-meaning public officials and professional associations have already been entranced by this mirage. The optical illusion of world peace through world law has led them to suggest that the jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice might be broadened to include domestic as well as international issues, or that a wholly new world law organization be superimposed upon the sovereignty of all nations.

The fallaciousness of this notion is exposed when one realizes that justice and judicial processes are rarely synonymous among nations. On any point, an Israeli and an Arab assuredly would have widely different viewpoints. And a settlement affecting Algeria might have one meaning for the Algerians and another for the French. What international body could fix blame for aggression? To the Communists, this is a crime committed only by "capitalist," "fascist" and "imperialist" states.

In sum, the common ground of agreed principle—the fulcrum of all national legal systems—is absent in international relations. There is no international organization whose decisions would command universal respect or possess the means with which to enforce its decisions. The idea that the Communist bloc would observe the requirements and inhibitions of an elaborate blueprint for world law is again a mirage and sheer quackery.

The Two Berlins - - - -

East and West Berlin are separated only by a barbed wire fence, constantly patrolled by gun-carrying Communist police. This iron curtain runs directly through the middle of what used to be one big city, dividing it into two distinct zones. The two sections, side by side, present the world's most dramatic comparison between capitalism and total socialism.

It shows the world also why the free world must keep West Berlin free and open to the eyes of the universe.

A West German worker can stand in his apartment a few blocks from the dividing line and study the desolation and poverty of the Communist zone. An East German worker living under Communism can climb through rubble to the top of a vacant shattered building and gaze out across the shining, prosperous new city of West Berlin. And when he does, he doesn't wonder any more about the Communist propaganda against capitalism. He knows that it is false.

Millions of people behind the iron curtain have heard about this contrast. Millions of Europeans know about it. And this is the main reason why Soviet dictator Khrushchev wants to first "neutralize" West Berlin, then wipe it off the map. The contrast of East and West Berlin proves how wrong is the Communist plan for world domination.

Anyone except the most sightless, warped Communist, can know that West Berlin must be viewed as a veritable garden spot rising up out of the desolate, stagnant desert that Communism has made of it 42,000 square miles and the shattered forgotten cities of East Germany. West Germany is a mighty thorn in Khrushchev's side. The thorn goes deeper into his hide every day.

In ten years West Berlin, using the free enterprise, capitalistic system, has been reborn and rebuilt. Standard of living in high, everybody is busy. The surge is upward. That's why Khrushchev wants Allied troops to vacate Berlin and leave it as an "open city." And that's why the Allies must stand firm againt Communist pressure. The permanency of the free world is at stake.

Record Tree Planting Program Completed

The spring reforestation program, which involved the planting of some 1,380.000 tree seedlings in Garrett county, has been successfully completed. Of the total, approximately 550.000 were planted by machine. According to R. Thomas Thayer, assistant district forester, this is the largest number of evergreen seedlings planted by landowners in the county in any one year.

The trees which will be used for timber production, game protection, watershed cover, or thinned for Christmas trees, were secured from the nursery of the Department of Forests and Parks, near Baltimore, or purchased from other sources.

The majority of the seedlings distributed by the department will be allowed to stand for timber production or watershed cover Thayer said that over 200 county landowners received the trees which are normally planted at the rate of 1000 per acre.

Forest Fire Burns 250 Acres On Friday

The worst forest fire of the spring season in Western Maryland last Friday burned about 250 acres of timberland on Backbone mountain before being brought under control.

District Forester William H. Johnson led a crew of about 70 volunteer fire fighters who struggled for about six and one-half hours before bringing the blaze under control.

One of the steepest hillsides in the county, rocky terrain, high winds and the dry condition of the timber combined to make the fire fighting extremely difficult.

Fire fighters included volunteer firemen from Bloomington, Kitzmiller and Deer Park, members of the State Roads commission maintenance crew and a crew from the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and about 25 employes from the State Department of Forests and Parks.

The blaze started along the B. and O. railroad right of way where a crew was burning debris on the 17-mile grade, near Bond station and also the Savage River dam. The fire burned from near the dam to state route 135. Most of the burned over land contained timber, much of which was mature.

Store at Crellin Robbed on Saturday

The Delmas Sanders store at Crellin was robbed of about $50 in merchandise last Saturday night. The merchandise was recovered and two persons questioned, one a juvenile, but they denied having any connection with the theft and were released without being charged.

The merchandise was discovered along the highway several hundred yards from the store.

There were unconfirmed reports that some robbers had been caught in Aurora, W. Va., during the past week, but whether or not they were connected with the series of Oakland robberies, had not been learned.

William S. Schmidt, superintendent of schools of Prince Georges county since 1951, will deliver commencement addresses for both Southern and Northern High school graduating classes, it was announced this week by Willard

L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools here.

He will deliver his address to graduates of Southern High school at commencement exercises at the school on Monday evening, June 1, and will then give the address at Northern High Commencement on the following evening, Tuesday, June 2.

A native of Frederick he received degrees from Franklin and Marshall college, Teachers college, Columbia university; University of Pittsburgh, George Washington university and the University of Maryland.

60 Persons Attend Democratic Dinner

Some sixty persons attended the spring dinner meeting of the Democratic Women's club of the county held Monday at the Mt. Lake Park hotel.

Dr. Clarence D. Long, professor of economics, Johns Hopkins university, spoke on the relationship between government and politics, centralization of government and governmental service. He said that war caused the size of government to expand. "While we are not at war we are not at peace. Hence the size of government and its services to the people continue to expand."

Also discussed were lobbyists and bureaucrats, the two party system, the amount of money expended in primary compaigns and the apparent apathy existing with many voters in not exercising their right to franchise. But he concluded "In spite of many differences in our politics and governmental spending we still have the greatest and the best government in the world."

Among those attending were Senator B. I. Gonder, Delegates Elbert Buckel and Leslie Savage, and County Commissioners Elra Garletts and Carl Schell. Charles Briner sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Russell H. Brown. Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner presided. Invocation was given by Miss Mary Catherine Gonder.

Dr. Calandrella Is Re-elected Head of Board of Education

At a meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday, Dr. Ralph Calandrella, of Kitzmiller, was re-elected president. Maurice Brookhart was re-elected vice-president. George Edwards became associate member, and Willard L. Hawkins was named secretary-treasurer.

Members of the board spent most of the day in a meeting with county P.-T.A. presidents in an effort to provide information leading to a better understanding between board members and P.-T.A. leaders concerning all phases of the county school system.

Mr. Hawkins said some items discussed dealt with matters of budget, finance, teacher recruitment and replacement, the educational and building programs both present and future, equipment needs, federal education defense act, method used for purchasing materials, insurance costs, professional meetings, proposed summer school program, and other issues.

Discuss Salaries

Members also met with the County Commissioners and a committee of represenatives from the county teachers' association to discuss salaries for the coming year.

It was emphasized it was next to impossible to interest graduates of Maryland colleges in coming to the county with its comparatively low salary offerings. Salaries offered in wealthier counties were making it difficult to recruit replacements, Mr. Hawkins reported. He added however that the turnover to date was small.

The Commissioners made no definite commitment, stating that the present county budget could not now or in the future take on any new obligations without in-

Hunter Safety Trip Planned By Cadets

Each year the Rifle Range Officers at Charlotte Hall Military Academy, take an outing to some forest or park for a combined outing and instruction course.

This year 23 cadets and 3 instructors are taking their Hunter Safety Course trip to Swallow Falls State Forest upon recommendation of Paul Cornish, Deep Creek Lake, a student at the school. Captain Runyon, Hunter Safety Instructor, was at first skeptical of taking such a long trip away from the school but at the urging of the Range Officers he took a trip to Swallow Falls over the Easter Holidays. Just a day up there convinced Captain Runyon that the site would be the ideal spot. The Range Officers plan to arrive May 14, and stay until Sunday, May 17.

In addition to completing the last phases of the Hunter Safety Course, that is sponsored by the National Rifle Association, the State Forest Rangers from the Oakland area, have volunteered to give lectures and demonstrations in methods of preventing and fighting forest fires, identification of trees and plants, conservation, etc.

After the course has been completed, the cadets will attend a dance at Deep Creek Lake on Saturday night, May 16.

REHEARSE FOR SPRING CONCERT—The Pittsburgh Lutheran Chorus, a portion of which is shown here with its director, Carl Schmidt, will present a spring concert of sacred music Sunday, May 17 at 8:00 p. m. at Northern High school. Presently composed of 57 members, the group is commemorating its twentieth anniversary this year. The public is invited.

Lutheran Chorus To Present Spring Concert at Cove

The Pittsburgh Lutheran Chorus will present a special Spring concert of sacred music in commemoration of its twentieth anniversary, Sunday, May 17, 8:00 p.m., at Northern High School. The chorus is under direction of Carl Schmidt, of Bridgeville, Pa. The public is invited. There will be a free will offering.

The chorus was organized in the fall of 1939, primarily, to sing the praises of God, to instill a better knowledge of sacred music in the Lutheran Churches of the Missouri Synod, to encourage growth of church choirs, and to assist in beautifying services whenever called to render such service. Only two members and the director of this original group remain. Voices are not hand-picked, but volunteered from all walks of life. They serve without pay.

This chorus made the first recorded music for The Family Worship Hour, two broadcasts heard around the world with the late Dr. Walter A. Maier, the first Lutheran Hour speaker, served on four local radio stations, for ten years in local church broadcasts, made over 175 personal appearances, has been rated one of the finest choral groups in western Pennsylvania, and has made five appearances on television. They also serve each year at Pittsburgh Carnegie Hall for Reformation Service and the downtown Warner Theatre for Good Friday services.

Present membership is 57. The chorus gives series of Christmas and Spring programs each year, and rehearses about 13 weeks on each program. Due to many other engagements, they get to rest only two months a year.

The present director is serving his 12th year as director, having previously sung for eight years.

DEER PARK

The annual Mail Box Improvement Week program will be observed from May 18 to 23. The Post Office department encourages patrons of rural delivery service to provide suitable boxes. The boxes must be erected properly, present a neat appearance, and maintained for easy and safe accessibility.

Mrs. Flora Haines and Mrs. Rosemary Filsinger entertained the WSCS on Thursday evening. Miss King had charge of the devotions. A shower was tendered Mrs. Green by the group.

Who's Who At Northern High

By Ruth Westerfield

ROYCE DURST

Last fall when the clubs were organized at Northern, the F.F.A. group ran into some trouble. The trouble was, too many boys for one club. After a talk, the club decided to divide the group into two clubs.

When F.F.A. Club Group Two elected officers, a tall, but rather heavy-set, friendly guy was elected president of the group. This young fellow, seventeen years young, is Royce Durst.

Although he doesn't live on a farm, he is taking the vocational agriculture course and was privileged to attend the F.F.A. National Convention which was held in Kansas City, Missouri.

Seems as though every time you see him in school, he has a smile, and this young chap, who is a part-time grocery clerk at George's Market in Grantsville, is very friendly.

I found his interests included aircraft, automobiles, and stories.

School classes in which he is enrolled are: industrial arts, review math, vo. ag., P.O.D., and English.

Royce, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Durst, plans to enter the Armed Forces right after graduation.

4-H Demonstration Workshop Scheduled

A 4-H Demonstration Workshop will be held in the County Extension office, May 16, 1:30 to 3: p. m. The purpose is to help 4-H'ers in planning and improving on their demonstrations.

Showing how to do something from a project, whether it is new, old or a better method is a demonstration, it was explained by E. Rankin Lusby, assistant county agent. It is learning by seeing on the part of the audience, he said.

This workshop will include in the program such items as "Selecting a Topic," "Making an Outline," "The Place of Charts or Illustrated Materials". Three demonstrations will be given—two of which will be practical ones for judging in order to see the good points and make suggestions for improvement.

Demonstrations are an important part of 4-H activities as many clubs have them at each monthly meeting, according to the assistant 4-H agents. In addition, members display their knowledge and ability in such events as the Demonstration Day in June and the County Fair in August.

Four youths escaped from the Forestry Camp for Boys at New Germany last Thursday morning but three were back in custody by Sunday.

Two youths were picked up last Thursday by Pennsylvania State Police as they were entering the Pennsylvania Turnpike at Somerset. They were identified as Gerald F. James, 17, Riverdale; and Charles Garrett, 18, Dundalk. The third youth, James R. Dean, 16, of Greenbelt, was turned over to the Maryland Training School for Boys Saturday by his father, according to State Police.

Still at large Tuesday was Daniel Andrew Kluczyk, 17, of Baltimore.

Philip Axman, supervisor of the camp, said the camp is one of three in this area and was created in the belief that boys interested in outdoor living could be guided back to good citizenship while performing work in the conservation of natural resources. There are no fences or gates at the New Germany camp and the boys are not locked in at nights.

More Youths Escape

Five more teen-agers escaped from forestry camps Tuesday morning but three were recaptured on route 40 by State Police.

Police said James K. Ryan, 17, Baltimore; Franklin Lee Benton, 17, Baltimore; and Daniel W. Thomas, 17, Westminster escaped from New Germany about 9 a. m., but were picked up that evening near a restaurant on route 40 by Trooper Donald Wade.

John M. Brady, 18, Rockville; and George Tolson, 16, Baltimore, escaped from a boys' work detail in the Barton area yesterday morning and were still missing Wednesday. The two were from the camp at Lonaconing.

Two other teen-agers escaped Monday evening from Lonaconing and are still missing. They were Nathan Eberl, 17, Baltimore; and Stephen Smith, 15, of Hillcrest.

During an interview with three of the youths apprehended, they told officers they left camp because they were being beaten by older boys at the New Germany site. Two of the boys were bruised and had cuts about their faces and arms.

The boys said they weren't running away but were attempting to get back to the Maryland Training School for Boys in Baltimore where they felt "conditions were much better." The boys told police that the older boys had been at the camp five and six months and that they were "taking over."

Nationalist China Letter Honors Marine Officer

Marine first lieutenant Frank L. Blue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Blue, of State College has received a letter of appreciation from the Chinese Nationalist government.

The letter was signed by Maj. Gen. C. C. Ku, commanding officer of the Third Combat Air Wing, China Air Force, Pingtung, Taiwan, and presented to Lieutenant Blue for "rendering invaluable assistance to Pingtung air base... materially contributing to the installation."

In addition, Lieutenant Blue's platoon of the 2nd Landing Support company, 31d Service Battalion, 3rd Marine division, received a scroll from the Chinese Nationalist government.

The letter was presented to the lieutenant by Col. Paul R. McNichol commander of the 3rd service battalion at Okinawa.

A graduate of Duke University, Lieutenant Blue is married to the former Miss Shirley Stockman, of Oakland. He has served in the Marine corps since 1955.

Grantsville Drops Two Games In Row

Grantsville Sluggers dropped two contests over the week-end in the Tri-Mar Baseball league, dropping them to fourth place in the standing.

Centerville moved into a tie with second place Barrelville on Sunday by defeating Grantsville 7 to 3. Grantsville outhit the Reds but pitchers issued 12 bases on balls and the passes figured prominently in the scoring. Centerville put on a five-run rally in the eighth inning to pull the decision out of the fire.

Perry hammered a triple and single and Taylor obtained a pair of singles to pace the Grantsville hitters. Manager Keister turned in a sensational play in left field in the first inning when he snared a line drive, fell, turned over several times and came up clutching the ball.

In Saturday's game at Barrellville it edged Grantsville 1 to 0 in a pitcher's battle between Bobby Dawson, Barrellville, and Dave Richards, Grantsville.

Dave Richards, last year's strikeout king in the high school league, who struck out 123 batters while hurling 11 games for Beall High, had 18 batsmen fanning out.

Barrellville got six hits, all singles, two of which came in the ninth inning when Richards showed signs of wildness. Dawson yielded only five hits and walked four. Richards walked three.

"Rabbit" Keister, John Keister, Ray Ralston, Tucker Cain and Buckingham had Grantsville's base blows, all singles.

Lawn Weed Control

As the temperature begins to rise, now is the best time to be considering controlling weeds in your lawn according to James A. Methany, County agent. Chicory, dandelion, lambs quarter, and plantain are only a few of the weed problems. 2,4-D properly used, gives good control of weeds. There are generally two forms of 2,4-D available. There are the amine salt and ester form. The amine salt is less volatile and is most generally recommended for lawns. 2,4-D is available at most garden supply centers. Several things should be watched—avoid spillage or leakage, do not spray newly seeded lawns, know exactly how much liquid your sprayer applies, do not use same sprayer for insecticides unless properly cleaned, keep nozzle close to vegetables, read label on the container carefully, and follow instructions. Fact Sheet 127—"Using 2,4-D Correctly," is available from the County Agents' office.

His garden is the envy of all the neighbors. They say it's because he has a green thumb.

But the truth of the matter is, he loves to see things grow . . . and he works hard to help them grow . . . and he enjoys the hard work because he finds deep satisfaction in the beauty of its fruit.

The same spirit pervades the churches of our community. Congregations thrive and souls grow in spiritual strength because of consecrated men and women who love to see this God-given growth . . . who work hard to implant Christian truth in their hearts and yours . . . who enjoy this unselfish dedication of their time and talents and treasure because they share the joy of Christ in its spiritual fruit.

Be an active church member! Volunteer for enriching service in your congregation's busy, fruitful life!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Power Is Peril

Lesson for May 17, 1959

SOME PEOPLE have everything. Not all people begin with everything; but King Solomon did. Talk of being born with a gold spoon in the mouth! Little Solomon would have choked with all the sets of gold spoons that belonged to him. He was the king who had everything done for him, everything all arranged. He did not have to carve out a kingdom; his father David had done that. He did not have to develop an army; his father had done that too. He did not have to try to be rich; he was born wealthy. He was the favorite son of his father's favorite wife; the strongest forces in harem politics (always a power in barbaric countries) were on his side.

Dr. Foreman

Strength Has Its Dangers

Solomon had better than a scheming mother on his side; God was with him. The beautiful story of Solomon's dream, in I Kings 3, shows the young king at his best. Yet the story of his reign, in spite of all its magnificent display, in spite of all the peace and prosperity, is in the long run a story of decay and degeneration. He was like a great rocket leaving its launching pad in a blaze of light, yet going off-course and bringing down in its crash many a hope and expectation of success.

Why was this? The story of Solomon tells us something about power and its perils. Most people think of power as a sort of insurance, and so we seize every chance to increase our power. Few powerful men are content with the power they have. They are always grasping for more.

The Power of Bad Influence

One danger is that if a man is specially powerful, everything he does will be copied by lesser men. (Lesser men may be just as power-hungry as greater men, only not so successful.) As is well known, Solomon built not only the famous Temple of Jehovah; he built shrines for other gods, also in and around the city of Jerusalem. It is a fact that all that the prophets of the true God could do or say, for hundreds of years, did not succeed in winning the masses of people to the Lord. Worship of idols went on, generation after generation. And why not, with Solomons' temples to other gods still standing? Why not? they would say —if it was all right for Solomon it is good enough for us. If Solomon had been as loyal to God as God's gencrous goodness to him deserved, the whole sad history of Israel might have been different. But because Solomon was no obscure working man but a powerful monarch, his very sins would be imitated—and indeed they were.

Peril to Personality

There is a more intimate danger in great power, and that is to the inner self, the soul, of the one who has it. We must not think this is true only of prominent people like judges and presidents and generals. It is true of kings and cowhands, true of parents, whose power over their children is greater than they realize, true of employers, managers, everyone who has the right to give someone else orders. The danger is that the strong man comes to think that whatever he can do is right.

Shall We Shirk Power?

Solomon became a tyrant, as even his son admitted. If we had room, we could name still other perils of power, but the reader is invited to make his own list. Let us just ask a question. Since the possession of power is a danger not only to the soul of the powerful but also to those over whom he stands, ought not a conscientious person to refuse to accept power, small or great? Not by any means. The dangers are always there; but they are made less for the person who is aware of them. And power there must be. You cannot run a fish market or a church or a nation if nobody takes orders from anybody. Order and authority there must be; and without power this is impossible. Bishops and presidents and managers and bosses are necessities; nevertheless they will (if they are Christian) hold office in true humility, not in pride.

Chevy pickup pulls through "bottomless" pastures to keep stock fed!

At the Hall Bros. Dairy Farm, Montgomery, Ala., they say this 4-wheel drive Chevy will go anywhere to keep stock fed—even through hub-deep muck that makes it a fight all the way. And yet after a full year of it—no mechanical trouble of any kind!

That Chevy pickup may not win any beauty awards (till it's cleaned up). But it's sure walking off with the top prize for dependability. And that's standard Chevrolet procedure. Put a Chevy truck to work and it keeps on working until you say quit. Not before.

We aren't claiming that every Chevrolet truck is turning out to be a miracle-worker and averaging 100,000 miles before a valve job. (Even though some are going 150,000!) You're sure to find, however, that you can't buy more truck dependability at any price. And that's borne out by the fact that more truck owners put their faith, and their payloads, in Chevrolets than in any other make.

Take your load and schedule figures to your Chevrolet dealer. He'll specify the best way to handle both and save in the bargain.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck! CHEVROLET

Friendsville Men Seek Second Trial

A new trial is being sought by two Friendsville men who claim they were seriously injured in a traffic accident November 4, 1951, near Waltersburg, Pa.

Attorney Sam J. Feigus has filed papers at Uniontown, Pa., seeking the new trial on behalf of James Vernon Shultz and Richard C. Thomas, of Friendsville.

The trial held in the case ended with a Fayette county civil court jury finding for the defendants in all actions and giving no awards.

Killed in the accident was Frank Tomay, Belle Vernon, Pa., driver of one of the autos involved in the mishap on route 51, at Waltersburg intersection.

Tomay's mother, Mrs. Mary Tomay, administratrix of his estate, was named as defendant by Shultz and Thomas. Theodore Wade Frazee, also a resident of Friendsville at the time of the accident and operator of the car in which Shultz and Thomas were riding, was named additional defendant.

Mrs. Tomay filed a cross-suit in which Frazee was named as defendant.

Attorney Feigus claimed in his motion for a new trial that several judicial errors were made during the trial and that the verdicts themselves were inconsistent "inasmuch as there was ample proof of either joint or several negligence of the operators of the two vehicles involved."

Identical arguments were submitted by Attorney Feigus in both the Shultz and Thomas requests for a new trial.

The case had been tried in Fayette county once before, and a large verdict awarded Shultz and Thomas. This was reversed however, following an appeal by counsel for Mrs. Tomay, to the Pennsylvania Supreme court.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

The Teen age club in the armory is starting to swing into the summer spirit just like everything else around here.

There are different parents each week chaperoning at Teen Club. Friday night we had Mr. and Mrs. Mosser. These are two of the parents of members of our club who really are interested in what their teen ager and other teenagers are doing.

Every week now I would like to write about some worthy teenager who attends Teen Age Club. This week I would like to start with a very popular brother and sister in the younger set. They are Jack and Jill Jones.

Jack and Jill live in Mountain Lake Park and are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jones. Jack is thirteen years old and in the eighth grade while Jill is in the seventh grade. Unlike most sisters and brothers they enjoy activities together as well as maintaining individual interests. They have in common a liking for ballads as far as music goes, and they both seem to like attending Teen Age Club. They started attending regularly about a year ago. Jack's favorite dise right now is Martin Denny's "The Quiet Village". Jill seems to like the Teddybear's recording of "To Know Him Is To Love Him." I wish that I could get along with my sister and she with me the same way that Jack and Jill seem to.

There are some really big records out right now. One of the biggest is a recording by Cathy Linden called "Good-bye Jimmy, Good-bye." Cathy Linden fills her voice with all sorts of emotions, all tracked on the little wax dise that has won her a platinum record. (One better than a gold one.) Another really big one is "The Quiet Village", this is one which I first heard, during a sleepless night, on a Cleveland radio station. This is one that I knew would be on the top ten list within a few weeks It is now right near the top. All through the dise we hear a weird bird calling. The d. j.'s all very affectionately call this a "Goony Goony" bird. The man that is to be held responsible for that three minutes of madness is Martin Denny.

Look for Teen Corner next week.

Discipline - - - -

The dictionary defines the word "discipline" as follows: the treatment suited to a disciple or learner; education; development of the faculties by instruction and exercise; training, whether physical, mental or moral; training to act in accordance with established rules.

It is necessary that every person be under some form of discipline.

It was rather astonishing to learn a few weeks ago from members of the State Police force that at these forestry camps in western Maryland, apparently there is little discipline, if any at all. Supervisors are not permitted to lay their hands upon these boys in any manner, let alone remonstrate with them by force, persuasion or reason. No threats of punishment hang over their heads.

When we first heard of these conditions these state officers said that people who resided in the area of the camps were somewhat on edge. A number of automobiles had been stolen or tampered with, and residents were fearful of other methods of pilfering and robbery. At that time there had been a number of fights at the camps, with some attempts at knifing.

Within the past two weeks there was a series of events where about a dozen boys ran away from the camps. There are no fences around the areas and they are not locked in at night.

An investigation showed that some of the older boys were "taking over," and that the runaways were being made to keep from getting "beaten up" by these older youth.

If it is actually true that there are no restrictions or discipline at camp, and there would be no reason to donbt the word of the state's officers, then there ought to be some radical changes made by the Department of Welfare.

It's all right to have an honor system but when dealing with boys who have been sent to training schools and houses of correction for breaking laws, then there ought to be some limit. There ought to be plenty of established rules, and if they were broken, there ought to be some form of punishment, and it ought to be pretty firm.

Following an investigation this week by officials of the Department of Welfare it was announced that the camps were back in good order. We certainly hope they remain that way. But if they don't some stern measures ought to be taken for a more permanent improvement, for their own good as well as for their neighbors'.

Mayor Smith Names May 23 "Poppy Day"

Mayor Russell L. Smith has proclaimed Saturday, May 23, as Poppy Day in Oakland.

On that day the American Legion auxiliary of Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, will be conducting its annual Poppy Day on the streets of the town in observance of national and state Poppy Day. Headquarters will he at the office of the West Maryland Power company. Girl scouts will assist in the sale of the poppies.

The poppy committee includes Mrs. Herbert Bittinger, chairman; Mrs. Hazel Gower, Mrs. Mabel Smouse, Mrs. Cleda Stewart and Mrs. Darlene Pangh.

Poppies are made by disabled veterans in VA hospitals. Fifteen percent of the money collected, after paying for poppies, will be sent to the State Department for rehabilitation and Child Welfare programs. The remainder stays in the county. The auxiliary used the local amount in previous years for child welfare and rehabilitation. Some was used for glasses for needy children, food and clothing for needy families at Christmas and help for needy children in general. Rehabilitation funds are used for needy veterans and their wives, and donations are made to district, state and community projects.

Poppies bloomed in abundance on the battle fields of France where many men had fallen in battle in World War I, and a replica of the poppy has become the memorial flower for the Legion and its auxiliary.

In Mayor Smith's proclamation he noted that Poppy Day was observed nationally each year prior to Memorial day. He said he proclaimed the day "in honor of heroes of America's major roles in freedom's long fight, in recognition of the benefits that accrue to veterans in the making of the poppies, and in gratitude for the child welfare and rehabilitation work of the American Legion Auxiliary."

Forestry Payments To Counties Is Due

The third quarterly 15 percent State dividend to the counties from State forests, parks and historic sites income for this fiscal year is currently being totaled and payments should he in the mail to county commissioners before the first week in June. Director Joseph F. Kaylor of the State Department of Forests and Parks announced this week.

Thirteen counties, in which developed or partially developed State forest and park lands are currently located, will share this year in State payments from this source. The dividend is based on a State law which provides that 15 percent of the income from State forest sales and from State park and historic site concessions and fees shall be returned to the counties where they arise. Last fiscal year's total returns to the counties amounted to $19,731.73.

Although the current third quarter payment, for the January 1 to March 31 period, is usually the small st of the year, it is welcomed by the counties involved as a part of the year's total dividend, which may well run larger this year than heretofore. There have been average timber sales on the State forests, while visitations to State forests, parks and historic sites last year increased by 1·4 million visitors over the previous year—most of these after July 1, 1958, when the present (1959) fiscal year began. State park visitors alone ran above the five million mark.

Western Maryland, with its several State forests and its older State developed mountain park areas, has traditionally received a substantial portion of the 15 percent income dividend. Last year Garrett County with its State forests and State developed Swallow Falls, Deep Creek, Herrington Manor and New Germany areas, received more than $6,400.00 of the total. Additional sums were received in Western Maryland by the commissioners of Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties, amounting to more than $1,-628.00.

Four firefighting units battled the blaze for three hours before the bodies of the men could be recovered.

MILITARY SCENE

By MARION B. LEARY

When the famous soldier, Major General George Crook, died suddenly in Chicago in March of 1890 his remains were brought to Oakland and interred, but six months later were removed to the National Cemetery at Arlington.

At Chicago the services were attended by many notables, civilians and military, including an ex-President of the United States, Rutherford B. Hayes. From Washington and elsewhere came many others to Oakland to pay a last tribute of respect, a future President among them, the Hon. William McKinley, then a member of Congress from Ohio.

Both eminent statesmen had been long-time friends and former companions-in-arms of the dead chieftain. They had served with Ohio regiments of the Kanawha Division during the Maryland campaign of 1862, Crook commanding one of the division's two brigades.

In 1890 many Civil War veterans lived in Garrett County. My father, William Lewis Leary, was one of a squad chosen from among them to fire the last salute over the General's grave.

After the funeral Mr. McKinley exchanged reminiscences with the local old soldiers. In particular the conversation turned on the Battle of Antietam, fought on Maryland soil. A number of the men had been present at that desperate and sanguinary struggle.

At home that evening my father recounted to members of his family the circumstances under which he had first seen the then Colonel Crook in action. The funeral and comradely chat with surviving veterans had evoked in him a reminiscent mood, recalling events he had taken part in or had witnessed a quarter of a century earlier. I set down his narrative to the best of my recollection and that of my sisters.

We were very young then but the impressions of childhood are sharply etched in one's memory, more so than are those of mature years.

Toward the middle of September of 1862 I lived on a farm near Downsville, Maryland, about midway between Williamsport and Sharpsburg. Everybody knew of the smashing Confederate victory in the Second Battle of Bull Run in late August. All feared an invasion of the North by the triumphant Rebels, which indeed came to pass.

Much anxiety and excitement prevailed throughout the countryside. Rumors as to the movements of the contending armies came thick and fast. Nina out of ten were groundless but all were alarming. Soon we had reliable news of the Confederates crossing the Potomac and marching into Frederick. On September 11th a large force of them passed our farm marching rapidly toward Williamsport. In a few days we understood the meaning of this; Stonewall Jackson was on his way to Harper's Ferry by way of Marlinsburg to perform one of his spectacular exploits. On Sept. 14th we heard a loud cannonade to the eastward. By this time Jackson was three days' march away from that area. The artillery discharges were from the fighting at three gaps through South Mountain. Early in the morning of September 15th we heard the distance-muffled roars of cannon away off to the southward. This, as we later learned, was the bombardment of Harper's Ferry by Jackson. At the time all these things were mystifying.

Next day with a friend, George Sterling, I started for Sharpsburg about six miles south of us to see what was transpiring. For several weeks George and I had been planning to enlist in the Union cavalry. We were good riders and had a preference for that arm of the service. We were not interested in the contention over slavery, but firmly believed in the imperative necessity of preserving the Union. For this we were ready and willing to fight.

When we had walked to within a few miles of Sharpsburg we saw some mounted men in the road and soon discerned they were a Rebel cavalry outpost. We didn't fear bodily harm, but those Johnny Rebs might force us at gun point to work, carrying water for horses or the like. We left the road and struck off toward the east, keeping in the woods wherever possible and making for a high hill we knew of just east of Sharpsburg. While making this wide detour we became aware that we were circling around the rear of a mighty blue-clad armed host. From the hill top we had a panoramic view of the area, a well cultivated countryside of prosperous farms and orchards, with patches of woodland interspersed. At the foot of the hill Antietam Creek ran north to south. On its west side the Confederate army was drawn up, girding its loins for the death grapple. Facing it on the east side was a vast Union force, each army deployed along about a four mile front, and until next day keeping respectful distances. The Union army appeared to be about double the strength of the Rebels, and at this we exulted. The Rebels were about to fight with their backs to the Potomac River, one bend of which we could see in the far distance. If defeated in the impending battle few of the Johnny Rebs could hope to escape capture. The knell of doom seemed about to sound for the Rebellion.

Evening drew near. Tired and hungry we made our way to some woods near the creek, supposing we were some distance beyond the left flank of the Union lines. We ate some bread and cheese we had and went to sleep under a low-branched tree.

We awoke at daybreak to the sound of artillery some distance to the northward, probably about three miles. This swelled to a deafening roar. With it came the crash of volleys of musketry. During the next fourteen hours there was little abatement of the volume of battle sounds. Not even at Gettysburg was this exceeded.

Now we became aware of masses of Union troops in the woods behind us. We made our way to the edge of the woods and there looked down a slope of cleared ground with a narrow level bottom along the creek. Below us a solid masonry three arch bridge spanned the stream. On the other side was a steep bluff fifteen feet high, wooded along the top. Rebel riflemen posted there were in a near-impregnable position in which ten men might well hold off a company. Half a mile northward on high ground near the village two Confederate batteries were in position with an unobstructed range of fire at both ends of the bridge. At this end of the lines an artillery duel continued throughout the morning during which two enemy caissons were blown up by direct hits. Not far from us were several Union officers, two wearing the stars of generals. Another heavily-built, barrel-chested man wore colonel's insignia. The generals were scanning the Rebel positions intently through binoculars, focusing them on the bridge, the riflemen posted above it, and in particular on the eight enemy artillery pieces near the village.

Then they engaged the colonel in earnest conversation during long minutes. All now walked back into the woods. Later we learned that the colonel was George Crook; the others were Generals Cox and Burnside. The latter's name was after that day to be given the bridge; as long as it endures it will be known as the Barnside Bridge.

Soon a half company of skirmishers ran down to the stream-side and cronched behind a low stone wall near the bridge head. We heard shouted commands and the first big column, Crook's brigade, got into motion, moving rapidly out of the woods, down the slope and into the roadway leading to the bridge. Immediately the ridge across the little stream erupted into continuing bursts of gun flashes and powder smoke. Within seconds the Rebel batteries began firing. The skirmishers behind the stone wall kept up a rapid fire at the Rebels on the bluff, while the Union artillery let go with everything in the effort to cover the brigade's charge. The air was filled with a tumult of sound, the thunderous roar of cannon, the whine of bullets, the bursting of shell's and rattle of musketry, and the shouts of battle-furious hosts. Clouds of dust stirred up by the feet of marching men pervaded the air, and over all hung a sulphurous canopy of gunpowder smoke. A Tennyson or a Thomas Campbell might describe in words such a scene of pandemonium—I cannot.

The roadway at the bridge narrowed to a width of fourteen feet, constricting the column of about 1900 men into a compact mass, eight men to the rank, upon which the enemy artillery and riflemen did deadly execution. Men began dropping to the ground from the moment the brigade emerged from the woods, some to lie motionless, others trying to crawl away from under the tread of their comrades. Yet the brigade moved steadily until the leading ranks neared the bridge. Then came a concentrated storm of leaden sleet that no human flesh and blood could endure. The closely-packed mass could not reply with its own fire; it reeled, halted, stood still a moment, men falling and dying. The desperate charge had failed. Crook drew his men back to the shelter of the woods.

Other attempts were made by other units to cross that bridge. They too were beaten off. At length from a third of a mile down stream were heard massive discharges of musketry. A whole division had forded the creek and were on the Rebel side of it. The Union artillery quickened its fire. Now we saw Colonel Crook with his brigade fording the stream a little way above the bridge. Near us the head of another big column issued from the woods and made for the bridge. This time the charges got over and effected lodgements. The division that had crossed at the lower ford fought its way to higher ground on the flank of the Confederate line. All the men in line now got combined into a battle line that slowly drove the stubbornly resisting Rebs toward the village. Supporting troops crossed the bridge unopposed.

At the outskirts of Sharpsburg a small division of Confederates which had marched all the way from Harper's Ferry during the day suddenly appeared on the Union left flank. Heartened by this reinforcement the Rebels rallied and in a furious counter attack forced the Union men back to a position near the bloodstained bridge. Here as nightfall came the battle ended, both armies exhausted after fourteen hours of deadly strife and appalling losses. The combined losses totalled more than 24,000 of wounded and dead.

All through the night George and I toiled as volunteer stretcher bearers, carrying Union and Confederate wounded alike to the dressing stations, the Union medical corpsmen being glad of our aid.

Four days later George Sterling and I went to Hagerstown and enlisted. In due time we were troopers in Company 1 of the First Maryland Volunteer Cavalry regiment. Subsequently our regiment participated in a total of 38 actions big and little, Gettysburg being one. Of our unit the historian of Western Maryland, Thomas Scharf, wrote: "It maintained a reputation for fidelity and bravery second to no other cavalry regiment."

I was once wounded during the operations around Petersburg in 1864, a bad wound too. I saw much of the war, but on the whole I would rather be just an observer

Take First Cutting Of Alfalfa When In Full Bud Stage

Make hay when the crop is at its highest feeding value and you can get the most yield, says Charles Ellington, University of Maryland, College of Agriculture, Extension agronomist.

Experimental results from four years work at the University show that for the first cutting of alfalfa, the best time to cut is at first bud, or full bud stage, cut at this stage, alfalfa will yield highest and have its highest feeding value. Full bud stage is the time when the plants are fully budded, and is just prior to opening bloom. This can easily be recognized when "just a bloom can be spotted here and there throughout the field," Ellington said.

If alfalfa is cut earlier than full bud, a decrease in yield will result, because the plants are not yet large enough or mature enough. If cutting is delayed beyond full bud stage, the plants will begin to shed lower leaves, and a decrease in yield can be expected by waiting until the alfalfa is in a blooming stage.

Average date for first cutting of alfalfa comes about the 20th of May in Central Maryland. This date may vary 7 days either way. On the Eastern Shore and in Southern Maryland date of first cutting will be earlier, and in the mountains it will be a good deal later, the specialist pointed out.

Clover or Timothy can also be cut earlier than has been the custom, in the past. Clover can be cut at an early heading to very early bloom stage. Timothy, orchards and brome grass, whether to be used for hay or ensilage, should be cut just as the head is emerging from the boot, Ellington said.

For later cuttings of alfalfa, such as the second, third and fourth cuttings, the crop should be cut at an early bloom stage. In the Maryland experiments, where the first cutting was made at full bud and later cuttings at one-tenth bloom, no decrease in yield or damage to the stand occurred, over the years the experiment was conducted, Ellington said.

Who Runs Our Bank?
We're always glad to answer that question. It gives us a chance to say again that our bank is operated by local businessmen.
We believe that to understand a community and its problems best, a banker and his directors should live at home. Participating in civic enterprises and knowing their neighbor enables them to employ the deposits of the bank wisely and profitably.
That's our idea of the way to do business.

She carried a cascade of white carnations centered by an orchid.

Janice Lee Heinbaugh, Columbus, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing light blue taffeta with overskirt of white spider net. Her hat was styled like that of the maid of honor. She carried a basket of pink roses.

Mr. Morris had as his best man his cousin, Ralph D. Crum. Ushers were Edward Heinbaugh, Columbus, brother of the bride, and Paul Beitler. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Heinbaugh wore a Regetta blue dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and rosebuds. Mrs. Morris wore navy blue with white accessories and had a corsage of white carnations and rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to Deep Creek Lake. They will make their home at 3623 Lotus Place, S. W., Canton.

Youth To Appear In Solo Piano Concert May 24

The Music Department of Potomac State College will present Jackie Fisher in a solo piano concert Sunday, May 24, at 4 p. m. D.S.T., in the Science Hall assembly room of the college at Keyser.

Fisher is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dodd Fisher of Mt. Storm and is a senior at Bayard High School where he will graduate as valedictorian of his class on May 25 at 8 p. m. E. S. T. This musician has been playing in public since he was four years of age, and he has been enrolled in the Music Department at Potomac State College since the age of six. He is organist in the Mt. Storm Methodist church where he often plays his own compositions as preludes and offertories. Jackie became church pianist when eight years of age, and he also started playing a slide trombone at the same time. During the past several years he was appeared as soloist in many communities in the tri-state area, as well as in Washington, D. C. Last January he and his professor, Leonard G. Withers, made two appearances in a two-piano concert at the college before a capacity crowd. They also appeared as guest artists with the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra at its winter concert in February.

Fisher plans to enter college this fall to major in mathematics and minor in music.

Report Boys' Camp Back in Good Order

The Department of Welfare apparently has taken steps to straighten out the situation at the state forestry camp at New Germany.

Ray Manella, chief of the division, said in Baltimore that David Curran, field supervisor, had been assigned to investigate reports of brutality and runaways from the three forestry camps for boys in Western Maryland.

Curran said that the population at the New Germany camp had been reduced and that he has ordered the staff doubled to insure additional supervision. Curran said the camp was back to normal and that the three "ring leaders" have been transferred to the Maryland Training School for Boys in Baltimore.

The case developed last week when three youths who had walked away from the New Germany camp informed authorities they had been "beaten" by older youths at the camp. Two of the boys were transferred from the Frostburg jail to another camp and the third boy was sent back to New Germany on his own request.

Curran said he interviewed all 16 boys at the camp. He said the boys were on a recreation trip in a truck when they started a "rough house." The field supervisor said he was informed the rough-housing got out of hand, and two of the boys were "pushed around in good clean fun."

Manella said in Baltimore, "We are quite concerned about the runaways and reported assault. If the trouble is of serious nature, we will even prosecute the boys. Eleven boys had run away from the area within one week. Nine were picked up and two were listed as still at large. The camps at New Germany, Lonaconing and Green Ridge are for youths 16 years and older, who are selected on an "honor basis" from the Maryland Training School for Boys and Boys Village. The camps have a total bed capacity of 80.

The youths, Manella said, are in some cases recommended by judges for assignment to the camps to complete their rehabilitation and speed their discharge from custody. There are no guards at the camps and the grounds are not enclosed.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend service regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs its moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When does a baby start to think?

Nobody knows, exactly. But thoughts do come by association. Baby eagerly responds to the sight of a bottle because experience has proven that the bottle offers both satisfaction and comfort.

Because baby does learn by association, it is important that parents take care to enlarge their childrens' horizons as they grow. A very small child will respond to a simple prayer. And a child of three will find great enjoyment in attending Church School geared for youngsters of that age.

Religious instruction and guidance is not for the mature only—it is needed regularly by everyone. The spiritual life of your child needs constant cultivation, just as the mind needs day by day development and the physical body needs exercise and training.

Pleasures of Home Gardening Are Cited

One of the pleasures of home ownership is to have a garden where you can grow flowers or fruit to share with friends and neighbors according to your own personal [illegible]

Sometime when you're planning or [illegible] give a little thought to storing vegetables for next winter, or year 'round use. University of Maryland Extension Service Leaflet 15, "Vegetable Variety Recommendations for 1959," lists the varieties that are best for home freezing. You can get a copy of this leaflet from your county agent.

It's time now to start planting beans, sweet corn, cucumbers, squash, melons and pumpkins he advised. And you might like to try okra this year. It's a little different from the usual garden produce, and can be prepared for the table in a wide variety of ways.

Stagger Planting Dates

When transplanting tomatoes, peppers, sweet potatoes or egg plants, be sure to "harden" the plants before transferring them to the garden. Because they're grown in hothouses or hotbeds they need to be toughened up before they're put on their own. Best way to do this is to keep the temperature low, hold back on the water, and let them gradually become accustomed to outdoor conditions.

One of the tricks wise gardeners use is to stagger planting dates so they'll have a steady flow of table-fresh vegetables. Even if you can or freeze them, it'll spread out the work load if you stagger the planting dates.

Another useful idea is to plant "succession crops". This is just another way of staggering planting dates, not only to assure a steady supply of vegetables, but also to keep your garden space working for you. Quick growing plants such as leaf lettuce and radishes, beets or carrots can be seeded early, harvested, and the same ground used later for vegetable plantings.

A Nation Splits

Dr. Foreman

FEW MEN have made so little out of so much, as the feckless kinglet named Rehoboam. He had everything to begin with: he came from the greatest family in his nation, he had wealth and power, he was the logical man for the throne. But he booted his own kingdom away with one single speech. It was one of the most foolish speeches on record anywhere. It would seem almost like a work of genius to make so many bloopers in a one-sentence address.

But so it was. There stands Rehoboam, the leader who did not know how to lead; the leader deluded, the leader forsaken. And there went the kingdom which David had shed so much blood to build, the kingdom over which Solomon had reigned in all his glory—gone, gone for good. It was split once for all. It never grew together again. It is a perfect example of how bad leadership can split what should have been united. Wherever you find a split church, a split nation, you can count on it, some bad leadership is at the bottom of it.

Why the Prince Learned Nothing

One reason for Rehoboam's dismal failure was that he asked the right questions of the wrong people. Jeroboam, who had a right to ask questions, had asked one that stumped poor Rehoboam the very first thing. He does not seem to have thought about it before: What about taxes? The burden of taxation had been heavy in Solomon's time. What was to be his son's policy? Rehoboam asked the men of experience, and he didn't like their answer. So he tried the men of no experience, and he got just the kind of twaddle he liked to hear. How can a man be so wrong? And yet, isn't it true today that there are would-be leaders, sometimes with considerable following, who learn nothing from experience? A nation which learns nothing from history, which seems to take advice from wiser men, who listens to the poorest advice rather than the best, who hears only what he wants to hear—such nations are not unknown in the life of church and nation.

Government for Whom?

Another mistake Rehoboam made was to forget why government exists. He thought of it as an arrangement for his own benefit. This is not a nation that got buried with Rehoboam. The nation outlived him by many centuries and is still with us. There are politicians in our country who may belong to one party or another, what the party stands for makes little difference with them, what they are interested in is winning elections so as to get political jobs. Government, in their eyes, is for the benefit of the politician, the man in the government job. The truth is, that when government really is only for the officeholder's benefit, it is time for a revolution. The real aim of good government is the benefit of the people. If the people are benefited, then the government is good; otherwise not. The people of Israel had had it hard in Solomon's time. "My father [Solomon] chastised you with whips," said Rehoboam. In other words, "You took a beating." Rehoboam thought that was a good thing. But the people didn't.

Where Does Power Come From?

It did not occur to Rehoboam (who was about 40 years old at this time and had had time to learn, but never did) that if he was to be king at all he would have to be elected. Saul and David and Solomon had all been elected by the people. Our American idea of government with the consent of the governed isn't the whole idea. Government by the people, by their will and choice, is not merely an American idea. It goes back to the ancient Hebrews. You can find it in Deuteronomy 17 already. But poor stupid Rehoboam didn't discover this till too late. He thought if he shook his sword and shouted, it would be enough. It would have been, if power comes from the top down. It is not, in a country where the power is in the people. Power comes first of all from God. But he knows (and we find out soon enough) how dangerous power is when one man tries to steal it all.

Peace Patrol For Latin America—The recent Panama invasion is putting steam behind a proposal in the Senate for an inter-American peace patrol, made up of volunteers from the 21 American countries. It is suggested that some of the proposed 66 million dollars for the United States military-aid program in Latin America be diverted to pay the cost of such a patrol.

Action On Senate Floor—The Senate last week passed bills authorizing the construction of certain modern naval vessels; permitting cooperative milk producers to bargain with purchasers singly or in groups; extending and increasing the special milk program for school children. The Senate also passed resolutions favoring a NATO Parliamentary Conference to be held in Washington this year, and an international agreement to suspend nuclear weapons tests. The Senate took up for consideration a bill relating to reserves required by Federal Reserve bills and a bill to safeguard against certain bank mergers, both having been reported by our Committee on Banking and Currency.

The Senate voted to tie up military funds unless the order to reduce the Army from 900,000 to 870,000 is revoked. The President should win this point; Congress has traditionally respected the right of the Commander-in-Chief to run the armed forces.

Parliamentary Game On RR Retirement—The House of Representatives "reconsidered" its action in passing the Senate's railroad retirement bill (S.226), amended its own bill (H. R. 5610), passed it, and sent it to the Senate. This was merely a parliamentary move to conform to the Constitution, which provides that all tax measures shall originate in the House. The Senate speedily passed the House bill without amendment and sent it to the President for signature.

Presidential Nominations—The President sent to the Senate the nominations of William B. Franke to be Secretary of the Navy, Fred A. Bantz to be Under Secretary of the Navy, and C. Douglas Dillon to be Under Secretary of State.

The Senate, by 70 yeas to 17 nays, confirmed the President's nomination of Potter Stewart to be an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

Senate Dilly-Dallies On Appointments—The Majority leadership in the Senate is responsible for an unwarranted lag in confirmation of many Presidential appointments, chief of which is that of Lewis Strauss whom the President selected for his Cabinet—in the post of Secretary of Commerce. The Majority is holding up about 75 appointments by the President, over 40 of which are for major offices. Thousands of appointments to postmasterships are pending. It seems apparent that the stalling is for the purpose of embarrassing the Administration politically.

"Foreign Aid" Gets Aid—Former President Truman appeared before a Congressional committee to advise that it would be "playing with dynamite" if it should cut President Eisenhower's foreign aid request. I hold to my position that so-called foreign aid is, in fact, self-aid. Foreign aid gives us much far our money.

Labor Comes A-Calling—Officers and members of Maryland's AFL-CIO called at my office in the Senate Office Building to urge me to support the increase in the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour. Heading this group was State President Strong. I listened to, and took under consideration, their arguments.

Health Centers Get Federal Money—The Surgeon General tells me that two Maryland health projects have been approved for Federal awards. The Druid Health Center, to cost a total of $1,113,671, is to receive Federal funds in the amount of $206,087. The Aged Women's and Men's Nursing Home in Towson, Maryland, to cost a total of $1,336,801, will receive $49,051 of Federal funds.

Probes Into Outer Space—Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the Space agency, appearing before a Congressional committee, left no doubt of the importance being given the man-in-space program by requesting nearly half-a-billion dollars of spending authority for fiscal 1960.

Man's first ascent into space will not be in one spectacular leap into an Earth orbit. It will be preceded by what Space agency scientists describe as suborbital fights. These will give the seven astronauts selected as the first space pioneers a chance to warm up to their jobs. As now planned, they will be given test flights in capsules fired about 25 miles high for a distance of perhaps 100 miles. Later will come the around-the-world-in-90-minutes trips at a height of about 100 miles.

We have postponed important space shots aimed at Venus. The probes at the cloud-shrouded planet had been set for June, but we will not be quite ready. We now will have to wait 18 months because Venus will swing away from Earth and will not be in a good position again until mid-January, 1961. One of the probes is to Senate cloakroom two two .... be an attempt to put a satellite in orbit around the sister planet.

Space HDQTS. Gets Name—The Government's space headquarters at Greenbelt, Maryland, will be named Goddard Space Flight Center in commemoration of Robert H. Goddard, American pioneer in rocket research. The Maryland center will perform basic space research and will be responsible for the development of satellites, space probes, space vehicles, tracking, communications, and data reduction systems. It will be the command control center for all space fight operations.

Aberdeen, Maryland, Scientists Score—Scientists at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds have scored an important breakthrough: they have found a way to control and aim the energy released by the explosion of an atom or hyrogen bomb in a jet of intense heat that could destroy incoming enemy missiles or space ships.

In The Year 2000'—What will it be like in the year 2000? For one thing, the world's population will be almost 150 per cent above today's level, according to expert sociologists. Latin America will gain the most—265 per cent. The Soviet Union's increase will be 109 per cent—to 379 million; the United States, 85 per cent—to 312 million.

In the year 2000, according to experts, mother will buy a week's supply of food in 21 prepackaged cartons, selected from 160 available menus. In the kitchen, the proper prepackaged carton will be conveyed from the freezer to the electronic cooking station automatically. Mother won't have to lift a finger. The man of the house will get to the office in one of two vehicles: a car conducted electronically along a highway in which speed is controlled automatically, or a vertical-take-off-and-landing carplane automatically controlled in prescribed low-altitude air channels.

By DICK CASTLOW

Attendance at Teen Age Club has been very poor in comparison to previous weeks. I think that now the teenagers are losing interest in their club since the lake has opened for another hectic season. There are still a few of the younger kids and very few of the older ones who still attend Teen Age Club.

One of the few is Sally Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gray of Oakland. Sally has faithfully attended Teen Age Club since April of 1957, missing only while not in town. Sally's favorite type of music is just plain rock'n roll. And like so very many others Sally is a Fabian Fan. Her favorite record at the present is "Turn Me Loose" by the fabulous Fabian. Sally has a brother Stuart who also attends Teen Age Club. The Gray family resides at 69 Alder street in Oakland.

During this past week I had the pleasure of meeting Roy Hamilton who has come out with such recordings as "Ebb Tide" and "You'll Never Walk Alone.' Roy is six feet-two, weighing a hundred and eighty-five pounds. Before embarking upon a musical career Roy was a prize fighter. He had eight fights, winning six. When I asked Roy why he stopped fighting he replied, "That ring was getting pretty small." I guess that was a pretty clear answer. Roy was appearing at the Casino Royal in Washington, this past week. Roy said that the mapority of his audiences during the past week were high school students on their senior class trips. I asked him if they were quiet during his performances, he said they were even more quiet and a much more appreciative audience than the usual night club crowd. I personally think that this itself proves that teenagers appreciate other types of music than rock'n roll.

Want to know a little bit about Fleetwoods? Well, I'll start with their ages, they are all eighteen years of age, the group consists of two girls and one really lucky boy. They picked their name out of a telephone directory, it was their hometown exchange in Olympia, Washington.

They wrote their hit song "Come Softly To Me" in a few hours and decided to start their own recording label and put it on the market. It made it as I need not remind you.

Well, see you all next week, same time and same paper.

Artist's Sketch of New Farm Bureau Building at Randallstown, Maryland

NEW FARM BUREAU HOME—Ground has been broken, the foundation is completed, and work is well underway on the new Maryland Farm Bureau home being constructed at Randallstown. The 46'x56' 2-story brick building, being erected on a 150'x190' plot of ground, will be ready for occupancy in August. In addition to the Farm Bureau offices and a 30'x30' conference room for directors' meetings, conference gatherings, etc., the building will also contain 6 extra offices to be rented. Already on the property is a three-apartment residence. Much interest has been shown by County Farm Bureaus, which are making contributions to help finance the project.

"Thanks for calling"

How often people use those words at the end of a telephone call!

Perhaps they mean "thanks for the good news." Or "thanks for this useful information." Or "thanks for the order."

Sometimes they mean "thanks for thinking of me. Thanks for cheering me up."

Whatever the meaning may be, people do appreciate your calls and you appreciate theirs.

"Thanks for calling" is a constant reminder of how much usefulness and value and friendship your telephone gives you. It's one of life's biggest bargains.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

A Phenomenon To Behold

One of the more amazing phenomenon of present-day life is the prominence given the utterances of the Americans for Democratic Action, sometimes known as the ADA, or other organizations of similar or contrary purpose enjoy the same degree of attention—a condition which prompted a nationally syndicated columnist the other day to say that the ADA's influence has been "vastly overrated." By what process, then, do the pronouncements of these so-called "liberals" germinate and attract the national spotlight! By what process have their falsetto declarations been able to move to the front pages of the daily press!

Since 1947, the ADA, an outgrowth of the Union for Democratic Action, has diligently attempted to influence and bend public opinion to the left-wing view-point. It has been regularly suppressed in the election of "liberal" candidates and the promotion of left-wing issues. The words "liberals" and "democracy" are conspicuously displayed in ADA literature, with the words "control" and "policy" following close behind. Both the aim and character of the ADA have always been shrouded in double talk, but its enchantment for socialistic schemes is clear.

Among other things, the ADA has attacked the FBI . . . opposed the Subversive ontrol Act of 1950 . . . defended certain Communist ideas. . .opposed the rebuilding of Germany. . .advocated the admission of Red China to the United Nations . . . advocated "world government with powers adequate to prevent war". . .pushed for compulsory union membership and repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. . . advocated Federal price, wage and rent controls and compulsory health insurance. . .recommended Executive power "to modify rates of taxes and expenditures to meet changing conditions." Obviously, the ADA favors big spending programs, government controls and world government.

Last week, this aggregation of self-anointed saints of liberalism ran true to form and at their annual convention suggested that monetary inflation does not really exist and that our Government has been insensitive to the problems of unemployment. This action preceded by one day an Administration report indicating that some 735,000 reasons were returned to gainful employment in April. If inflation has indeed perished, let these spurious liberals explain the decreased purchasing power of the dollar to the American families who daily strive "to make ends meet."

To succumb to the hocus-pocus of the ADA is to return to the days of the discredited New and Fair Deals. Incredibly, there are still those in high places who succumb.

Brown-Kirby Nuptials Performed In Maine

How To Be A Real Believer

P. G. BRYAN BLAIR, pastor
Mt. Lake Park Ev. U.B. Church

Mark 9:24 "Lord, I Believe; help thou mine unbelief."

Could you cry or become angry just because you willed it so on the moment? "Why that's a foolish question," you say. "I couldn't cry or become angry without a reason." That's all true but what we do not so readily admit is that there are countless times when we promise ourselves that we won't let ourselves fear in times of stress and tragedy. "We will believe in God and trust it all to him" we tell ourselves. Yet, in spite of all our self-will we fret and worry and it is difficult to get a firm grip on true Christian faith. We are told in the Bible to "believe and thou shalt be saved."

The same Bible tells us that even the "Devils believe and tremble." Hardly anyone would believe that the devils will be saved so therefore "saving faith" must be something deeper than the mere words suggest at their face value. I like to believe that it means salvation in every area of life. Not just salvation through the intellect or reasoning. Not just an emotional experience, but believing to the extent that we are motivated in every area of life to be a transformed individual. The Bible says "Come, let us reason together" and again "His Spirit beareth witness with our spirits." These statements point up the fact that Jesus Christ is interested in every facet of our lives.

As to the value of such a faith almost any medical doctor will verify the fact that when a patient has faith that he can get well this spiritual quality has a direct bearing on his physical ability to recover.

The main hindrance to most people's having a belief or faith in Christ that makes "Old things pass away and all things become new" is simply that they will not turn over all the "old things" to the One that is able to "make all things new." One man is converted on the basis of reasoning alone. A little later it seems that 'one little sin won't hurt' and this individual becomes a mock to Christianity. Another is converted on the emotional basis alone and while his joy is great at the beginning he doesn't have a basis of sound Biblical reasoning for it so when he smashes his thumb with a hammer a short while later his emotions tell him the proper thing to do is "let fly" with some adjectives that couldn't properly be turned into printers ink. In closing there are three things that will put us on the road to helping our "unbelief." (1) Believe the premises that are in the Bible. When we are 'picking" the ones we want and rejecting others we run the risk of calling God a liar. (2) Look for the fulfillment of these promises in the lives of others. Nothing has encouraged me as much as meeting the individual, though facing death, that could say with real faith in Christ, "I'm in His care, everything will be all right even though I may trade this world for another." (3) Believe that God is truly no respecter of persons. If he will answer prayer for someone else believe that he will do the same for you provided you have met the conditions as outlined in His Word. Luke stated they are found in the "great commandment—"To love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength—Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Certainly these encompass all areas of life.

Activity Increasing At Deep Creek Lake; Cite Fishing Success

Fishing pressure and boating activities have been increasing during the past few weeks on Deep Creek Lake, according to a report issued by Cecil Edwards, fish culturist assistant for the Game and Inland Fish commission.

He said fishermen interviewed had reported nice catches of yellow Perch, some as long as 13 inches, brown bullheads, bluegills, rainbow trout and some golden shiners. He said most of the trout averaged from nine to thirteen inches and had been caught near the breast of the dam and at Meadow Mountain bridge.

Leo Friend, not the district game warden, landed a 26½ inch trout near the dam. Andy Newman hooked a 17½ inch rainbow south of the Deep Creek bridge.

Through efforts of Senator B. I. Gonder two thousand adult rainbow trout were obtained from the Federal Fish and Wildlife service and were stocked in the lake the latter part of April.

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish commission also stocked several hundred adult eastern chain pickerel and great northern pike during March and April. The commission also planted approximately one million northern pike eggs, one million walleye eggs and three hundred thousand walleye fry.

To further study habits and movements of the fish population of the lake, many fish have been trapped and tagged with a metal jaw tag. Fishermen recovering any of these fish are being asked to contact a game warden, the creel census man, Johnny's Bait House, or the Information Booth, giving tag number, date and location where fish was caught.

Edwards said several fishermen had already reported catching a few of these tagged fish. One white sucker, tagged in Cherry Creek cove was caught in Deep Creek cove at upper end of the lake. A yellow perch, tagged in Hoop Pole cove April 1 was caught at Point View Inn on May 13, giving some idea of the distance the fish travel. Edwards pointed out that a greater number of tag recoveries would give a better idea of fish movement.

The trapping and tagging program is still in progress and boaters and fishermen were being asked not to disturb or remove traps placed in the lake for this purpose.

Maryland Declared Modified Certified Brucellosis Free

Maryland has been declared a "modified certified Brucellosis free State," considered by state farm leaders to be a major stone of economics as well as public health significance to the people of Maryland.

Dr. M. R. Clarkson, Deputy Administrator of Agricultural Research Service, USDA, presented a certificate designating Maryland as Brucellosis free as of April 22, 1959. The document, signed by Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Benson, was presented to Dr. Elkins.

It was pointed out that the designation of Maryland as modified certified Brucellosis free, "marks the culmination of an intensive program and represents a major step in the elimination of the disease from cattle herds of the state."

Brucellosis, formerly known as Bang's disease or contagious abortion, was the most costly of the communicable diseases affecting cattle. Primary losses due to this infection are reduced milk production and calf crop, as well as the cost of replacing the diseased animals. In man the disease is known as undulant fever. It has become known primarily as an occupational disease since it is contracted most frequently by persons working with infected animals.

Efforts to control the disease in Maryland were started in the late 1920's. Since then, gradual progress was made in bringing the disease under control. In 1954, the State Board of Agriculture adopted an emergency regulation to accelerate eradication of the disease in cattle to coincide with the accelerated Federal Program initiated in 1953.

To receive a modified certified Brucellosis free status within a State, it is necessary that there be less than one percent of the cattle reacting to the test and be free of the disease for a period of 24 consecutive months. Maryland in the period between 1958 and April 30 of this year has reduced the percentage of herds with reactors well below the 5 percent maximum.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON
by

"Judge, I'm Guilty"

A few weeks ago a man charged with breaking into a bank, said that he was in perfect health when he committed the crime, that he did not suffer from blackouts or dementia-praicox and was not in need of psychiatric treatments. "I just did it for the money" was the reason given. In this day and age we have some penologists who seek to excuse crime on the basis that it arises from mental ill health instead of a sinful heart.. Once in a while we find a person who is willing to admit that he is a sinner. It's a very humbling experience for man to come to the place where he admits before God that God's Word is true when it says, "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." That this statement is true of everyone is hard for certain people to understand. One need not commit great crimes to be a criminal - - one offense is enough. So James 2:10 says, "Whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all." One of the first steps in repentance which proceeds faith is a consciousness of being a sinner. When you see yourself a sinner, then you will be able to see that you need a Saviour.

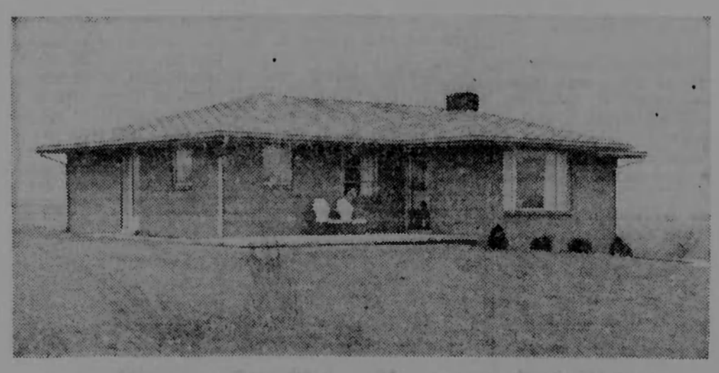
What did it cost to HEAT this home ELECTRICALLY for a full year?



(Residence of Otto Klakos, New Cumberland, W. Va.)

Only $225.42 for the year
Or $18.80 as budgeted monthly

The Otto Klakos family were so well pleased with the comfort, convenience, and economy of their electric heat that they enthusiastically passed the word along to several of their relatives.

Today — a son, a sister-in-law, and a brother-in-law have built new homes — all heated electrically. Could you think of a better recommendation?

You, too, can benefit from the sunshine-clean heat of this only truly modern method of house heating. Call our Heating Specialist for more details . . . or working specifications for heating the home you plan. No obligation, of course.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

I read your recent editorial concerning unemployment and the high cost of living. You, like I, believe in Labor Unions. Most Governments, a lot of trading and strategy, I believe conditions show at most of the fault lies elsewhere.

I do not bring to you Union, and we all know Unions are in no way perfect, but I have come to the conclusion that they are at least as honest as Industry and the Retail Business Condition brought about by the Latter, namely the continual slow rise in price of everything the worker has to buy this being in addition to the big jump that occurs whenever he does receive a wage increase at least partly justify the Union in its demand for higher wages.

Naturally, the raise the Union gets for its workers doesn't help the unemployment situation, or lower the cost of living. But when the workers find that their present wages just will not pay their living expenses, there are only a couple alternatives the Union can take to help solve the problem, at least temporarily. No matter which decision it makes, the continual rise in the cost of living goes on just the same, thus proving to me that the Union is not responsible for the unemployment problem, nor the increased wages it demands, if it decides to strike for more money, for the higher cost of living.

Take the two different decisions the Union can make when the workers express their need of increased pay to make ends meet. It can just let things ride as they are, and seek no raise. According to the ones who believe the hike in wages is the chief cause of the high prices they pay for things, this should really help solve the whole problem. But notice the course it takes. The workers receive no extra money to purchase things with, he buys less and less (unless he goes into debt—and if he does, with no increase in income, and the price of things going ever upward in spite of no extra labor costs, he will probably never pay off.) goods quit moving, Industry is forced to lay more people off, for there is no need to produce goods that cannot be sold, and the whole thing snowballs into a recession, or depression. That's the end of the road if it makes the decision of not asking for more money. But here is the big thing—the continual rise in prices goes on just the same.

If it takes the other road and decides the best thing is to demand higher wages, there may be a boost in purchasing power for a short time, and things look a little brighter for everyone. But, the small increase in wages the worker received seemed to be the cause of things jumping way up soon after his raise, entirely out of proportion to the increase, plus the regular continual rise, and his take-home pay will buy no more probably much less, than it would when he had to ask for the last raise. That's the end of the second road, or decision and the end results are exactly the same as the first one—the worker can buy less, goods quit moving, people are laid off, and there is still a recession—unemployment, and high living cost.

Since no matter what the Union does about the problem doesn't solve things, part of the solution must lie elsewhere—between the producer and the consumer. If you have ever studied a wholesale book listing the retail prices of the same items, you will know what a big difference there is between the two, as high as 200% on some articles. Since the workers wage and all production costs are included in the wholesale price, surely someone else must be partly responsible for the high price the consumer has to pay for these things.

Retail profits are excessive. Sell your car to a dealer and then investigate and find the man who bought it from him. Did the dealer make a fair profit (he should be expected to make some profit of course) or did he really make a haul, so to speak? Check the price the farmer receives for his meat at the stockyards. Make a graph of his price fluctuations during the year. Keep another one of the prices you pay for meat at the store. Does it move up and down accordingly, or are the changes but a small ripple, compared with that of the farmer. Try jotting down what you pay for several different articles over a period of time. The rise in price of some articles may surprise you, and the thing is this—many of the workers who produced these items did not get even a slight pay increase.

There are naturally various factors entering into the matter which this letter could not possibly cover. The Union is not without guilt, and I am not trying to relieve it of all responsibility. It definitely has a responsibility to society, but so do the Retailer and Industry in general, and I don't believe they are living up to their part of it any better than the Union. Therefore, they should all be blamed, instead of placing the whole blame on the Union alone.

Sibre B. Skipper

Dear Sir:

"Brevity is the soul of wit." Galileo was a Roman magistrate, while Galileo was the scientist who suffered religious persecution in a dark age of ignorance.

Cardinal Mindzenty suffered anti-religious persecution in an enlightened age of intelligence. Russia's Stalin murdered millions and Germany's Hitler multi-millions in this modern age of reason. Both were prosecutors but anti-religion.

Science had become increasingly materialistic in concept until Mrs. Eddy's Christian Science movement turned the tide. Today many of the world's great scientists are devout Christians. The Christian Moody Science Laboratories are among the greatest in the world.

Why is this so? Science is truth. Christ said, "ye shall know the truth." Both science and religion teach the truth but there are liars in every school of thought. Through dusty window, the neighbors wash looks yellow, and through the red glasses of the Communists, everything is red.

Now as to Easter. I find no mention of it in any old testament, but in some of the older Bibles, that is earlier translations, it is found. The exact date of the Resurrection is unknown, hence the movable holiday based on seasonal changes.

I am still satisfied with Webster's definition of "holy," and the solar orb does not shed righteousness. The word "son" is not in the text, and is in no way connected. Real symbolism is not to be confused with "silly-ism."

Christ and the apostles had all been circumcised, and so had Paul. But, "no uncircumcised person shall eat of it." Their circumcision had taken place before the beginning of the Church. The Church was to move forward. "He that putteth his hand to the plow, and looketh backward is not fit for the Kingdom of God." At the last supper he said: "do all in remembrance of me," (no longer in remembrance of the night in Egypt.)

Paul taught that love is greater than law. God is greater than Jewish ritual. Circumcision, diet, etc. The Jewish family referred to, wisely recognized that same principle. And so we press on, conquering and to conquer.

Yours Truly,
Ernest G. Gnegy

Grantsville Wins Over Wellersburg

Dave Richards tossed a two-hitter and struck out 20 batsmen a season high, in pitching the Grantsville Sluggers to a 6-1 decision over Wellersburg Sunday in a Pen-Mar Baseball league game at Grantsville.

Richards, who struck out 17 but lost a 1-0 verdict to Barrelville on Saturday, May 9, fanned the side in the third, fourth and fifth innings of Sunday's game, issued only three walks and had a no-hitter going until the seventh when Witt singled.

The other safety was a two-bagger in the eighth inning. Wellersburg scored its only run in the ninth with a base on balls, a stolen base and passed ball. The victory tied the Sluggers with Barrelville and Confluence for third place.

Grantsville collected ten hits, Joe Taylor sparking the attack with a double and two singles. Ronald Young smacked a two-bagger and Tucker Cain got two singles.

A million dollar grocery warehouse fire in Baltimore was admittedly set by a 10-year-old Negro boy.

The Shooting Down of Satellites

On the front pages of The Baltimore Sun in recent days there has appeared an interesting series of articles by the distinguished correspondent, Mark S. Watson, concerning the military problems which parallel the development of space satellites, guided weapons and ballistic missiles. With his usual competence and brilliance, Mr. Watson presents a clear and thorough analysis of this startling topic. It is deserving of wide attention.

Mr. Watson's commentary gives credence to the urging of Army Chief of Staff, General Maxwell D. Taylor, who said in late 1957 that our Government must develop an anti-missile missile "with nuclear and thermo-nuclear warheads to the point where it can track down and destroy Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles." Nearly one year later, on October 13, 1958 NEWSWEEK magazine alluded to the "launching of a maneuverable satellite" which could be the "forerunner of a satellite-killer weapon to knock enemy satellites out of the skies." Two weeks later, the same magazine pointed to a closely-held secret that Army missile experts at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, had proposed "trying to shoot" Russia's first sputnik "out of space" but that "Washington had vetoed the idea." Almost simultaneously, The Wall Street Journal observed that "military space men ponder ways to destroy enemy earth satellites, (and) protect U. S. "moons" in case of war."

About the same time, Major General John B. Medaris, the Chief of Redstone Arsenal, phrased the need for a satellite interceptor in this way: "We dare not restrict our defensive capabilities to conventional forms of warfare when there is ample evidence that space technology can introduce radical innovations. We must be ready to cope with hostile action in or from space including surface-to-surface missiles. . .military satellites, interplanetary ballistic missiles and enemy space defense weapons systems." Major General B. A. Schriever told the Congress as recently as two weeks ago that the Air Force was working on a weapon system that "involves actually the shooting down of satellites."

In reading Mr. Watson's excellent treatise on "how to stop a bullet with another bullet" and reflecting upon the mounting evidences that "the shooting down of satellites" is not beyond the pale of technological achievement, I could not help but wonder where were the taunting cartoons and the disparaging editorials which the Baltimore Sunpapers heaped on me when I advocated just such a proposal in November of 1957. With no malice toward these newspapers and their policy of ridiculing, belittling or ignoring most that I say or do, I suggest that they now might want "to do one right."

Feed The Dairy Herd In The Summer

As pastures continue to mature, it will be necessary to consider making some changes in the feeding to maintain production, says J. R. Schabinger, Extension dairyman, University of Maryland, College of Agriculture.

It is a good practice to always supplement pasture with other forage such as hay or silage for dairy cows. To maintain a high nutrient intake in dairy cows on pasture, they should be able to graze for a short period and get their fill of grass. If they can then go to a shady area where cool water is available, they will continue to eat other forages such as hay or silages, Schabinger said.

Several ways of supplementing pastures are used satisfactorily. The primary object is to maintain the level of production. If it drops, chances are that the production will not be brought back again. There are three ways of increasing forage intake while pasturing: feed hay while cows are on pasture, feed silage while cows are on pasture, and feed additional green chopped grass. Go ahead and make silage or hay from tall growing pastures before it gets too old, Schabinger urged.

It is possible to change cows from pasture to dry lot feeding without loss in production, when cows in dry lot have access to all palatable young forage, they will eat. By palatable, Schabinger defined, the forage should be freshly cut at least twice a day.

WEEKLY SERMON

My Record

In the recent election campaign one of the politicians appeared on TV in a political advertisement and said "I stand on my RECORD!" I suppose every one of us like to think that our record in this life is such that we do not have to worry about standing in Judgment on the final day. An honest review of our record ought to convince us that we stand in need of a Saviour. Suppose you committed but one sin a day. (Surely when we consider that we can sin in thought, word and deed, this is indeed a small minimum). One would commit 365 sins a year, in 10 years he would commit 3650 sins. If one began to count his sins at age 12 and died at age 65 he would have committed nearly 20,000 sins. Tell me, what chance of acquittal would anyone have in the Courts of our land with 20,000 charges against him? God has plainly said that, "Sinners shall not stand in the Judgment" and "He will not acquit the wicked." Forgiveness of all sins are offered through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Your record will be wiped clean and there will be nothing to condemn. What a blessed relief from our sins is promised through the Gospel of Christ.

Senate Cloakroom

United States Senator from Maryland

Much Ado About Fall-Out—Much has been said and written about the "dangers of radioactive fall-out" from nuclear tests. A Senate committee has taken up a bill designed "to vest responsibility in the Public Health Service for protecting the public from radiation."

Civilian scientists, advisers to the Atomic Energy Commission, have made a study and report this conclusion: "The amount of total body external radiation resulting from fall-out to date, together with future fall-out from previous weapon tests, is less than 5 per cent of the estimated average radiation exposure of the American public to X-ray for medical purposes." Human beings have lived for generations in parts of the world having 100 times the average amount of radiation the United States gets from fall-out. The amount of radioactive fall-out found in food and water is "less of a hazard than the amount of radium normally present" in drinking water used for decades in some parts of the United States, the scientists reported.

The Big-4 Conference On Berlin—Here we go again! Another of these East-West affairs could be good. Yet we face the sobering fact that in the past these functions have proved disappointing. So, what are we in for this time? Is this to be just another whirl on the familliar merry-go-round? Why should we indulge in another potentially futile exercise?

Well, someday, at some session such as the one now taking place, a leaf of history is going to be turned. And, for all we know, it could happen here. Be it a balmy spring afternoon or some turbulent winter's night, a Frenchman or a Briton, an American, or a Soviet Communist, is going to put forward or accept the one rightful idea that will commence to unsnarl this massive, worrisome log jam.

So it is good that we are having another run-through. It may prove futile. Then again, it may not be so hopeless as it seems. Anyhow, here we go!

Maryland Parks and Parkways—This past week I appeared before the Senate Appropriations Committee twice—first, to support an appropriation for the Federal government's share in stream-valley park land acquisition in Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, and, second, to support an appropriation for the Federal share of the cost of building the Prince Georges segment of the George Washington Memorial Parkway. I called attention to the fact that the Federal government committed itself long ago to both projects and that Maryland had proceeded with its planning in good faith. I expressed the opinion that someday Congress would make good on the Federal government's commitment, and I asked: 'Will the taxpayers damn this Congress for passing up the opportunity to complete these necessary projects now when the cost is low?"

Holidays For Federal Employees—On its way to the Senate from the House of Representatives is a bill giving Federal workers Friday off whenever a legal holiday falls on Saturday. This seems fair. It is a provision already made by many private companies.

Staggering Cost Of Farm Price Support—The President, in a special message to Congress on Wednesday, took to task the Majority In the Congress for its failure to deal with his recommendation for corrective legislation to deliver us from the mounting failures of the mandatory farm price support program, "with its staggering cost to increasingly frustrated and impatient taxpayers."

Other Senate Items—On Tuesday members of the Senate marched over to the House Chamber to meet in joint session to receive King Baudouin of the Belgians.

The Senate passed our committee bill relating to reserves required by Federal Reserve banks, and took up our bill providing safeguards against bank mergers. The Committee on Banking and Currency continued its study of mortgage credit.

Our Senate District Committee received a report from Chief Murray of the Metropolitan Police regarding D. C. crime. We also worked on legislation having to do with taxation on certain real property.

Our Committee on Armed Services completed its work on the military construction bill.

Military Preparedness — Air Force missile experts have designed a rocket train from which the upcoming solid-fuel Minuteman ICBM could be fired. The launch-car has a hinged cover through which the missile would be raised for firing. Other cars would carry control equipment, and house the crew.

The Air Force's intercontinental ballistic missile, Titan, passed its fourth test, the toughest so far. Seventy miles above the Atlantic, tiny explosions broke the 90-foot missile in two on schedule, left the second-stage rocket and warhead coasting free. Next, a test firing of the second-stage, which may prove the missile's 9,000-mile range.

The Army wants to build a missile test range at Fairbanks, Alaska. Officials of the Interior Department have been asked to okay the setting aside of nearly 610,000 acres of government land for this.

Plans for a huge, semi-rigid, atomic-powered airship that could zip along indefinitely more than 400 miles per hour are being drawn up by Navy designers. The nuclear-driven jet engines would be slung far aft of the cockpit and crew's quarters, thus eliminating the need for heavy shielding against the nuclear explosions.

The Soldier Of The Future—Major General Marshall Stubbs, Chief Chemical Officer of the Army, presents an interesting picture of the soldier of tomorrow. He says that the super-trooper will hurdle obstacles and jump ditches with a rocket booster strapped on his back. His helmet will have a built-in radio and a screen to protect him from chemical and atomic attack. He won't even he digging his own foxholes. All he'll have to do is ram a pencil-like foxhole digger into the ground, detonate it, and then crawl in. He'll eat compact meals of irradiated food and when he's not jetting over streams or strolling with his pressureless boots, he will scud about in a saucer-like air jeep. That's what the Major General says!

That Dirty Word, "Nepotism"—The annual Women's National Press Club banquet opened with this greeting to Capitol Hill guests; "Welcome, Senators and Congressmen! And a special welcome to your sons, your daughters, your nieces, your nephews, and your cousins—in short, to all your administrative assistants!"

I hasten to add that no relative of mine is on my payroll.

Reverse the Trend - - - -

Next week 258 seniors of Southern and Northern High schools will be graduating. A percentage of them will continue their education, some will go to trade schools. Others will seek employment and some will become homemakers.

We wish it were possible to instill in them a desire to reverse a dangerous trend in American life today—that trend of feeling that the government owes everybody a living and that it isn't necessary to earn a decent wage to exist. There is a noticeable lack of push among many people today. There is a feeling that the government will not allow anyone to starve in this "enlightened" age.

Oh, for a reversal of that trend where people might have a basic desire to stand on their own two feet. That "cradle to the grave security" has done a lot to lower the ambition of people. This feeling that the government will "take care of me" no matter what, has certainly created a lack of incentive and lack of initiative.

This attitude has been fostered ever since the early days of the Roosevelt administration in 1933, and it was highly encouraged for so many years that many now take it for granted. How could we effect a change?

People have to start first within themselves. A high school graduating class would be a wonderful place to start, even though the class is in a comparatively small community. But snowballs have a way of getting bigger, if there is push behind them.

If even high school graduates would have the backbone to make this statement, "We will not sacrifice basic freedoms for a fancied security," it could mushroom into something big. If they would never let the desire for security be a greater force than the will to provide for one's self and his family, they would be on the way to reversing a trend that has been with us much too long.

The opportunity does not rest along with high school graduates. The lanes are wide open for anyone to start the ball rolling.

Students Are Above Average in American History at Southern

Southern High School's eleventh graders showed above average knowledge in American history on a national standardized test administered to them this past week, according to W. Kenneth Johns, principal.

The test, administered by two teachers of American history, James Trickett and Eugene Weese, showed the group as a whole rated above the national average. Of the 136 students who took the test eleven rated exceptionally high. Two students received almost perfect scores on the questions. Another thirty-seven ranked very high while another fifty ranked average. For the most part students scoring low on the test were found to be in the lower ability group. Highest scores on the test were received by David Gonder and Sandra Palmer. Two others scoring exceptionally high were Maurice Brookhart and Sandra Savage.

Neither teacher had access to the test prior to its administration. Mr. Trickett teaches four of the classes while Mr. Weese teaches one.

Receives Honors

Mary Mance, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Mance, of Oakland, a former student of St. Peter's School, and now at St. Xavier Academy, Latrobe, Pa., has been awarded the highest honor received by a high school girl from the National Honor Society, Washington, D. C.

The honor has been conferred on the basis of the "Whole Girl," her scholarship, character, service and leadership. In addition the National Latin Society has awarded Mary with a certificate in Latin.

To Teach Next Term At Kitzmiller School

Daniel Sharpless has been employed by the Garrett County Board of Education to teach at the Kitzmiller Community School next year. Mr. Shacpless will replace Mr. Charles Pence who will move to Missouri where his wife's people live.

Mr. Sharpless is a graduate of the Kitzmiller High School. Following his graduation from high school he spent two years in pre-law training at Potomac State and then transferred to West Virginia University where he received his B. S. degree two years later. He also has had a year of graduate work in the field of education, and for the past year taught at Bruceton High School. He spent several years in the U. S. Army and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Sharpless. Mrs. Sharpless is the Postmistress at Kitzmiller.

He is a member of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Sharpless was highly recommended according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

Grant In Memory of Jean Englander Made to A A U W

A name grant of $500, in memory of Jean Jackson Englander, has been made to the American Association of Universtiy Women by the Garrett Branch, it was announced by Mrs. Mahel Brock, president.

The check which was made possible from memorials from friends of Mrs. Englander and the Garrett Branch was sent to the national association to be added to the permanent endowment to be used for fellowships.

"Because of the urgent need of women trained for college teaching the local branch is following the policy of the national association and is making its contribution to education in this area," Mrs. Brock stated, though we still have the Angela Smart student loan fund.

The late Mrs. Englander was a charter member and extremely active in the branch since its organization and was alert to the needs of higher education. Mrs. Brock said. Mr. Englander, at the time of her death, requested that friends who wished to remember her do it through contributions to the cancer fund of the A. A. U. W.

"Granting fellowships to college graduates for advanced study may seem far removed from Oakland but it was recently learned that

Miss Ann R. Fox, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Ernest Fox, of St. Mark's Lutheran church, was given an A.A.U.W. grant to study in Pavia, Italy, toward completion of her doctorate in medieval history.'

Mrs. Brock, at the time of her report at the state convention, was highly commended for the work the Garrett Branch had done, their contribution believed to be the highest contribution per member to fellowship at any group in the nation.

Memorial Day Observances Are Being Planned

Memorial day will be observed here with the usual parade, decoration of graves of the deceased, and a brief Memorial day address before the tomb of the unknown soldier.

The events are in charge of the American Legion Post at Oakland, headed by Clarence Stem, and by the Knights of Pythias Lodge No. 113.

The parade will assemble at 10:30 Saturday morning in front of the city hall. Included will be the boy and girl scouts, the Junior High school band, the Mt. City Band, the Knights of Pythias members and the National Guard unit.

They will march to the cemetery where the ceremonies will take place. The Pythians have their own service, after which they decorate the graves of deceased members.

The Oakland firemen also have a service of their own. A detail from the National Guard will conclude their ceremonies with the blowing of "Taps".

To Decorate Graves

Members of Grantsville's Legion Post 214, will decorate 106 graves in seven area cemeteries, according to Charles Bender, adjutant.

Memorial Day services Saturday will be held as follows: St. Ann's cemetery, Avilton, 8:45 a. m.; Mt. Zion, Long Stretch, 9:15; Johnson, route 2, Frostburg, 9:45; Finzel, 10:15; Grantsville, 11; Bittinger, noon, and New Germany, 1 p. m.

Services at Grantsville will include a parade to the cemetery and a talk by Rev. Emory McGraw, Methodist pastor. Rev. Paul Westcoat will speak at New Germany.

Commander Willard Layman will have charge of services at St. Ann's, Mt. Zion, Johnson and Finzel.

Property Owners To Be Under New Law

The County Commissioners are publishing a notice to property owners this week of a new law which requires that the Supervisor of Assessments be notified of any new building, addition or alteration to existing buildings. The law goes into effect June 1.

The law declares that all persons, firms, or corporations, before erecting or constructing any new building or buildings, or any addition or alteration to any existing buildings with a total expense of $500 or more must notify the Supervisor in writing.

The owner must state location, approximate amount of money to be expended. Failure to comply will make the property owner liable for double taxation upon a reasonable assessment on the construction or alteration, for a period not to exceed three years.

The notice is being published in today's issue.

Asks Aid in Filling Blood Donor Quota

A concerted effort for reaching its quota of 125 pints of blood at the next visit of the Johnstown Bloodmobile unit was being made by Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman for the county Red Cross chapter.

The visit is to be made next Wednesday, June 3, at the fire hall in Oakland, from 12 o'clock noon to six p. m.

Mrs. Stemple issued the following: "You may never be on hand to save a child from a fire; or to flag a doomed express, but you have it in your power to save someone else's life. One pint of your blood and less than an hour of your time, can be your gift of life to a man, woman or child. You need not be on hand when the brakes scream, or the flames roar, or when the surgeon goes to work. Your gift of life will be ready when it is needed.

She urged men and women to come in and make their contribution. She pointed out that doctors and nurses would accept the gift of blood; skilled technicians would prepare it; hospitals would store it; doctors would administer it, and as a result a man, woman or child in this community would have a chance to live.

Henry W. McComas, administrator for the Garrett County Memorial hospital requested that persons who have received whole blood through the program make a special effort to urge their friends and relatives to join in what he termed a "vital county enterprise," so that the needs of others in the future could be met.

The American Way

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the men's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

Foreign trade is with us to stay. There's no argument on that point. Such being the case it behooves the U. S. A. to so fashion its foreign trade policies as to benefit not only this nation, but the countries with which we trade.

In a recent speech, Dr. Clarence R. Decker, Vice President, Pardee Technical University, outlined the argument we are on foreign countries for many of the things vital to our welfare and safety.

He pointed out:

That while our country does not grow a single pound of coffee, we consume 400 million cups of coffee a day.

That with about seven percent of the world's population, our country consumes about forty percent of the world's major minerals.

That we are totally dependent on other countries for our tin, natural rubber, industrial diamonds, copra and strategic grade graphite; that we are more than ninety percent dependent on foreign nations for our ferro manganese, beryllium, nickel, asbestos and chromium.

that our iron ore imports have doubled during the past two years, making us already dependent on foreign sources for this ore; that, with the exhaustion of the once-fabulous Mesabi resources, we shall soon be wholly dependent on other countries for iron ore, principally Canada and Venezuela.

And speaking of Venezuela, Dr. Decker told of a recent visit to that country. While there he observed that the Creole Petroleum Corporation the largest oil company in Venezuela, producing an average of a million barrels a day, and representing the largest foreign investment of any U. S. A. company operating in a single country abroad, has built one of the world's most modern refineries. He found that Venezuela has made amazing progress due to the energies and aims of the Venezuelans themselves, but that these energies were freed also given scope for expression through trade and the investment of foreign amounts of capital—mostly from the U. S. A.

As to the future of our trade, Dr. Decker maintains that there are four basic ne

1) The U. S. economy must continue to grow if only to keep pace with the rapidly expanding population. We must continue to raise our standard of living also, if the free world is to avoid a depression can be c as well as goods.

2) We in the U. S. A. must close, continuous attention overseas trade relations cies and conduct of our trade lations with other countries must be a matter of deep all Americans, partic long as we compete for sc an international communi ly operating to destroy our "American Way" of life.

Within the framework of a general trade poli[illegible] we must concern ourselves with those regional or country-to-country relationships so essential to the total operating mechanism. For example, we have historical and cultural ties with the peoples and nations of Latin America, and we have specific interests, such as maintaining the free flow of oil. Venezuela's oil was crucial to us in the Korean War and to the entire Western world during the Suez crisis. [illegible] must encourage the flow of private capital abroad at an increased rate. The challenge and the opportunity for PRIVATE U. S. A. capital in foreign investments is unlimited. While our investments in Latin America alone are now almost $8 billion, this must be stepped up substantially if the capitalistic system is to continue to play a leading role in the tremendous worldwide demand for social and economic progress.

However, Dr. Decker warns that foreign trade is not a one-way street. Our ingenious productivity of other countries. we can sell and lumber, salmon to Great can sell can sell only when Egypt us. In 1954, we and quota walls cotton and Egypt our wheat to the tons annually, at a Sam owned and wheat surplus worth al-two billion by [illegible] for "Two generations ago, with some justification we could be forgiven our self-satisfaction in the United States was so far [illegible] so rich in resources—so flowing in milk and honey—that we [illegible] splendid isolation and prosper. Too many of us still cling to this notion today. The trouble with the notion is that it is no longer even partially true—that, on the contrary, it is dangerous to us and to the world in which we hope to retain our dynamic leadership."

work experience program for commercial students was termed successful by F. DeNeal Dean, instructor. Mr. Dean based his statement on an evaluation form completed by fifty employers in the Oakland area. Dean said only one employer reported unsatisfactory service.

Employers were requested to give students grades and twenty-four rated the students as "excellent." Twenty-two other employers rated students "very good." Only three gave grades of C, and one D was recorded.

In every case except one the quality of work performed was rated as "good."

This was the sixth year that the program has been in operation. Each spring, through cooperation of local employers, thirty five to forty students are placed in offices and stores for half-day sessions for a period of two weeks. As a result commercial students are able to gain valuable experience in practical situations. Mr. Dean praised the local employers for their cooperation.

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

With each new concentration of economic power in the federal government—now completely controlling about 20% of the national income—the long range economic future of the American citizen diminishes. Concentration of economic power in the federal government is Socialism. This isn't an accusation or a charge—it simply is the stating of an indisputable fact. And the American people need to clearly understand this fact—and all its implications. We must all act as citizens to halt the continuing concentration of economic power in government.

We have the figures available on what Scandinavian and European Socialism—the concentration of economic power in the government—has brought the citizens of those nations. None has full, totalitarian Socialism. Yet the citizens of those nations have living standards one-third to one-sixth as good as ours in America.

Communist Russia's system is total Socialism. The government owns and controls everything. My figures have been gathered by the Assembly of Captive European Nations. They may be accepted as accurate.

In Russia's total Socialism there are 25 people in the ruling Polit-bureau, with Khrushchev having dictatorial control at the moment. These 25 people have free access to the entire wealth of the nation. Their income is unlimited. They may have any material possession they desire. Under them in the scale of income is the Central Committee of the Communist Party, the high government ministers, and the most important scientists and artists of value to the Party. There are approximately 2,000 of these. Their income ranges from $40,000 to $65,000 a year (converting the rubles not at the "official" exchange rate but to actual dollar purchasing power. These people have special stores containing food, delicacies from throughout the world; automobiles, yachts, villas.

The next economic group consists of leading bureaucrats, army generals, industrial managers, secret police officials and important scientists and artists. There are 300,000 of these people. Their income ranges from $6,000 to $8,000 a year, and they too have special stores, drive government-owned cars, and enjoy the luxury of private villas.

The next economic group contains civil servants, the party bureaucracy, professionals—doctors, lawyers, professors—and stakhanovite workers (workers who have set individual production records). There are 31,000,000 in this group. Their income ranges from $600 to $900 a year. Beneath these are the wage-earners and peasants, the great mass of the able-bodied citizenry—160,000,000. The average income of this group is about $500 a year. There is still a lower group on the economic ladder of total Socialism—forced laborers....the slaves.

The Assembly of Captive European Nations has estimated there are 6,000,000 Russians in the slave labor camps. Other estimates range much higher. John Noble, who spent 9 years as a prisoner-slave in Russia said he obtained authenic information placing the number of slaves at 28,000,000! Most of these get nothing but a starvation diet and forced labor. Some, however, are paid. In the last few months in Vorkuta, John Noble was paid $25 a month, but he was forced to pay $18 of this for room and board (in prison!) and $1.25 withholding tax. "Those who didn't fill their 'norms,'" he reports, "were paid nothing and were put on killing punishment rations besides."

This is the record of total Socialism.

Not any more, but at one time sickness was against the law in New Guinea, and sick persons in other parts of the world were often shunned or persecuted for possessing "evil spirits". TEACHERS' LIVES ARE DEDICATED TO OUR NATION'S BETTER FUTURE

THIS YEAR'S GRADUATING CLASSES will soon be receiving their valued diplomas. Their valedictorians will bravely tell how they all face the future unafraid: prepared for whatever may come.

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS WILL ADDRESS the graduates, remind them that they are the custodians of our nation's future and express complete confidence in their ability. And—they will be right.

BUT—LET US NOT FORGET THE TEACHERS who have made all this possible. Their work is certainly a "Labor of Love" for their financial reward is far from adequate.

WE KNOW EVERY STUDENT AGREES WITH US that graduation day is also a day dedicated to remembering that our teachers have completed an important epoch in the lives of their pupils.

CONGRATULATIONS TO ALL TEACHERS on another successful graduation day. May you all enjoy many more of them.

Among the awards she has won are The Solo Twirling Award and Solo Drum Major Award at Majorette Camp, Oglebay Park, Wheeling, W. Va., in the summer of 1958, and the Award for having the highest number of points in the senior class.

Wilma Hanlin received a pin and certificate for the outstanding senior student in Scholarship during her four years of high school. Her name will be inscribed on the plaque in the main lobby of the school entrance.

Her interests include bowling and all sports. She is the 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alstin Haulin, of Accident.

Blain Frantz Fined $12,500 In Tax Case

Blain Frantz, 55, a county lumber and cattle dealer, was fined $12,500 Monday for federal income tax evasion 1951 through 1953.

The Friendsville man was charged with evading a total of $25,171 in taxes during the period, but a jury which heard his trial last October was unable to reach a verdict.

The case was set for a re-trial but Frantz, through his attorney, John H. Hessey IV, changed his plea Monday from innocent to no contest.

Hessey told Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins, the plea was "not an admission of guilt," adding that Frantz' failure to report all of his income was due to negligence and was not willful or deliberate.

"My client," Hessey said, "tells me he is just unable to go ahead with a second, more lengthy trial. In a sense, he has been beaten into submission."

Frantz said the case had cost him more than $100,000 in back taxes, interest, penalties and court costs. His attorney urged that Frantz be spared a prison term, explaining that he operated four lumber mills and three farms without foremen. If he were jailed, Hessey said, the business would collapse with unemployment for 51 men.

U. S. Attorney Leon H. A. Pierson, who did not oppose Frantz' no contest plea, recommended a $25,000 fine.

In passing sentence, Judge Watkins said he had "no reasonable doubt that there was a criminal offense in this case," but he was not imposing a prison term because the defendant's action was not "flagrant."

Secretary of State Herter admonished Soviet Union to stop accusing the West of preparing for an aggressive war.

Welcome To All

You can't help loving this little pup. Maybe it's because he seems so out of proportion. If he somehow were able to flap those ears he might fly away.

Perhaps there is a little fellow in your home who is "all ears" in another sense . . . a youngster who takes in everything that's said, including some things he isn't meant to hear.

Most children are eager to listen . . . hungry to learn. That is why the early years are so important in the molding of a child's character. The things he hears, whether right or wrong, make a deep impression on his mind. They are soon reflected in his actions and words.

Wise parents take advantage of the Church's program of religious education in implanting those early impressions. They know there is no surer builder of character than religious faith.

NOW . . . while your child is eager to hear and to learn, bring him to church . . . and support the Church in its great undertaking.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

We Are Not Alone

Lesson for May 31, 1959

EVERY MAN who stands up for what he believes to be right in the sight of God—stands up, speaks up, and works to make the divine dream come true—every such person will have times of deep discouragement. An American will think of the familiar examples of Washington and Lincoln who went through dark times when no one, that is to say nobody who carried much weight, seemed to be on their side; times when they even wondered if they could be on God's side. Any one who speaks for a cause which has not yet become popular, any one who speaks courageously against the prevailing winds of belief in his time, will feel sooner or later that he stands alone.

Dr. Foreman

Prophets In Flight

It has often been so with God's prophets. Indeed, the picture our minds draw for us, of brave prophets bearding tyrants in their palaces, thundering God's judgments on nations and individuals, men unafraid, not caring what men might say or do so long as they were speaking for God, that picture does not always fit. Consider the prophet, Elijah, a brave man most of the time, but running now, running away, as far away as his legs would take him. And from what? Just a woman. True, she had threatened to butcher him. But Elijah had lived through threats before. The thing was, this woman was a queen, so much a queen that her wretched husband never dared say No to her. When she threatened to do anything bad, you could be sure her heart (a bad one) was in it! So when they told Elijah what she said, he lost no time getting out of there. Forty days and forty nights he fled. And when God asked him why, "I only am left," he said. What was one man against the nation? One Elijah for God; Jezebel and all Israel against God. Hopeless odds, Elijah thought.

The Invisible Army

How wrong can a prophet get? Elijah estimated the number of God's loyal people in all Palestine as One, namely himself. God's count made it seven thousand. Elijah, scared as he was, turned out to be only .0001 right, no very high figure! This is a mistake which many pioneers of faith have made. There are more people on God's side than you might think. Looking about us in our country today, seeing what crowds there are that believe silly and even wicked lies, how many people who will go out and vote for candidates who are plainly not on God's side or anywhere near it, how few people there are at church compared with the crowds (let us say) at the racetrack, how hard it is to put into action, anywhere, the most elementary Christian principles—looking at the American scene, the Christian is sometimes tempted to complete cynicism and despair.

He Had God

The prophet Elijah learned something else in his wilderness hideaway. He found God there, and God had something for him to do. Elijah had believed in God a long time; but he associated God with spectacular miracles, fire from heaven, rock-breaking winds, resurrections of the dead . . . Now he learns to know the God of the still small voice, the God who comes in the voice of duty. The three things God gave him to do were not miracles, they were very simple acts. But they were going to change the course of history, more than some of the miracles Elijah had before then performed. Now it is not true that any one can "have God" if he likes. But it is true that those whom God has, have God with them, by them, in them. The man or woman who goes faithfully about life's plain duties, who stands for what he knows to be right, no matter what, will discover that he is not alone. To listen to the voices of the crowds, to be an echo of common prejudices, is to hear within nothing but a dreadful silence and to stand alone in a waste place. But to hear that still small Voice, in spite of all the Jezebels of the world, even under threat of death Is to know oneself never alone.

Should We Stop A-Bomb Tests?—Some well-meaning Americans have swallowed the Communists' bait. The Communist game is to bring about an agreement to abandon nuclear bomb tests—an agreement which we would certainly not violate but which Moscow would violate at will. The Soviets prove the point of their insincerity by always objecting to any plan for effective inspection.

It is known that Soviet agents played a part in several Western countries in lining up professional groups to raise an alarm about "fall-out" and the daugers to human health that supposedly result from the bomb tests. Despite the testimony of competent scientists that radioactivity released by the tests is far from dangerous in any way and despite data that the human race has always been subject to far more radioactivity from natural causes than the tests have yielded, there has been waged a campaign of terror.

The next step in the Communist scheme would be to "outlaw" all nuclear bombs—another agreement which we would keep but which Moscow would not keep. If nuclear weapons were outlawed, the Soviets would rule the world. Aside from skulduggery of hidden stores of bombs they have bigger "conventional" forces than all their adversaries could quickly mobilize. The Soviets would then easily win world domination.

Communist influence has reached into every Allied country and into every national legislature to win support of the test ban. The crusade to end nuclear tests should be thoroughly investigated and the true facts brought out—to the end that our people will not continue to be fooled by this propaganda.

In The Senate Chamber—The Senate received two messages from the President. They had to do with our agreements with the United Kingdom and France for cooperation in the uses of atomic energy for mutual defense purposes.

The Senate received from the President the nominations of Thomas S. Gates, Jr., to be Deputy Secretary of Defense, and Joseph V. Charyk to be Assistant Secretary of the Air Force.

There was debate on the International Health and Medical Research Act, which I co-sponsored.

In Committee, Important Decisions—The Housing Sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency heard testimony concerning the problems of physical requirements for mortgage credit.

Our Senate District Committee concluded hearings on legislation to establish an objective for coordinating the development of the District with the development of Maryland areas in the Washington metropolitan region.

Our Committee on Armed Services held executive hearings on major defense matters and on the role of the Bureau of the Budget in the formulation and the execution of the Defense budget.

Foreign Aid Debate—Not on the Senate floor yet, the debate is raging in cloakrooms and elsewhere. The almost $5 billion in so-called Foreign Aid in 1559 included 2.4 billions of military aid. As I see it, if this is cut, many countries will be unable or unwilling to buy the kind of defense the United States wants them to have.

Rockville Schools Get Federal Money—U. S. Commissioner of Education Derthick tells me that Federal funds have been reserved for two schools in Rockville, Montgomery County, Maryland, as follows: Junior-Senior High School, $1,300,000; New Junior High School, $1,082,135. The funds will be certified for payment when the County Board of Education complies with specified construction requirements.

Eastern Shore Plant Awarded Contract—The Quartermaster Purchasing Officer has awarded the Crisfield Cap Company, Crisfield, Maryland, a contract for 130,698 caps. The Crisfield Cap Company received this award as a subcontractor of the Diamond Sportswear Company.

Rocket Progress—The expected speed of the X-15 rocket airplane, it can now be told, is 4,000 miles an hour. The X-15 will leap out of Earth's atmosphere into space at incredible speed. The rocket-plane is currently undergoing exhaustive captive flight tests.

A nose cone from a missile fired 6,000 miles was recovered. It was only slightly scarred by the heat of 12,000 degrees Fahrenheit that it encountered as it plunged back into the Earth's atmosphere.

Off Antigua, British West Indies, scientists scooped from the sea the data capsule of a Thor nose cone just 39 minutes after the missile had been fired from Cape Canaveral, Florida. Inside was a tiny camera that had recorded for the first time the sizzling re-entry process.

The contract has been awarded for the building of the most powerful combination of U. S. rockets yet attempted—the Vegas, whose three stages would be capable of putting a 2-ton manned laboratory into orbit.

Earth-Bound Wonders—For every miracle in space, there have been performed tens of thousands of earth-bound wonders. Advances in electronics challenge the imagination. So last moving is progress in this field, that scientists seem to have adopted the slogan: "If a product works, it's obsolete."

Assembly lines operated by electronics brains are producing many things. A phonetic typewriter, typing out spoken words and phrases, is in use, as is a robot that can read handwriting. There is no reason we will not soon have in common use a machine capable of understanding and carrying out verbal orders. The classroom of the future will have tape machines and headphones. The student can talk to the teacher on his intercom without distrubing the rest of the class. If a teacher wants to refer to a library book, he will simply consult his "television directory, and dial a number. Instantly a microfilm edition of the book will appear on the television screen. As for communication in the future, a one-inch cube that can choose one signal out of a million will make possible a world-wide system where each person may be called no matter where he is—on land, sea, in the air, or even in outer space. These are a few of the wonders.

"Weather Or Not"—The Weather Bureau, for which I have great respect, has come up with a new statistic: "D. I." "Discomfort Index".) Now, I'm for progress—but this? The Bureau will tell us whether or not we're comfortable. The formula for D. I. is clear-cut. You add wet bulb and dry-bulb temperature readings, take two-fifths of the sum and add 15. All right. But why? We're already getting uncomfortable just thinking about it, and today is a lovely spring day. All we want to know is whether it's going to rain.

Southern Makes Up For Elk Garden Loss

Sam Glotfelty pitched a three-hitter last Thursday at Oakland as Southern High school wound up its baseball season with a 5-1 triumph over Elk Garden High school. The victory gave the Highlanders, coached by Dick Travis and Carl Schoonover, a 6-3 overall record. The victory avenged the defeat by Elk Garden earlier in the week.

Southern finished with a 3-3 record in the Potomac Valley conference while Elk Garden has a 3-4 mark in that circuit.

Jerold Milavec, Elk Garden pitcher, yielded seven hits, issued four passes and fired the third strike past eight.

Jerry Wine, of Southern paced the hitters with a double and single.

Other playing for Southern were Stuck, Gnegy, Rhodes, R. Colaw, Martin, T. Colaw, James, Craver and Spiker.

THE BIG CHANGE is TO an ELECTRIC RANGE!

Cool-Clean-Fast-Automatic-Economical-Modern

An electric range keeps the kitchen cool! The oven is heavily insulated so heat stays where it belongs. Outside remains cool. Surface units transfer heat directly to the bottoms of pots and pans — not to the surrounding air. The kitchen stays cool.

An electric range is clean! It cooks without producing soot. That means less scouring of pots, less cleaning in the kitchen. Surface units clean themselves by burning off spilled foods. Other parts are a breeze to clean.

An electric range is fast! Ovens and broilers pre-heat rapidly. Surface units reach desired temperatures almost as fast as you can turn them on. And this fast heat is accurate.

An electric range is automatic! You just set the controls. You may leave the house and feel completely confident that food will be cooked just like you want it. "Controlled heat" makes the electric range automatic and reliable.

An electric range is economical! It heats quickly and efficiently. Most surface cooking, at low settings, uses fuel thriftily. Heat conservation and fuel conservation save money.

An electric range is modern! It has been engineered for efficient and convenient service, designed for sleek and modern appearance. It takes the guesswork — and the failures — out of cooking and baking. It uses the most modern fuel.

Give Band Awards At Band Banquet

Patty I. McKenzie and Gary Hetrick received the two annual awards presented by the band at the Band Boosters Banquet at Northern. Patty received the Arion Award and Gary the John Philip Sousa Award. Each of the eleventh grade members of the band received a Band Letter. These awards are sponsored by the Band Boosters. The guests at the banquet were members of the instrumental program and their parents.

The Arion Foundation Award for Outstanding Musical Achievement is given annually to the outstanding graduating member of the Senior Band. This selection is made by members of the band with final approval of the band director, and was presented by Mrs. Audrey Edwards, president of the Band Boosters. Items which are considered in the selection are: better than average scholastic standing, cooperation over and above normal duties, general musicianship, musical performance, attendance, ambition, diligence, inspiration to others, personal habits, qualified to carry on the best traditions of Northern High School. This was the third year this award was presented. Previous winners were Carolyn Savage in 1957 and Donna Edwards in 1958.

The John Philip Sousa Award is presented annually to the outstanding member of the Senior Band. The winner is selected by vote of the band members with final approval of the band director. The selection is based on the following: recognition for outstanding achievement and interest in instrumental music, for singular merit in loyalty and cooperation, and for displaying generally, these high qualities of conduct which school instrumental music strives to impart. This award is a memorial to John Philip Sousa, probably the best known writer of martial or military music. Previous winners of this award were Elsie Wright in 1957 and Judy Friend in 1958. Mr. Schwing presented this award and the Band Letters.

After the dinner there was a program, featuring an address, "Music in the Age of Science," by Dr. Frank Gamble, Allegany County Supervisor of Music, Cumberland, Maryland.

On May 5, Mr. and Mrs. Schwing served a spaghetti dinner in the Home Economics room in honor of the graduating members of the band. Those present were the host, the hostess, their son, Chippy, Patty I. McKenzie, Frances Humberson, Shirley Schlossnagle, Helen Wakefield, Patty Friend, Dorothy Savage, Patty A. McKenzie, Nancy Durst, Kathleen Sebold, Mary Alice Durst, Tommy Kirby, Gary Hetrick, Adrian Spiker, Dick Miller, Buteh Strauss, Gay Umbel, and Janice Resh.

I.F.Y.E. Delegate Arrives in State

A young Frenchman, 20-year-old Philippe Boufflerd, has arrived in Maryland as a delegate in the International Farm Youth Exchange program. For approximately two months Boufflerd will visit Maryland farm families to learn more about American agriculture, and see a cross section of our farm life.

Boufflerd, whose home address is Virey Manoeuvre, par Etrepilly, Seine et Marne, France, is an apprentice farmer. He has lived on a 1500-acre farm all his life, where the major crops are beets, wheat, and cereals. Dairy cattle are also raised.

One of five children, Boufflerd has taken seven years of secondary school work and three years of agricultural study in Paris. He plans to be a farmer.

His first stay with a Maryland farm family will be with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eck, Centreville. Eck is a former 4-H Club member and a member of a state-wide 4-H honorary organization, the Maryland 4-H All-Stars.

Maryland will have an opportunity to entertain two IFYE's this summer. Any Garrett 4-H family interested in serving as a host family to an IFYE is urged to contact the County Extension Office - PY-4-2525 for further information.

Boufflerd is the 28th delegate in the International Farm Youth Exchange program that Maryland farm families have been host to since the program's inception in 1948. The program is a two-way exchange dedicated to international understanding. Its sponsors in this country are the National 4-H Club Foundation and the Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, as well as the State Land-Grant College and Universities.

The navy was planning a mission site at the equator.

Youths Are Sought For Stoning Man

Five Washington area youths were being sought by police in connection with a stone-throwing incident which led to the death of Donald L. Moorehead, 37, a former Bloomington man who was employed in Washington as a painter.

A District of Columbia coroner had reported that Mr. Moorehead died of a ruptured spleen caused by the impact of a rock. The victim died on the operating table in the D. C. General hospital last Tuesday night.

The stoning incident apparently took place Sunday, May 19, in Prince George's county.

Police were given this account: Mr. Moorehead and four friends were drinking beer in a wooded area. Five youths whose ages were estimated at from 15 to 18, approached and asked the group for some of the beer. When they were refused the youths countered with a barrage of rocks.

One stone hit Mr. Moorehead while another struck William Garner, 49, of Washington. Mr. Garner told police he and Moorehead did not think they had been seriously hurt. However, on Friday, May 15, Mr. Moorehead complained of abdominal pain and went to the hospital where he died four days later.

The coroner said the victim also had received two broken ribs from the stoning.

Born in Beryl, W. Va., Mr. Moorehead was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Moorehead, of Bloomington. He was a veteran of World War II and is survived by his parents, his widow, Mrs. Ann Moorehead; a son, Donald L. Moorehead, Jr., at home; four daughters, Patricia, Norma Lee, both Washington; Barbara and Jo Ann Moorehead, at home; four brothers, Francis and Vaughn Moorehead, both Bloomington; Joseph Moorehead, Keyser; and Thomas Moorehead, Washington.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon with Rev. Charles E. Eaton, Jr., pastor of the Bloomington Methodist church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Rex Coffman, pastor of the Piedmont Pentecostal Holiness church. Burial was in Philos cemetery, Westernport.

Employment Form No Longer Needed

Employers covered by the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law will no longer receive the Department of Employment Security of new hires after May 31.

The provision of the Unemployment Insurance Law which required this notification from employers was repealed in the 1959 session of the General Assembly. The Department recommended the repeal.

Employers formerly were required to submit to the Department an Accession Report, Form U.I. 211, on each person newly hired or rehired, within five days following the date of the hire.

Those who failed to file these reports on time were subject to a fine of from $2 to $10.

Robert B. Kimble, Executive Director of the Department, said the Accession Report was instituted in Maryland as a device to assist in the prevention of fraudulent claims, but that experience has shown it to be an expensive, time-consuming procedure, the results of which have been debatable.

Mr. Kimble stated that nearly all of the indentified fraud that has been found among claimants has been detected through an audit of claim and wage records rather than through the Accession Report technique. The audit technique is being retained among the Department's investigative procedures, and field investigation of claims is being intensified.

Mr. Kimble emphasized that employers must still supply the Department with separation information on Form U.I. 207. This form, however, which states why and when the employer laid off a given worker, is required only in response to specific requests from the Department.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT
WEEKLY SERMON by Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop
A Diseased Heart

Our hearts are a very important part of our body. It must "tick" right or we do not feel right. In the normal life span the heart beats 2,500,000,000 times and furnishes nourishment to all the body. It is startling to know that one out of every four who read this article will die of heart disease. If you are one of those four would you like to have a doctor fool you about your true condition? Is the doctor a nice fellow when he slaps you on the back, declares you a picture of health because he doesn't want to upset you? Would you choose such a doctor? You would be foolish if you did. Yet, isn't it strange that many people choose their preachers and churches just that way? They do not want to attend where the whole counsel of God is preached because it is too condemning. It makes them uneasy and they do not want to leave off their sinful habits. So, they shop around until they find a preacher whose messages soothe and lull them into thinking that they are a picture of spiritual health. Oh, may God give us preachers who will for the eternal sake of the people, tell them the truth.

SUNDAY ELECTIONS

Senator William Langer (ND) wants national elections to be held on Sundays hoping thereby to get more people to vote. Langer pointed out that the European nations get a better turnout with Sunday balloting than the U. S. does in its Tuesday elections. He plans to introduce a bill at the next session of Congress. Before Mr. Langer introduces this bill he should stop to consider whether we wish to further forfeit the blessings of Almighty God upon our Country. The Bible sets aside one day in seven as a "Holy" Day. It is His pleasure that people honor Him on that day by setting aside their normal activities to worship and rest on that day. The visible blessing of God is evident in the lives of those who honor God in this way. Yes, Europe has a greater turn out in the Sunday elections and Europe is in a greater turmoil and war as well. One needs only to compare the prosperity of these nations with ours, and then ask the question, "Does God have anything to do with it?" Our Country is already fast moving in the direction of the Judgment of God for her sins. Let us not hasten that day by taking this step in the wrong direction.

Another Challenge

The 1958-59 edition of JANE'S FIGHTING SHIPS discloses that the Soviet Union has become a naval power with which the Free World must reckon. Russia is very much a landlocked nation, and does not really need a navy to project her power to the trouble spots, or would-be trouble areas, of the world. Yet, since the end of World War II, Russia has built 6 times more new submarine tonnage than the United States, 9 times more destroyer tonnage, and 14 times more cruiser tonnage.

For purposes of trade and commerce, the Kremlin is apparently planning to accord the Russian merchant navy similar emphasis. In 1957, the Soviet merchant fleet called at some 280 ports throughout the world. It is reliably reported that last year this fleet was composed of nearly 1,000 vessels of various types and sizes, totaling 3 million tons. By contrast, the present active American Merchant Marine comprises 960 ships of 1,000 gross tons and over totaling 8,795,000 tons.

The Soviet shipbuilding program has centered on naval vessels, tankers and dry-cargo vessels. An estimated construction capability of 100 submarines annually—never fully utilized—has produced the world's largest fleet of submarines, allegedly about 500. In the last 6 or 7 years, Russia's shipbuilders have built 40 tankers of 10,000-ton capacity and a significant number of dry-cargo vessels. Some Western powers—France, Great Britain, Sweden, Denmark, West Germany and Japan among them—have actively sought this "new business" and their yards are building or have built ships on order for the Soviets. Recent press accounts indicate that Russia has been negotiating with West German shipyards for the construction of 6 passenger vessels.

Red China, too, has seen the wisdom of a merchant marine to carry its goods to the markets of the world and as a corollary of economic warfare. It currently has more than 150 foreign vessels, representing about 1½ million tons of shipping, under charter, and has been purchasing ships "at bargain prices" from Western nations and Soviet satellites. But Red China is not content to charter and buy ships. It intends to build them as well, as indicated by the ice breaking cargo liner "Leap Forward" launched last November in the shipyard at Dairen in Manchuria.

These developments and the implied promise of even greater maritime accomplishments on the part of the principal Communist Nations give added meaning to these words by the now-deposed Marshal Zhukov: "In a future war the struggle at sea will be of even greater importance than it was in the last war."

Sermonette By Area Ministers

IRVIN G. STEIDING, Pastor
Sand Flat Assembly of God Church

Text: Isa. 6:6-7 "Then flew one of the seraphims unto me, having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar: and he laid it upon my month'. . . .

The account of this chapter begins with pungent words, "In the year that king Uzziah died, I saw also the Lord." When Uzziah took the throne at sixteen years of age, he possessed a humble and right spirit before God. Here is the record, II Chron. 26:4: "And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord." For this reason God's blessing rested upon him, and from verses four through twelve we read, "Uzziah built towers," "warred against the Philistines," "digged many wells," "had much cattle," "had an host of fighting men." But the sad thought is this, after God had used him, and blessed him, Uzziah thought to takes things into his own hands. Uzziah went into the temple, successful, arrogant, profane and fled a leper and a dying man. Isaiah went into the temple, a needy, bewildered, seeking and returned a crusader—a man with a mission.

One man decided to be his own priest—his own intermediary. The other came to a sudden, true knowledge of how much he needed God. One man was carried away with who he was and what he had done. The other cried: "Woe is me! for I am undone because I am a man of unclean lips. . . ."

I believe our nation today stands perilously at the crossroads of religious complacency. Many are quoting the words found in Rev. 3: "I am rich, and increased with goods and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable and poor and blind, and naked. . . . . be zealous therefore and repent."

We need revival! And revival will only come from "live coals"—not ashes. And remember "live coals" only come from the altar. That's still the place of fire in any church. Neglect the place of prayer, and nothing will ever touch the lips of men.

Only "live coals" can touch the problems of this nation's 4,588,000 alcoholics and 3,441,000 "problem drinkers." Only a religion of "live coals" can reduce the ratio of one divorce to every four marriages, and of the remaining marriages only one happy in the three. Fifty years ago marriage was for life. Today the average duration of marriage is about 10 years. In a test survey of 81,000 divorces the marriage lasted five years or less. Do reports of teen-age crime, sex-offences, stealing, gang fighting, teen-age drinking, obscene scribbling, use of narcotics, parental indifference mean anything to you?

Where can an awakened conscience develop? The answer is in the text, "live coals" from off "the altar'.

A religion of fire and flame, demands more than a preacher's handshake. It demands a horror for sin that is deep and lasting. It will draw you to a verdict, to do something worthwhile for God, and say "Here am I, send me."

When Uzziah died, men like Isaiah will arise and say, "I saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and his train filling the temple." Will you let God touch your life now?

Is Your Name COLLINS?

Collins, an old and honored surname, is principally of English and Irish origins. In the former category, it signifies "son of Colin," the latter being a diminutive form of Nicholas which is derived from the Greek words meaning "victorious army."

In its Irish usage, Collins is obtained from the Gaelic "coilleain", denoting "young hound." The family originated in the territory of the present county of Limerick where they were rulers intermittently from the 9th to the 12th centuries. In the year 1178 they were subdued by invaders and settled principally in West Cork where they have since achieved prominence in all walks of life. The coat-of-arms of the Collins family bears the motto "Virtue Conquers Dangers."

Daniel Collins (1732-1819) served as a lieutenant of Connecticut troops during the Revolutionary War.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has 47 listings of persons by the name of Collins who were residents of Maryland and heads of famillies at that time.

T. D. Collins was a teacher in School No. 4, Altamont District of Garrett County for the year ending May 13, 1881.

Dennis Collins was a school trustee of Bloomington District, Garrett County for the year ending May 1882.

Collins Mountain, Tennessee is 6,188 feet high.

Gilbert Collins (1846-1920) was justice, Supreme Court of New Jersey for sixteen years.

Varnum Lansing Collins (1870-1936) was professor of French language and literature at Princeton University. He was the author of numerous textbooks and pamphlets and was an authority on the history of Princeton University.

Edgar Thomas Collins (1873-1933) was brigadier general, U. S. Army.

Carl Ingersoll Collins is president, Superior Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh.

Senator McClellan declared "The time has come for Congress to consider enactment of special anti-trust legislation in transportation field."

Keen Insight ------

A valedictorian from an Oregon High school has shown a keen insight into our everyday problems, as evidenced by this brief message on commencement evening.

"As we emerge from our comfortable cradle of adolescence we are facing something that no generation has ever faced before. It has crept upon you, our parents, so slowly that you have been able to build up a protective barrier around yourselves. Are you hiding behind your wall of comfortable traditions and American ideals, or will you tear down that wall of complacency and use our American ideals, of which we are so proud, as a weapon against our enemies?

You have given us love, understanding and guidance. You have also given us the most wonderful country in the world in the most enlightened age since life came on earth. For this we humbly thank you. But you have also given us something that is hard to face: the fact that we are living under a shadow of danger. Our soft rug may be jerked out from under us at any moment. We may fall so hard that the earth can never recover from the shock. We may witness the most terrible and total destruction that the world has ever seen.

"Yes, you have given us all of this and more; but have you given us the strength to face the world you have given us? Can we survive a battle for our way of life that will make two world wars seem like a tea party? Are we mentally strong enough to face this war of nerves? When the chips are down can we work together toward a common goal despite personal selfishness and prejudice? Do we have a sense of values and do we know what we are fighting for? Do we dare think!

"Throughout history the forces of good and evil have been in constant turmoil. Now these battles seem like minor skirmishes. Today two powerful monsters have gathered

Seniors Told Not To Exclude God From Their Lives

"Don't exclude God from your life," graduates of both Northern and Southern High schools were told in effect, at baccalaureate exercises on Sunday evening.

The Rev. Fr. Fidelis McManus, pastor of St. Stephen's Catholic church, Grantsville, and St. Ann's church, Avilton, was the speaker at Sermon night at Northern High school, while the Rev. Charles Godwin, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, Oakland, was the speaker at Southern High school.

Mr. Godwin departed from the traditional strains of the graduation chorus to strike a sharp note of personal examination and spoke on "Standing In our own Way." He also stressed the need for God in our lives.

Father Fidelis declared "Every human being received his basic rights from God, not from any government or state and on this primary idea our country, our democracy was founded."

He added that "many young Americans today, after twelve years of formal, conventional education, do not necessarily understand that God is the prime source of all their rights and privileges." He likened the exclusion of God from any area of our life to leaving the mainspring out of a watch.

'Education must aim at cultivating and developing the whole man for a full life.' He said a way must he found to make pupils of American schools more aware of this heritage of religious faith upon which the nation was established.

"Education is no longer concerned merely with the acquisition of facts. Its concern is with developing men and women of character. . . . .Character and culture, the real aim of education, is based on reverence.

He called on the students to re-examine their way of life and to continue through the years ahead to give glory and thanks to God, to make satisfaction for sin, to reconcile themselves to God, and to ask God for blessings and favors.

Mr. Godwin told seniors at Southern that one of the tragic blunders of living is to blame

Arthur F. Jones, Jr., is about to become a fifth generation practicing physician. He will be the fifth Dr. Jones, in direct descent to his great great grandfather.

The line descends as follows, according to Dr. Arthur F. Jones, Sr., county health officer: "When Andrew Jackson chased the Indians out of Alabama, Dr. Frederick Jones moved from Tennessee and settled in Florence, Ala.. Succeeding him was Dr. Albert Jones, who also practiced in Florence.

"Then came Dr. Emmett Jones, Sr., who was born in Florence and began his practice there, but after specializing in eye, ear, nose and throat, moved to Cumberland where he became well established."

Dr. Arthur F. Jones, Sr., was a practicing physician in Cumberland prior to coming to Oakland in August, 1954, as county health officer.

Make Preliminary Preparations to "Up" City Water Supply

Preparations that eventually will provide the city of Oakland with an adequate water supply were set in motion at the June meeting of the City Council Monday night.

Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, president of council, made a motion that the Board Council of Miles, Marton and Yost, of Baltimore, working in conjunction with Lewis R. Jones, the town's attorney, prepare a proper amendment to the city charter to provide for an increase in the borrowing power of the corporation from one percent to twelve percent of the assessable basis of the town.

The passage of such an ordinance, after due notice through publication in the newspaper, would follow the plans of the Chester Engineers of Pittsburgh, that recommended a pumping station and filtration plant that would provide an additional water supply from the Big Youghiogheny river, about one and one-half miles west of town.

The amendment would make it possible for the town to borrow a sufficient amount of money to construct the needed facilities. The Chester Engineers estimated that such a project would cost around $550,000.

The city council meeting otherwise was a comparatively quiet one.

The council refused to issue a permit to Osbourne D. Mason to

Recreation Areas To Open on Saturday

The county's summer recreation areas, Herrington Manor, New Germany, and the newest addition, Deep Creek Park, will open officially on Saturday, June 6.

Cottages at Herrington Manor and New Germany, however, will not officially open for occupancy until June 13, according to William H. Johnson, district forester.

Several other applicants are being screened for the position of life guard at New Germany.

Mr. Johnson said there were good crowds at Herrington and New Germany this past weekend. He said finishing touches are being put on the Deep Creek Park. Grass is to be sown around the bath house this week and a temporary sandy beach is being put along the lake shore. Access roads and the water system have been completed.

Extra Play With Broadway Star Offered at Playhouse

Winners of the Danforth Award at Southern High school receive certificates from W. Kenneth Johns, principal. Left to right: Mr. Johns, Robert Michael, Sue Porter and Jack Gneay. Mr. Johns said it had been impossible to decide between the boys so both were chosen.

A Broadway star in the field of drama will be featured in an extra offering of the Garrett County Summer Theatre, it was announced yesterday by Gene Yell, director.

Mr. Yell has been trying to complete arrangements for this extra presentation for several weeks and finally succeeded in placing her under contract for an appearance at the Playhouse at McHenry Monday, August 31 through Saturday, September 5.

Neither her name nor the play was revealed, but Mr. Yelt said he considered himself very fortunate to be able to offer this additional attraction. She has been prominent in several leading New York plays.

The regular eight plays for the current season were announced two weeks ago and they will be presented July 7th through August 29, each play being given five nights, Tuesday through Saturday.

During the extra week the play will be given Monday through Saturday. General admission prices will prevail, $1.90 for adults, $1.30 for children; Saturday, $2.20 for adults and $1.50 for children. Those who have patron subscriptions for the regular season are entitled to one performance during the final week free of charge. A patron subscription for the eight plays costs $25.00 with the patron's name being listed in the weekly program.

Mr. Yell notified the board of governors that his work as associate director of the drama department of the College of Fine Arts, University of New Mexico, was winding up for the year, and that he would leave Albuquerque this week and arrive in Oakland probably the 17th or 18th, to begin preparations for the opening of the playhouse.

Veteran Business To Suspend Operations

One of the oldest business establishments in Oakland today announced plans to close permanently, effective June 15.

T. O. Deffinbaugh, owner of the Oakland Printing Company, said the concern is accepting no new work and would cease operations the middle of this month.

The firm was begun in 1878 by Moses R. Hamill and John J. Smith as The Mountain Democrat, a weekly newspaper published until December, 1953. Following this, the printing department was continued under the present name.

Charles A. Deffinbaugh, father of the present owner, purchased the business in 1900 from C. B. Ludwig, of Chambershurg, Pa. He continued publication until his death about 1920 when his son assumed management.

During its long period of publication, the newspaper had a succession of editors, including the late J. C. Litzinger, Mr. Deffinbaugh, L. A. Rudisill, William O. Davis, C. B. Buchanan, Harry Raeshe, James Wyant, and Wilbur W. Close, the latter now a member of the staff of The Republican.

Mr. Delfinbaugh plans to accept employment in the Washington area.

The truck, driven by Jeston Williams, of Mt. Clare, W. Va., an employe of the Keeley Construction company, crashed into the side of an automobile driven by W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney.

State police charged Williams with failing to yield the right of way and he forfeited collateral posted for his appearance at a hearing. Stover's car was damaged to the extent of about $150.

Fire Company Plans Memorial To Deceased

The Oakland Fire company plans to donate $25.00 to the Loar Auxiliary of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital as a memorial to deceased fire company members.

Previously, the group had decorated the graves of former members with potted plants, but it was felt the cash donation to the hospital auxiliary would be of more practical value.

Members who have died since last Memorial day are Realord Jack Purbaugh, Roland R. Gilbert, Robert L. Wolfe and James A. Kerins.

Slashing Fray Is Probed By Police

Dave Gunter, restaurateur, now residing at McHenry, underwent surgery Monday at Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland and was reported in "critical" condition, state police said, from arm and leg wounds thought self-inflicted during a disturbance at his home early Monday morning.

His wife, Mrs. Marie Gunter, 47, underwent treatment for wounds she sustained when apparently attacked by her husband, was reported "good".

Corporal Samuel Conrad of the State police, said Mr. Gunter had deeps cuts of both wrists and one ankle, apparently inflicted with a bread knife, and lost a considerable amount of blood. Mrs. Gunter had severe head and face lacerations after being struck by a 10-inch wooden pepper mallet believed wielded by her husband in a sudden assault which occurred about 6:30 Monday at the couple's trailer-house.

Cpl. Conrad and representatives of the sheriff's office were called to the Gunter trailer by a neighbor after Mrs. Gunter fled and called for help

They said Mrs. Gunter apparently was asleep in her home when she was attacked and struck over the head with the wooden mallet. She wrested free and ran to a nearby house owned by Mark Saltzer, who called police.

When the authorities arrived they said they found Mr. Gunter lying in a pool of blood on the floor of his trailer. He was unconscious.

Both Mr. Gunter and wife were rushed to the hospital by ambulance and police said they were unable to talk much to either of them because of their injuries. They questioned Mrs. Gunter briefly.

The 65-year-old restauranteur and his wife operated a restaurant at McHenry for the past several months. Mr. Gunter formerly owned and operated Gunter's restaurant in LaVale and previously operated a restaurant at Frostburg and a hotel and ski resort in Guntertown, along route 40, near Grantsville. He has been in the restaurant business most of his life.

His condition this morning was reported as somewhat improved.

Continuing the investigation are Cpl. Conrad, Sheriff James E. Frantz, and Deputy Sheriff Bruce Close, and W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney.

ENGLANDER'S PHARMACY Monthly News
A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

Important Information For Graduates
The practice of pharmacy is a worthwhile career for anyone who likes people. Upon graduation from a college of pharmacy and passing a state examination, registered pharmacists are immediately able to earn a good salary.

Pharmacy Studies Are Interesting.
Courses include Chemistry, Hygiene, Biology, Physiology, Physics, Mathematics, Anatomy, Latin, Economics and Prescription Compounding. You will learn the properties and dosage of every medicine, herb or chemical.

Some Day You Can Own A Pharmacy.
Operating a pharmacy is not just a business. Your first concern will be your customer's welfare, because the Code of Ethics of Pharmacy directs every pharmacist to consider his customer's better health to be more important than greater profits.

Tuition Rates Are Reasonable.
Many students of pharmacy earn them during the summer vacations, while serving an apprenticeship in a drug store. If you want to study pharmacy and have good high school grades we will be glad to give you more information.

their forces for the purpose of destruction. They are separated only by a narrow strip of water as they pace restlessly back and forth, snarling insults at each other.

"We, the newest generation, may be criticized for having too much handed to us on a silver platter. We are able to have many material things which our parents could never hope to have had at our ages. Perhaps we are living in an age of luxury. But beneath our soft seat of luxury lies a horrible time bomb that quietly ticks off the minutes and seconds—the seconds until the moment when we become complacent or lax. When that time comes life as we know it will end.

No. The world you have given us upon your silver platter is far from a life of ease. Do you dare to think? You have given us the destiny of the world on your silver platter; and we do dare to think: we are not the 'best generation'—we have begun to fight. With God's help we accept the challenge."

Revision Is Made in Fire Insurance Rate

A general revision in the... which will bring pre... miums of more than... each year to policyholders in... Maryland was announced by F... Douglas Stone, state insurance commissioner. The new rates will be made effective on new and renewal policies on June 1.

The general revision will result in a reduction of approximately 7 percent in fire insurance premiums. The reductions are based upon favorable fire loss experience in the last six years.

One of the largest decreases is on private dwellings, where rates have been reduced 25 percent. Rates on household furniture have been reduced 5 percent.

Rates on mercantile buildings have been increased 5 percent and on business risks 20 percent. There are other increases for certain types of buildings.

Raymond Henry Bonner was reported in "fair" condition at Miners hospital in Frostburg. The man was suffering from a right eye injury and scalp wound.

The accident occurred on U. S. route 9 about 8 p. m., according to Tfc Charles H. DeWitt, investigating officer. The accident was the only serious accident reported by State police of the area over the Memorial day holiday.

Grantsville Loses To Hyndman 8-2

Hyndman Merchants chalked up a victory Sunday in the Penn Mar Baseball league by defeating Grantsville Stangers at Hyndman 8 to 2. The game dropped Grantsville into a tie for fourth place.

Robert Secrist... a 5-hitter and registered his fourth triumph against a single loss as Hyndman racked up its 8th win in nine starts at the expense of Grantsville. Robert Keister, who was replaced by Ritchie in the sixth absorbed the loss.

Junie Perry slammed a homer over left field barrier in the fourth inning for Grantsville, and rapped a two-bagger in the eighth. Keister yielded six hits, walked five and fanned one in five and one-half innings.

Grantsville and fireballing Dave Richards knocked Salisbury from the runner-up spot on Saturday with an 8-6 triumph at Grantsville.

Richards who fanned eight and gave up six hits, hurled a one-hitter until the top half of the ninth. Salisbury's Gordon Oester smacked a grand slam home run, following three singles, in the last inning to account for the Cards' five-run inning. Jim Keister and Ray Ware got two singles each and Richard got a double.

Students Told Not

others for blocking our path when in reality we are standing in our own way, and he pointed out Jacob of the Old Testament as one of the classic examples.

Like Jacob, he pointed out we must get out of our own way if we are to get to ourselves.

By standing in our way he told the students "we may not only avoid seeing some of the unpleasant aspects of ourselves but we may also fail to see some of the undeveloped possibilities of our own natures."

He continued: "Life never comes to us ready made. Existence is what we find. Life is what we make with the talents given to us for exercise. Whether one chooses good or bad he still must pay. If we choose the evil we get what we want at once and then pay for it afterward; but when we choose good we have to pay for it first before we get it."

With all the dark clouds on the horizon he pictured this day as offering more possibilities, more unexplored frontiers, more opportunities and more help to achieve these than any other day.

He pointed out also that we must get out of our own way in order to get to others. He said the whole way of life depended upon ability to build bridges of understanding between persons and nations.

Mr. Godwin was emphatic in declaring it was his firm belief that "Democracy cannot survive without a rebirth of Christian idealism incarnate (finding expression) in lives like our own." If you are enjoying or attempt to enjoy the blessings of this land and its way of life without giving obedience to the God that has founded it, you are a free-loader. No amount of boasting of the faith of parents or grandparents will compensate for our lack of faith if we are serious about the present and future of this glorious land."

Returning to Jacob for his final point he showed that when Jacob got himself out of the way God gave him His blessing. He took Martin Luther's most important question, "How does a man get right with God?" and proceeded to tell the students why youth just graduating must find that answer just as every other person must. "As capable as you are, you are going to need help through this life." He expressed the faith that the members of the graduating class would come through both morally and spiritually.

At Northern the Rev. William E. Carlson, Accident, delivered the invocation and prayer. The senior chorus sang "I May Never Pass This Way Again" and the audience joined in the singing of two hymns. Mrs. Lucille Sines served as organist and director and played the processional and recessional as the Seniors marched slowly to and from their seats.

At Southern the Rev. William C. Rogers gave the invocation and Miss Barbara Colabrese played "Grand March". Mrs. Ruth C. Brown directed the senior chorus in the singing of two numbers. The congregation also sang two numbers.

Drivers Not Guilty In Recent Mishap

Two truck drivers, one from Friendsville, were found not guilty on motor law charges after a lengthy hearing in Trial Magistrate's court in Frederick last week.

Both men were involved in an accident April 30 on U. S. route 40 east of the Jug Bridge.

Trooper Joseph Lechliter, presenting the state's evidence, had charged William H. Carter, of Baltimore, driver for a tractor-trailer with a cargo of acid, with reckless driving. Carter's truck plunged down an embankment after the accident and he was trapped in his truck for over an hour.

Trooper Lechliter charged G. Emerson Bishoff, Friendsville, with failure to have tail lights. Bishoff was driving a stake body truck loaded with fertilizer.

Both men were traveling west. Carter said that he thought that the Bishoff truck was stopped in the road and pointed out that he cut to the right of the truck to avoid a collision. He said that he did not see any lights on the Bishoff truck.

Bishoff testified that he had had light and water trouble with his truck but that he previously checked his lights and they were on. He said he had four reflectors on the rear of his truck and he was traveling about 35 miles per hour. A witness for Bishoff, Randall Fike, Friendsville, who was knocked unconscious in the accident, said that Bishoff had lights and that he was moving slowly at the time of the accident. Another witness, James Falkenstein, was not allowed to testify, when it was shown he did not become familiar with the accident until the following day.

Edward D. Storm, serving as magistrate, said there was insufficient evidence to find either man guilty of the charges.

Area Slander Suit Moved to Frederick

A suit growing out of an alleged slanderous statement made to a group of truck drivers has been moved from Washington county to Frederick county on motion for a change of venue.

Cecil E. Lewis, a restaurant-service station operator near Oakland, entered the suit against Robert Broderick and the Accelerated Transport Pony Express, Inc. It was claimed that Broderick, an officer of the company, made the alleged statement damaging the reputation of Lewis at a meeting of drivers of the association.

At a jury trial in Washington County Court last July, verdicts for $10,000 against Broderick and $5,000 against the Accelerated Transport firm were handed down. A new trial was granted and the verdicts stricken. Then a judgment n.o.v. in favor of Accelerated Transport was returned.

Attorneys for the plaintiff appealed this judgment to the Court of Appeals which remanded the case to the Circuit Court without affirmation or reversal for the new trial.

The motion for a change of venue on which the case was removed to Frederick county was made by counsel for Accelerated Transport.

Gov. Tawes declared that a free flow of ideas among peoples of the world is essential to the establishment of a lasting peace.

Ski Area Moved

The Weiss Knob ski area has been moved to the Lindsey Reed farm in Tucker county's Canaan valley.

Robert T. Barton III, president of the corporation, said the ski center was moved because there was too much wind on the former ski slope to manufacture snow, and because the new site has about three times as large an area to develop.

A lift line, some 3,500 feet long, was completed recently and surveys are being made to determine the design of the new lift and artificial snow machinery.

A new double chair lift will have facilities for over 6000 skiers an hour and is expected to be ready for operation by October 1. The development which will include a skating rink, is estimated to cost $175,000.

The new area is located back of Bald Knob but will still be known as Weiss Knob so as not to be confused with the Bald Knob ski area near Beckley, W. Va.

5 Youths Are Held In Fatal Stoning

Five youths of Prince George county pending latest juveniles have been charged in the death of a 37-year-old Bloomington man who police say was fatally injured during a rock throwing fracas.

The victim was Donald Lee Moorehead, who was employed in Washington as a painter, and died in District of Columbia General hospital of a heart attack while being operated on for a ruptured spleen. The coroner said the rupture was caused by a rock which struck Moorehead during a stoning incident May 10.

The five were rounded up after a week of intensive investigation. Lt. Earl J. Huber, Prince Georges county detective, said manslaughter charges have been filed against James B. A. Duvall, 18, Coral Hills; Raymond F. Burke, 20, Bradbury Park. They have been released on $500 bond each pending a preliminary hearing June 11 in a police court at Hyattsville.

The juveniles were identified as a 15-year-old District Heights boy and two brothers, 16 and 17, from Morningside. They have been charged on juvenile petitions and released to their parents pending juvenile court action. Police said they would request the State's Attorney to have the court waive jurisdiction and allow the three to be tried as adults for manslaughter.

All the teenagers are students at Suitland High school and Burke is unemployed.

At the time the stoning incident came to light Sgt. Albert F. Mode, of the Washington police, said Moorehead was injured when the five threw stones at the victim and a group of men who were drinking beer in a wooded area in Coral Hills. The youths had asked for some of the beer and when refused retaliated with a barrage of stones. Another man was also injured.

Moorehead received two broken ribs in addition to the spleen injury but did not enter the hospital until May 14.

Moorehead was a native of Beryl, W. Va., and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Moorehead, of Bloomington. He was a World War II veteran. The body was returned to Westernport for burial.

Eggs Are Excellent Summertime Buy

Eggs are an excellent buy at this time of the year. It's now possible to buy three dozen eggs, of the Grade A variety, for a dollar, points out William G. Langston, University of Maryland poultry marketing specialist.

Nutritionally, eggs are an excellent buy because you get one and one-half pounds of high quality food per dozen. This one and one-half pounds is "chock-full" of high quality proteins, vitamins and minerals.

"Where else," Langston asks, "can you get so much high energy food for a dollar?"

Eggs are perfect for summertime meals. So simple to prepare. So delicious to eat. Eggs add appeal to any meal, and they can be fixed in a variety of ways.

Summer is the ideal time for enjoying deviled eggs; cool looking egg salad; pickled eggs; or just cold hard boiled eggs with your favorite beverage. Of course, every day starts off better when you have a good breakfast of eggs and bacon or other meats.

For health and economy, Langston recommends be sure to include several dozens of "natures finest food package" in your shopping basket this week.

Ed Jones asked me to go fishing with him last Sunday morning and when I said I was going to church he asked, "WHY?" For a moment, I was stymied. I just couldn't think of a good answer. Matter of fact, it has taken me all week to think of the reply I want to give Ed. Here it is.

Why do I go to church, Ed? Why do I breathe? Why do I smile when I see the sun in the morning, or shiver when I'm cold? Why do I love my wife and kids, and lose my temper when the lawn mower breaks down? Because I'm human, because I'm a man — and because I have a God whom I love. This God cares enough about me to have sent His only Son to make the most supreme of all sacrifices — for me, and for you, Ed Jones, and for all of us.

I go to church to worship that God. I do not go to beg, but to thank Him for what He has given me. I go to ask Him for guidance and forgiveness. I don't have to ask Him for His love. I have that. So have you. So have we all."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Lust For Power

IS THERE one sin from which all other sins come? Many theologians think there must be; but they do not all agree on what sin is the root-sin of all the rest. One sin which has been singled out for this doubtful honor has been called "the lust for power." It is not wrong to desire power; otherwise Jesus would have severely condemned the two disciples who wanted to sit on thrones at his right and left. It is not wrong to wish to influence other persons, otherwise it would be a sin to run for president of anything. Nevertheless, desire for power can be so exaggerated that it becomes a passion, a soul-destroying passion.

Dr. Foreman

Law and the Lust for Power

There is a first-class example of how the lust for power can run away with a man, an example of how other sins are spawned by this one, in the Bible story of King Ahab and the private citizen named Naboth. Nearly all readers of the Bible know this story, and those who do not know it should look it up (see the references given here), for it is a dramatic story. King Ahab was of course one of the wealthiest men in the kingdom. He had all he needed and more besides. But he wanted the vineyard of the small farmer Naboth. He wanted it so much that he was willing to break the law of the land, he was willing to go even as far as murder, to get what he wanted.

Ahab could never have got that vineyard by legal means. If Naboth did not want to sell, there was no law to make him. More than that, according to the law of those times, Naboth was required to hold on to his property. Ancient Hebrew law saw to it that every family was provided with land, and must not get rid of their landed property, large or small. Ahab was at first "stumped" by this fact. But spurred by his wife Jezebel, a sort of Lady Macbeth, Ahab broke right through the law, using perjury and murder before he was through, all to get that one vineyard.

Priority for use or for Power?

History is filled with examples of men who have been so mad for power that, like Ahab they paid no attention to laws that would have held them back from what they wanted. We have seen these men in our time in Hitler abroad, and in some men in high places in our own country.

But there's another thing about the lust for power. Why is it that many persons seem unable to stop acquiring property? Long after they can no longer use it, long after they have enough, they keep on going, they never get up to the same one, they want more and more. The thing becomes almost a disease.

One wise thinker of our times believes that this sort of thing, the sort of thing Ahab did, is a case of wanting security overmuch. A man wants to feel safe, so he piles up wealth and property around him like walls to shut out misfortune. He does not care who he hurts, just so he himself is safe. Another thinker sees in all this evidence to support the proposition that while property for use is a good thing, property for power alone is dangerous to society and that wanting to have what you cannot use is a sin.

My Rights and my Reach

One thing is certain: the prophet Elijah, being God's man and not the king's, saw no good in what Ahab had done. There was nothing in being a king which gave a man the right to disregard other people, nothing in being a king that gave a man the right to smash the laws of God. Ahab must have thought, "My rights go as far as I can reach." But the fact is, the true rights of a man, especially a strong man, are very seldom as big as his reach. To put that into other words: Don't think that because you can get by with it you have a right to do anything you please.

When you, whoever you are, begin to think your rights outrank all others' rights, take care. The sin has already begun to work in you too.

By DICK CASTILOW

The seniors were really shook as they took that big step and had the product of twelve years hard work placed into their reluctant hands. This is always the case at commencement. It seems like it will be a long hard struggle until one reaches the time of graduation. The first of last week the seniors were all happy and eager to be out of school forever. Now, well, they aren't quite so sure that this was the thing they had been waiting for and working toward for twelve long years. I often wondered why the graduation exercise was called commencement. Now I seem to realize. Mr. Webster defines commencement as follows: Commencement n. 1. A commencing; beginning. I feel that Mr. Webster explains it right there. It is a commencing or a beginning to another very important era in our lives. It means the time when we will reach higher educational plateaus by going on to college, it means reaching the phase when adult responsibilities must be met; also, when we might assume the responsibilities and the newest and best part for some girls, a husband and a family. Thus things are all a beginning, they all add up to one thing, responsibility.

I wonder what will happen to the Ivy Leaguers now that they are all graduated and starting in different directions. They had a good sound and they were always well received by the general public as well as the high school circles.

What is everyone going to do now that Teen-Age club is finished for this year. I can't seem to find anything to do besides go to the movies and the lake. I wish they had a nice teen canteen here in town like they do in Frostburg and many other small towns as well as large cities. The old bakery building would be a good spot for that. Some place where the kids could go in and drink a coke and dance a little. It could have hours like seven 'til ten. A parent could come each night and chaperone. The kids could handle the concession themselves. I think the town or some club could do this without much expense or work. I think that if we had the material and the place ourselves that the work could be done by the teen-agers.

Well! I can dream, can't I?

Sly Red Fox ------

"A once upon a time" story appeared recently in the U. S. News and World Report, part of an advertisement by Warner and Swasey of Cleveland, makers of precision machinery. It was entitled "The Horse and the red Fox who demanded more purchasing power." It is a timely story in a time of a push for a shorter work week with same or more wages, and no increase in production. The story goes like this:

"Once upon a time there was a Horse and a Farmer who both worked hard. They raised enough, six days a week, to feed Horse and Farmer well, and save a surplus for new tools when needed.

"Then a sly red Fox slipped into the barn one night and told the Horse he was being exploited. . if he'd work less but demand as much feed as ever, he would increase the purchasing power of all horses and they'd all be better off.

"This wasn't quite clear to the horse he (wondered why the other horses didn't work hard enough for their own good) but the Fox was persuasive. (Of course the Fox knew better, but he was a good talker and as long as he flattered the Horse, the big fellow gave him some of his own feed so the Fox didn't have to work.)

"So the Horse just lay down in the field after 5 days' work and the worried Farmer, thinking he was sick, cut the work week to 5 days but gave the Horse as much food as ever, making up for it by eating less himself.

"Then the Horse made the Farmer promise he'd feed him that even if crops failed. The Farmer was supposed by buy feed out of profits, but by this time there weren't any. Next the Horse, egged on by the Fox, announced that to increase purchasing power he was going to work only 4 days a week.

About that time the plow broke and the Farmer, no longer having any surplus, couldn't buy a new one. And he knew he couldn't keep the farm going with only four day's work. So he sorrowfully took the Horse to the Dog meat factory and sold the farm.

"And the grinning sly red Fox slipped away to find another foolish horse he could talk into keeping him well fed.

"Just before the choppers in the meat factory hit the horse he wondered if this talk of increased purchasing power wasn't all for the Fox, after all."

Letters Protesting Water Rate Increase In Mt. Lake Park

A protest campaign by letter against the proposed water rate increase for the town of Mt. Lake Park appeared to be gaining headway this week. Residents of that town were writing in sizeable numbers to the Public Service commission, asking for a hearing on the situation.

On May 28 the Mt. Lake Water company, Inc., published a notice in The Republican, signed by T. W. Stockslager, president, that it had filed with the Public Service Commission of Maryland amended rates for water service in Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn Heights and adjacent territory in the county, to become effective July 1.

It announced the following: for tapping a main and installing service line to curb $50; rate for domestic customers, quarterly, one family residence, $5; first bathroom or toilet, extra $2.50; additional bathroom, $1; use of hose, $1 extra; use of automatic clothes washer, $1 extra.

For metered water service: first 1,000 gallons, $2 per quarter; 60 cents per thousand for over first 1,000; minimum bill for domestic customers $5; commercial and industrial customers, $6.

Former Rates Listed

Rates at present are as published in booklet, effective July 1, 1948: one family service, residence only, $3.50; first bath, extra $2.50; additional bathroom $1.50, use of hose extra, $1.00.

For metered water service: first 1,000 gallons, per quarter, $1.50; next 9,000 gallons 60 cents per 1,000 gallons; over 10,000 gallons, 50 cents per thousand. Minimum bill for domestic customers was $1.50 per quarter, commercial and industrial customers, $6.

Statistics Given On School Lunches

How many lunches were served at the cafeteria at Southern this past year? Supposing you were asked this question; what would your guess be?

If you had guessed 100,000, you wouldn't be too far wrong. According to a report prepared by Carl Everly, vice principal at the local school, 105,176 lunches were served to students and adults. Slightly over 5200 free lunches were served to needy children.

More than 180,000 of half pints of milk were also sold.

The yearly report also showed a profit of $1,906.53. However, this fund will be depleted with the purchase of a new dish washing machine which is expected to be installed this summer at a cost of about $1700. A new stainless steel machine will replace the present machine which has been in use since the school opened.

Mr. Everly and Mr. Johns both praised Mrs. Rollman, cafeteria manager, and her staff for another fine year of service at the local school.

Plan Special Session

The Oakland Chapter of the Barbershoppers, singing group, is planning an "Old Timers' Night" on Friday, June 12 at the Mt. Lake Hotel beginning at 8 o'clock.

Participating will be the Oakland Chapter Chorus, the Mountainaires, the Vocal Yokels, the Stereo Phonies.

Mill Accident Is Fatal To Mt. Lake Man

Lloyd J. Stark, Westvaco Firm Employe, Falls Into Machine

A 44 year old resident of Mt. Lake Park, employed by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke, was killed Sunday afternoon when he fell into a mixing agitator and had his right leg severed.

Officials said Lloyd J. Stark, formerly of Westernport, died of shock and loss of blood due to amputation of his leg at the upper thigh.

The accident occurred about 4 p. m. as Mr. Stark was working alone in one section of the machine coating department. He was employed as a coating mixer and had worked at the Luke mill for 26 years.

Mr. Stark had reported for work on the evening shift at 3 p. m. His absence was noticed shortly after 4 o'clock and Austin Fisher, shift supervisor, began a search for him.

Mr. Fisher found the man lying beside the mixing machine, his leg cut from his body. The plant physician, Dr. Robert Bess, announced him dead.

Officials said the agitator is used for mixing paper coating in the company's process for making paper.

Mr. Stark was born in Connellsville, Pa., a son of Mrs. Nancy Longi Stark who resided with him, and the late Lloyd Stark. He had moved to Mt. Lake Park in March from Westernport.

He was graduated from Bruce High School, class of 1933, and belonged to the Mt. Lake Park Evangelical United Brethren Church. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen (Bittinger) Stark, a son, John Lloyd Stark, Red Bank, N. J.; a sister, Mrs. Nellie Jaralewitz, Westernport, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday from the Leighton Funeral home in Oakland by Rev. Bryan Blair, pastor of the Mt. Lake Park E.U.B. Church, assisted by Rev. Robert Shade, pastor of Mt. Calvary Lutheran church Westernport, and Rev. Robert Cassell, Lexington, Ky., a former pastor at Mt. Calvary.

Interment was in Philos cemetery, Westernport.

Turkey Production Program Is Started

Turkeys are now being started in the county for the 4-H-F.F.A. Maryland Turkey Production Program, according to E. Rankin Lusby, assistant county agent.

This year the 4-H and F.F.A. Projects are combined into a single program. Changes also include the fact that there will be no maximum. The minimum of 25 poults of one strain or varieties required.

Anyone enrolled in 4-H Club or Vocational Agriculture work is eligible to participate. There is still time to start the project as the last date for submitting entries is July 1st. Members interested may obtain further information by contacting their Assistant County Agent or Vo-Ag Instructor.

This project is divided into two phases which are Turkey Production Records and Dressed Turkey Show. The reason for this, Lusby explained, is to teach by doing the economical production of high quality turkeys and the selection of high quality birds which are well fleshed and properly dressed, to meet favorable consumer appeal.

County participants last year included Harold Schmidt, Ronald Beitzel, Thomas Magruder, Jr., and Dwight Glotfelty.

Dave Gunter Taken To V. A. Hospital

The 66 year old restauranteur was admitted to the hospital here Monday of last week in "critical" condition from arm and leg wounds reportedly self inflicted at his trailer home at McHenry. His wife was also admitted to the local hospital with head and face injuries allegedly sustained when her husband attacked her with a 10 inch wooden pepper masher.

She was a patient in the county hospital until last Saturday, when she was released.

A petition was filed Saturday in Garrett County Circuit Court by W. Dwight Stover to have a committee appointed to handle the person and affairs of Mr. Gunter.

The petition listed the necessity as arising from the age, mental depression and fatigue of the patient. S. R. Pagenhardt and Walter W. Dawson were appointed by the court as the committee.

Lake Claims Life Of Man

Marion F. Reeves Drowns When Falls From Boat

The body of Marion F. Reeves, 61 year old fisherman, was recovered from Deep Creek Lake Sunday morning following an accidental drowning late Saturday night.

Dr. James H. Feaster, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to accidental drowning when Mr. Reeves apparently fell from his boat while fishing in the Green Glade and Hazelhurst sections.

Sheriff James Frantz, Oakland said his office received a report about 10:30 p. m., Saturday that Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Horner, of Westernport, also fishing in the same area, had found Mr. Reeves' small outboard motorboat anchored in 12 feet of water.

It was empty, the sheriff said, although Mr. Reeves' fishing jacket and personal belongings were still in the boat.

An immediate search of the lake waters was begun, and a partially filled gasoline container was found floating nearby. The cap on the gasoline tank of the outboard motor was lying on a seat of the boat and the tank was nearly empty, he added.

Although darkness prevented a full scale search Saturday night, Sheriff Frantz made arrangements to begin dragging the lake Sunday morning. Members of the dead man's family and some friends, however, continued an all night search without success.

Line Snags Body

Sunday morning, as preparations were being made to begin dragging the lake, two fishermen, Carl A. Hinebaugh and his brother, Donald, of Oakland, lifted their fishing line and found Mr. Reeves' body snagged to it. They held the body with a rope under his arms, until the arrival of another fishing couple, William Stewart and son, Jimmy, also of Oakland, who assisted in taking the body to shore.

The sheriff said members of Mr. Reeves' family told him the man had been fishing on the lake all day Saturday. He was accompanied by his son, Donald Reeves, of La-Vale, until evening when he returned to the lake alone.

The authorities think Mr. Reeves was attempting to pour gasoline into the tank of his outboard motor when he slipped or tipped the boat and fell into the water. His body was found only a few feet from his boat.

The sheriff said no inquest is planned.

Mr. Reeves was born in Leesburg, Va., and for 38 years had been employed by the C. and A. Gas company. He held membership in the Piedmont, W. Va., Rotary club, Trinity Methodist Church and the Gasco club of the gas company.

He is survived by his widow and two sons. Funeral services were held yesterday in Westernport and interment was in Philos cemetery there.

Honor Roll Students Equally Divided In Jr. And Sr. Highs

Final honor roll students were equally divided between Junior and Senior High students according to Kenneth Johns, principal at the Southern High school. Sixty-eight students in the Junior High School received honor roll recognition while sixty-seven received such recognition in the senior high school.

In order for a student to be reported for the honor roll, he must not have a single grade below a B. "Student who were named to the final honor roll are to be commended," Mr. Johns said, "since this represents just slightly more than 12 of the student body." Grade nine showed the highest number of students on the honor roll. Twenty-eight students obtained this distinction. Grades seven and twelve were tied for second place, each reporting twenty-six honor roll students.

Francis Scott Key's Silver Pieces

By PAUL B. NAYLOR

Since its organization the Garrett County Historical Society has received many gifts. Some are rare and priceless items of historical importance, highly prized and more than noteworthy in the growing collection are two pieces of silver, a fork and spoon. They were among the wedding gifts of the author of our National Anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," Francis Scott Key, a Marylander born in Frederick. In 1802 he led Mary Taylor Lloyd to the altar.

Howard Summer Cottage

Miss Frances Key Howard, the donor of the silver pieces, is their descendant. She is descended too from another Marylander whose name is writ in glowing letters on history's scroll, General John Eager Howard, who organized the defense of Baltimore in 1814.

She was a charter member of our Society and is a life member.

On the silver fork handle is the engraved monogram, "F.S.K." The spoon bears a heraldic crest, a falcon holding in its beak a flag. It may have been among the bride's gifts.

In Francis Scott Key's time and earlier the silver in tableware was of nearly the same degree of purity as that used in coinage. Pure silver was too soft for ordinary wear. To give it hardness and durability copper alloy was added, about 12 parts of silver to one of copper. Tax assessors listed this silverware by ounces, along with the real estate, slaves, horses and cattle and other possessions. Sometimes a family's surplus funds were converted into this "plate", as it was then called. In time of need it could be exchanged for silver coin, nearly weight for weight.

If every schoolboy knows of the circumstances attending the writing of the national anthem, still and all a good tale bears several tellings.

On the night of Sept. 13th, 1814, Francis Scott Key, then 34 years old, was aboard a warship of the British fleet bombarding Fort McHenry. He had been rowed out during the preceding day to solicit the release of a friend whom the British had arrested. Himself detained he witnessed the naval and shore gun duel.

After the battle at Bladensburg on Aug. 24th the invaders had marched into Washington unopposed. They applied the torch to the Capitol, the White House, other government buildings, and pillaged Alexandria. They supposed a richer prize, Baltimore, would be an easy conquest.

General John Eager Howard, then 66, had two weeks or so during which to organize the city's defense. He fortified it with earth embankments and batteries of artillery, and gathered together 14,000 militiamen.

The British fleet sailed up the Chesapeake Bay and landed 4500 soldiers and marines within easy marching distance of Baltimore. They were tough and seasoned veterans. Many had fought in Spain under Wellington, and the Iron Duke himself had chosen their leader, General Robert Ross. The latter had heard of Howard's inexperienced troops and swore that he would take Baltimore "even if it rained militiamen." At North Point on Sept. 12th an American army was drawn up and a sharp action lasted three hours or so. The British loss was heavy, 300. Among the dead was the commander, General Ross. The invaders remained in possession of the field, the American force withdrawing toward the city.

The British land force needed the cooperation of the fleet, which McHenry commanded the water approach. Before the fleet could pass those guns had to be silenced. This was undertaken during 25 hours of artillery fighting, ship to shore and back to ship.

The action is described in the stirring and unforgettable lines of the Anthem. Above the British army licked its wounds, but still confident and full of boast, girded its loins for the assault when the warships got past the Fort.

Where the foe's haughty host
In dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze
O'er the towering steep
As it fitfully blows,
Half conceals half discloses?
'Tis the Star Spangled Banner.
Oh, long may it wave,
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave."

Released next day the Lawyer-poet hastened to Baltimore and penned the lines more enduring than the inscription graven upon his granite tomb. When the owner got that manuscript last changed it was at a cost of $26.50. It is now the possession of the Maryland Historical Society generously donated by Mrs. Thomas Courtney Jenkins in memory of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Key Jenkins, a kinswoman of Francis Scott Key.

Fort McHenry and Baltimore had proved to be for the invader like an overturned nest of giant hornets with lethal stings. They reembarked on the transports and the fleet set sail for Halifax.

General John Eager Howard was an eminent patriot, soldier, and statesman of his time. A Lieutenant Colonel during the Revolutionary War, he was awarded a medal by Congress for gallantry at Cowpens, and was wounded at Eutaw Springs. After the war he served his state as Congressman, Governor, and Senator. He declined a call to the cabinet as Secretary of War in 1795. In 1798 he was made a Brigadier General when war with France threatened.

His well-deserved fame is kept generous by the lines in another eloquent appeal to the patriotic feeling:

"Remember Carroll's sacred trust,
Remember Howard's warlike thrust,
And all thy sumbrers with the just,
Maryland, My Maryland."

Glades Hotel and Oakland Railroad Station, 1857

In 1825 Elizabeth Phoebe, eldest daughter of Francis Scott Key became the bride of Charles Howard, youngest son of General Howard. In 1857 Mrs. Charles Howard, her children and her mother, the widow of Francis Scott Key, came for the first time to this area. Thereafter except during the years of the Civil War members of each generation of the family came each summer. In the words of Frances Key Howard, "a very deep love for Oakland and Garrett County is born into and inherited by all the descendants of Francis Scott Key," and in due season they returned "always with a deep sense of homecoming, of belonging in great part to Garrett County."

McHenry Howard, father of Frances Key Howard, was a distinguished soldier during the War Between the States, serving on the staffs of Generals Charles S. Winder George H. Steuart, and Isaac R. Trimble. During the desperate and bloody struggle at the famous "Angle" at Spottsylvania he and General Steuart were made prisoners of war.

His book "recollections of a Maryland Confederate Soldier and Staff Officer," printed in a limited edition and now a collector's item, is among the most valued books in the Society's collection. It was also a donation of members of the Howard family. Source material was drawn from it by several notable historians, Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, and Clifford Dowdey, among them.

The McHenry family, kinfolk of the Howards, also appear in the Garrett County story. James McHenry, the first to come to the area, served on the staff of General George Washington, and later with Lafayette. In after years he was Secretary of War. Fort McHenry, built at this time, was named for him. One Garrett County town was given his name. Nearby once stood his dwelling.

His son, John McHenry, married Juliana, daughter of John Eager Howard. Their descendants and those of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard, spent many summer vacations together in Garrett County.

Nearly ninety years ago Alice Key Howard, daughter of Mrs. Charles Howard, bought a small hunting lodge, to which additions and wings were later built. The house at 70 Alder street in Oakland continues to be each summer occupied by members of the Howard family.

Fresh Water Fishing Now In Full Swing

Fresh water fishing in Garrett county came into full swing on June 1 with opening of the bass and pickerel seasons and a report of activities around Deep Creek Lake was prepared this week by Cecil C. Edwards, fish culturist assistant of the Game and Inland Fish commission.

He said a large number of fishermen tried out their luck with many of them being rewarded with catches of largemouth bass, smallmouth bass or pickerel. Largest one reported June 1 was a largemouth bass measuring 21½ inches and weighing 6½ pounds caught by Red Lantz by Frank Beachl, of route, Oakland. Mr. Seidel also landed another largemouth measuring 19 inches.

Jack Worring, Kingwood, trolling with an Abu spinner caught three chain pickerel, 19½, 19 and 14 inches, two northern Pike 18 and 15 inches, two Rock bass and one 11-inch smallmouth bass. Lake Lanoma, Pittsburgh, caught a 17-inch Walleye of 2 pounds near Paradise point.

Lee Wyatt landed a largemouth bass 22 inches long, weighing 6½ pounds, just below the Deep Creek bridge. E. G. Davis, Uniontown, W. Va., said he had landed quite a few. Among them was a 14-inch yellow perch.

An 18½ inch smallmouth was caught above Glendale bridge by an unidentified county fisherman. Cecil Wilburn, Grantsville, caught a smallmouth bass measuring 17 inches. He also hooked one 21½ inches long in the vicinity of Harvey's peninsula.

Other successful fishermen in recent days, Tommy Wells, 8, Morgantown, 17½ inch chain pickerel near Holy Cross, with an Abu spinner. A jaw tag showed the fish was stocked in March of this year; Cecil Wells, 21½ inch largemouth weighing 5 pounds near Deep Creek bridge, and two 18-inch northern Pike, one Walleye and several pickerel, 16 to 22 inches.

A belated report of a 27½ inch brown trout was caught at Glendale bridge by Charles Belvard, of

Epidemic of Fly Disease In State

From all parts of Maryland specimens of dead flies have been coming to the University, with a double query "What are they?", and "What should be done about them."

Ted Bissell, Extension entomologist, University of Maryland College of Agriculture, reports that the flies are all of one species and are apparently the victims of an epidemic disease. This is the first year such an outbreak of disease has been noted in this species of fly in Maryland.

Often the sender accompanies the specimens with some trouble of a variety shrub or vegetable such as tomato, tobacco, flowers, fruit trees, weeds, and vegetables. They have been reported on house and clothes lines. There may be just one here and there, or there may be dozens. Close inspection will show that they usually cluster on the backs of the flies. Each mite is a tiny reproduction of the adult. Such dead flies have been observed by entomologists in [illegible]

Creel census interviews indicate that approximately 50 percent of the fishermen are being successful. In addition to bass and pickerel there are scattered catches of Black Crappie, Bluegills and Brown Bullheads, and a few rainbow from the latter in the vicinity of Johnny's Bait House.

Edwards asked fishermen to watch for tagged fish and to report tag number and when and where the fish was caught. The information may be reported at Johnny's Bait House to the creel census man or to any game warden or fishery personnel listed in the Angler's guide.

Is Your Name GRAHAM?

Graham, an old and honored surname, is of at least two derivations. According to some authorities on nomenclature, it stems from the Old English personal name Graeme which means "fierce or warlike". It is obtained also from the Old English "graegham" denoting "gray home", and in this connection it served in medieval times to indicate those who lived in such houses. It is said that the Grahams lived first in England and then went to Wales where they founded the town of Grahamsport, later known as Groomsport. Subsequently, during the 12th century, members of the family moved to Scotland where they have distinguished themselves in all walks of life.

Mary Barber Graham (1720-1791) of Charlotte, North Carolina was a widow whose three sons served with distinction in the Continental troops during the Revolutionary War. She herself aided the cause of the colonists by nursing the wounded.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has nine listings of persons by the name of Graham who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

"Memoirs of the Graham Family" was written by Anne Kendrick Walker and published in 1908 by T. A. Wright of New York City.

Graham County, North Carolina was named for William A. Graham (1804-1875), United States senator from that state and also Secretary of the Navy in the cabinet of President Fillmore.

Sylvester Graham (1794-1851) was an American Presbyterian clergyman and the inventor of "Graham bread".

Horace French Graham (1862-1941) was governor of Vermont.

Edward Kidder Graham (1876-1918) was president, University of North Carolina.

William Johnson Graham (1872-1936) was presiding judge, U.S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, Washington, D. C.

Clarence Henry Graham is professor of psychology at Columbia University.

Barnett Dent Graham is vice-president in charge of marketing, H. J. Heinz Company, Pittsburgh, Pa.

George Adams Graham is professor of politics at Princeton University.

Attendance Good At Southern High

Slightly more than 8 of Southern's total enrollment completed the past school year with a perfect attendance record.

In figures released this week by the principal, W. Kenneth Johns, eighty nine students out of the 1099 pupils enrolled at the conclusion of the year had not missed a single day of school during the year.

Bonnie Nally, a member of the class of 1959 was awarded special recognition for having not missed a day of school in eight years. Three other members of the graduating class reported perfect attendance over a five year period. They were Jean Beachy, Catherine Rodeheaver and Kenneth Nutz. Vonda Cummings recorded perfect attendance for four years.

Southern's overall attendance report for the year showed a final average of 94.3. Even though this figure fell short of the goal of 95 set by school officials, Mr. Johns indicated satisfaction at the record. He pointed out that in addition to the eighty-five perfect attendance records, 256 boys and girls had maintained records of excellence. [illegible]

Mr. Johns indicated that a would be made this summer of those students who had excessive days of absences this past year. He said that a drive to improve attendance for the next school year would be inaugurated by the teaching staff in the fall.

The ninth grade showed the best attendance record with seven students reporting perfect attendance. Tenth grade was second place with seven perfect attendance records.

Advise Tree Growers On Pruning Plans

Forest plantation owners who expect to thin some of their trees for sale at Christmas and commercial tree growers are being advised by foresters to prune the trees in their plantation to gain maximum symmetry and bushiness.

The Maryland Christmas Tree Growers association advises that the period from now through the middle of July is the best time to prune Red, White and Scotch pines. Trees pruned during this period produce new buds where cut is made, and after several pruning's a high quality tree will develop. Hedge shears are normally used for the operation which consists of the terminal or top leader is cut back to 10 or 12 inches. The remaining lateral or side branches are then cut to conform. Care should be taken to cut only the new growth. Short needled conifers like Spruce and Fir are pruned during the dormant season from late fall until early spring.

Tree growers desiring further information on pruning may contact R. Thomas Dwyer, assistant district forester in the Cooperative Building in Oakland.

Misunderstanding May Cause Lost Benefits

Many persons may be losing benefits payments due to a misunderstanding on the part of the Social Security [illegible] of the Social Security [illegible] Jane A. Gwinn, manager of the local Security office said today.

While Social Security is a [illegible] system Gwinn listed the following three reasons why eligibles may be unaware that an individual has not received:

1. Age 72 regardless of the amount of earnings.

2. Any month beyond age 65 for men and age 62 for women workers during which a person's earnings are less than $2080.

3. Any calendar year after age 65 or 62 for women workers during which a person's earnings are less than $2080.

Since payments can never go back more than 12 months, it is important for an individual to contact the Social Security office at once when any of the three occasions arise. Mr. Gwinn cited one recent case handled by his office of a $3,000 benefit loss by a 76-year old worker who had neglected to file application at age 72.

Pruning Improves Shrubs and Plants

Pruning! This is one garden chore that baffles most people. But really, there's no magic or mystery about it. It's simple, easy, and what's more, fun.

Periodic pruning is required by all trees and shrubs, because nature unattended, goes berserk

What you need are proper tools and to learn the reasons for pruning. This will help you know how to prune, and when.

If you want well formed trees and shrubs, each year you'll have to remove dead, diseased, broken and injured parts. Pruning helps increase the profusion of bloom, making ornamentals more attractive. It will help make our trees more treelike, shrubs bushier, and will rejuvenate declining plants.

These are the reasons for pruning. But you'll still want to know how and when is the best time to prune. Some folks think early spring is the only time to prune. In part, this is true. For instance, fruit trees should be pruned before growth starts in the spring. But some of the shrubs and ornamental trees are best pruned after flowering, to encourage growth of new wood, where blooms form.

Answers to your questions on pruning are contained in University of Maryland Extension Service's Bulletin 150, "Pruning Ornamental Trees and Shrubs." You can get a copy from your county agent. He also has information on pruning fruit trees.

June Designated As Dairy Month

June is designated as Dairy Month. The reason is that during this 30-day period production of milk, cheese, and butter reaches its peak.

Throughout the state 4-H dairy projects are contributing their share to the over-all peak production month. More than three-quarters of a million 4-H Club members across the nation are engaged in two specific dairy award programs.

Some of the boys and girls are raising their own animals under the guidance of Extension Service specialists and county agents. They are learning about production, sanitation, marketing and showmanship. Another group is specializing in dairy foods demonstration, learning for themselves and then showing others why and how dairy products are essential in a balanced diet and good health.

A total of 12 college scholarships will be presented to the nation's top winners to be announced next fall during the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Other awards include expense-paid trips to the congress, wrist watches and gold-filled medals.

Both programs are under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

By DICK CASTILOW

There was a new "Teen Canteen" dance held in the Moose hall last Wednesday night. There were 150 teen agers in attendance. Everyone brought yearbooks and all seemed to have a good time. Music was furnished by records and The Royales. There will be another "Teen Canteen" held Friday night from 8 until 11. Admission is 35 cents and the dances are properly chaperoned.

In Washington Saturday, The Royales made a tape and film for the Milt Grant Show on Channel 5. Appearing on the same program were Lloyd Price and Marvin Johnson. It was an odd sensation to watch ourselves on TV. The Royales played their brand new tune, "Auditorium Rock."

I hope to have some more interviews with top talent later this month. Possibly Lloyd Price of "Stagger Lee" and "Personality" fame.

There is a crazy new tune out. It is called "Goose Bumps" and was written by Doug Wray.

Well, see you at Teen Canteen tomorrow night.

A.S.C. Program Gets Increase In Funds

The Garrett County A. S. C. Committee has received an additional $12,500 for the 1959 program, it was announced this week by Curtis Savage, County Chairman. The additional money was secured for the county by a Rural Development sub committee under the chairmanship of Herbert Wildesen.

Elbert Riley, A. S. C. office manager, stressed that sufficient requests for cost share assistance are on file in the local office to use the entire 1959 allotment including the additional $12,500. The County Committee was unable to approve requests for conservation practices from 148 farms before receiving additional money.

As the supplemental funds were granted for work with the Rural Development Program their use has been restricted to the following practices: drainage of eligible cropland, pasture improvement, control of permanent legumes and grasses, woodland improvement, and tree planting.

The Happy Fisherman

There was a fellow at the plant who was always asking me to go with him to church.

In a way this picture portrays his zeal. For there was something boyishly enthusiastic about his eagerness; something joyously genuine in his confidence.

And his fervor reminded one of the disciples of old who became "fishers of men."

Well, he brought my family to church. Not because he was a salesman or a saint. Simply because he encouraged us to seek the convictions he was so eager to share.

Betty and I, and little Ricky, really owe our cherished faith to the moment that fellow at the plant said, "I'LL STOP BY YOUR PLACE ON SUNDAY MORNING."

Now, we too, find happiness in bringing our friends and neighbors to church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Across Borders

Lesson for June 14, 1959

"THEY'RE NOT OUR kind of people." How many times that is said, and has been said! That one sentence is enough, in many people's minds, to end the question: Shall we take them in? Shall we have anything to do with them that is not absolutely necessary? In particular, that one sentence is used as a bar at the church door, where no such bars ought to be.

Dr. Foreman

We have in the Old Testament a story about two men who were as different as two men could be. Just about all that goes into that phrase, "—not our kind of people," could have been said by either of these men against the other. It is pretty certain that the friends of either man would not have "accepted" the other man. And yet these men found a way across the border, a way that is always to be found when men look for it.

Race Barriers

It is not only in America, still less only in the "Deep South," that differences of race bring up the expression, "Not our kind of people." Wherever two races meet and compete, there is a race problem. The ancient Jews knew all about it. Of course a modern American might smile at the difference between Elisha the Jew and Naaman the Syrian. They were both orientals, weren't they? But Elisha's friends, and Naaman's friends, would not have smiled about it. Jews felt pretty grim when they thought of Syrians, and Syrians felt pretty contemptous when they thought of Jews. They would not for a minute have considered themselves of the same race. The Syrians at that time were much the stronger people. They thought of Israelites or Hebrews (as Jews then were called) as a weak, stupid, dirty, inferior race. The Hebrews on the other hand by no means looked up to Syrians as noble examples and benefactors. They thought of them as cruel men, oppressing the weak and living by power, not by justice. The two races might be related as enemy and enemy, or as master and slave; but not as friend and friend, not as equals. Yet Naaman and Elisha crossed the border of race.

Barriers of Position

Another difference between people which leads to the thought, "Not our kind ," is the difference which is caused by position in society, including difference of occupation. You can take twin babies and bring them up in separate homes, one the home of an illiterate manual laborer, and the other the home of a banker or a college president; one boy will have no education and the other a very fine one; then follow the boys through life, and by the time they are 30 each one would be saying about the other (if he didn't know they were brothers), "Not my kind of people."

Elisha and Naaman were not only different by race, they were different by occupation and position. Elisha was a prophet of God, his specialty was religion. Naaman had a kind of religion, a very different one, but he didn't take even that very seriously. Elisha was a poor man, Naaman was wealthy, and a slave-owner. Elisha's most spectacular labors had been the saving of lives (and saving Naaman's was right in his line); Naaman's business, as a general, was killing (including killing Israelites).

High-Altitude Crossing

And yet Elisha and Naaman crossed the border-line drawn by the contrast between their social positions and work in life. How did they do it? They did it the way modern armies, or peacetime fleets of commercial planes, can cross borders which once upon a time were formidable and all but impossible to cross.

In the same way, the road across the barriers caused (for example) by race or by position or occupation or money or education, is seldom a road through these borders. It is above them. And the name of this high dimension is religion. It was at last in the bond of a common faith that Elisha and Naaman met, "two strong men face to face."

What's Wrong With Our Defense?—The United States has no defense against intercontinental missiles at this time—and no agreed-upon defense against manned bombers—other than retaliation. This fact has been brought out in the controversy over rival weapons. Top officers of the Army, the Air Force and the Navy are in open disagreement about the Nike and the Bomarc and, in fact, about the whole approach to home defense in a missile era.

The immediate point of dispute is: which would do better against enemy bombers—the Air Force's jet-powered Bomarc, with a 400-mile range, or the Army's rocket-powered Nike-Hercules, with an 80-mile range? Neither is designed to stop missiles, only manned bombers.

The dispute flared into the open when the Senate Committee on Armed Services, of which I am a member, issued a report taking to task the Pentagon for failure to make a clear-cut assignment of functions in air defense, which failure resulted in a wasteful overlapping in weapons systems.

In a Memorial Day Speech on the Antietam Battlefield, in which I compared weapons of Antietam and weapons of today, I deplored the sorry spectacle of the inter-service fight. The squabble conceivably could serve a good purpose: it could bring action to "put our house in order." Retaliation is not enough; we must have an effective defense against manned bombers and against missiles.

"While The Little Men Are Fiddling..."—Dr. Teller, developer of the H-bomb, warns us that if the present pattern in science education is continued, "ten years from now, Russia will be the unquestioned leader in the scientific field." He added: "If we begin to work very hard in science education, we can regain the lead later on. If we do not begin now—and in a big way—the Russian Communists will shape the world of the year 2000."

2 Monkeys, 1 Chimp, 4 Mice, And 1 Pig—With the help of an assortment of animals, the United States is slowly but surely approaching that exciting moment when it will send the first astronaut into space—and bring him back safe and sound. From Cape Canaveral, a Jupiter rocket soared 300 miles high, bound for Antigua, 1500 miles away, with two live monkeys aboard, and 15 minutes later, at the appointed place, the monkeys in their nose-cone conveyance were picked up—still alive. At Alamogordo, N. M., a rowdy chimpanzee went through boring hours in an isolation booth. At Vandenberg Air Force Base, four carefully selected mice were sent on a trip intended to take them on 17 earth-circling orbits and then bring them back to earth. (At the time this is written, the mice have not been heard from.) In St. Louis, a 150-pound pig was strapped in the model of the first Project Mercury space ship which was then dropped down a shaft. The four widely separated activities were considered necessary steps before the first man ventures forth into space.

Space science is no longer science fiction. The Space Administration has announced its research program. The research has been divided into several broad areas: Atmospheres; Ionospheres; Energetic Particles; Electric and Magnetic Fields, Gravitational Fields; Astronomy, and Bio-sciences. The program is subject to amplification and modification as work progresses and scientific data and results are obtained from orbiting space vehicles.

The Space Administration is calling for bids for the construction of its 35-million-dollar tracking-communications-data processing network.

The Senate Space Committee last week approved a $485,300,000 authorization for the Space Administration for the coming year, beginning July 1st.

What's New In Science"—Music and voice broadcasts beamed at the Moon in Manchester, England, bounced back to Boston, proving that the Moon can be used as a radio relay station.

New tests show that ultrasonic vibrations—above the hearing range—can be combined with conventional welding methods to improve the joining of metals.

At Whiteoak, Montgomery County, Maryland, last week, the Navy displayed to the public its new wind tunnel capable of generating wind speeds to to 8,000 miles an hour—to be used in testing space-age hardware. Also on display was a tunnel built to study rocket re-entry problems.

The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency reports to us that Soviet Russia claims to have developed an underground rocket that burns its way through rock and soil. If true, it is the answer to engineers' dreams—a tunneling device that doesn't create an earth-disposal problem.

Construction In Maryland—Our Committee on Armed Services completed its work on military construction authorization. A listing of the projects, State by State, shows that Maryland fared well. Maryland, with its military projects to cost a total of $28,664,000, ranks second in the United States.

Commissioner Hazeltine of the Community Facilities Administration has informed me that he would approve a loan of $500,000 to the Church Home and Hospital of Baltimore to build a dormitory to house 117 student nurses, and a loan of $357,000 to the Carroll County General Hospital at Westminster to build a new three-story 62-bed general hospital building.

Commissioner of Education Derthick tells me that three Maryland counties are to receive Federal funds for school construction: Calvert, $29,550; Anne Arundel, $678,330; Montgomery, $1,258,560.

Legislation Introduced In The Senate—Last week I introduced a resolution which would establish a Peace Officers Memorial Day, to honor those of our peace officers—Federal, State, and Municipal—who have been killed or disabled in line of duty.

I co-sponsored with Senator Keating of New York a bill to abolish mandatory death sentences in District of Columbia courts. All the States already have abolished the mandatory provision and we believe the District law should be in line with that of the rest of the country.

It Takes More Money Today—You and I are victims of inflation. And of taxes. The tax collector has raised his take to nearly 28 times the 1939 tax. The cost of living has more than doubled. The combination of the two things brings about a situation which can be pictured by the following:

To match a 1939 income of $4,000, your income now must be $10,000, considering additional taxes and inflation. To match a 1939 income of $6,000, you have to have an income now of $16,000, the $10,000 difference going for $4,000 extra in taxes and $6,000 for inflation.

A "Basket Full Of Money"—President Eisenhower has his own definition of inflation. He says: "When a housewife takes a purseful of money to the store and returns with a market basket full of groceries, that's normal; but when she takes a market basket full of money to the store and returns with a purseful of groceries, that's inflation!"

Congressional Viewpoint

By John Marshall Butler

Propaganda

These days, to be able to distinguish between absolute truth and deliberate distortion of truth, one must understand the meaning and nature of propaganda. This word is used more and more to describe the efforts of governments and people to bend the public mind to a certain viewpoint.

Propaganda is an attempt to convince. It can be good or bad, truthful or untruthful, conscious or unconscious, reasonable or unreasonable, rational or irrational, direct or subtle, intentional or unintentional. A public opinion expert defines propaganda by saying that it "awakens passion by confusing the issues; it makes the insignificant seem weighty; it makes the important seem trifling; it keeps the channels of communication full of exciting stuff; it keeps people battling in a fog." Other analysts classify propaganda as "pulling the wool over the eyes of the public."

A fundamental purpose of propaganda is to have people make a judgment on the basis of incomplete evidence or to create attitudes that will encourage them to jump at conclusions without paying much attention to the evidence. There are those who argue that the methods used by an educator do not vary much from those of propaganda. Though the educator to some extent imparts knowledge by suggestion, propaganda is essentially different from education. One writer puts it this way: "The purpose of education is to develop an individual who will maintain an open mind until the evidence is all in and to give him a range of knowledge that will enlarge the outlook of his mind."

Of course propaganda thrives on publicity and prominence, and in the process, there is no precise dividing line between emotional and rational responses by individuals or groups. Argument, persuasion often play conflicting roles. The strategy of argument can be summarized as an ability to convince an audience as to the legitimacy of certain goals or projects by logical discussion, whereas the strategy of persuasion in "an attempt to bring about favorable response without bringing into play serious mental activity."

The frequency with which these devices of propaganda are utilized today to change influence or mold public opinion has become a considerable reading study of the subject. One conclusion seems to stand out: our daily lives are exposed to much propaganda. But an informed citizenry needs enlightenment and truth, not propaganda, and this purpose should guide our considerations of the mish-mash of propaganda which is now thrust upon us in large measure.

The bodies of the two Clarksburg boys who disappeared in early April were found in their submerged car in Elk Creek near the town, May 24.

WEEKLY SERMON by Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

Responsibility Of Parents

Mr. Edgar Hoover says, "The home is the front line in the battle against delinquency. Parents must learn to face facts, live by the truth, set good examples, take time to understand their children, and above all, truly love them. The parent who really loves his child will be concerned about him, will know where he is and what he is doing. Too many are unaware of their youngsters activities outside the home". Another wise man by the name of Solomon once wrote under Divine Inspiration, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." The difficulty is that parents start too late to teach their children to be obedient. Obedience is not a natural virtue in any child, it must be taught. A small shoot of a tree can easily be straightened but after a few years it is impossible to do anything with it. A parent's responsibility of rearing their children will be greatly aided if the father and mother will accompany that child to a good Church and Sunday School where they teach the Bible. Then when they become of age it will be the parents privilege to introduce them to the Saviour. Let Christ help you raise your children.

CHEVY BESTS
7 (COUNT 'EM) 7
Independent experts and official facts and figures prove Chevrolet's ahead of its field in seven big ways.
BEST BRAKES . . . In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR*, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not: Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. BEST TRADE-IN . . . Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." BEST STYLE . . . Popular Science magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." It's the only car of the leading low-priced three that's unmistakably modern in every line. BEST ECONOMY . . . No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car. BEST ROOM . . . Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.‡ make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. BEST ENGINE . . . Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As Sports Cars Illustrated puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." BEST RIDE . . . You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But Motor Trend magazine expresses it this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

Recently I had the opportunity to visit two important military operations. On May 5 the Aerial Firepower Demonstration took place at the Air Proving Ground Center at Eglin Air force base in Florida. The work of the Air Research and Development commands work in developing and testing defense weapons systems was seen.

On May 22 a visit was made to the U.S. army ordnance missile command at Redstone Arsenal in Alabama. A briefing was given of the development and employment of Army ballistic missiles, highlighted by a discussion with Dr. Wernher von Braun.

Among other activities: attending hearings before the House committee on post office and civil service on a proposed government employee loyalty and security program.

On June 1 the house subcommittee on public lands of the interior committee began executive sessions on H. R. 2331 and other bills to establish a C and O canal national historical park. Public hearings on the legislation have been printed and are available.

Railroad Retirement And Unemployment Compensation

A major piece of legislation was passed at the end of last month dealing with railroad retirement and unemployment benefits.

The new legislation will increase pensions, annuities and survivor benefits for railroad workers by 10 percent. In order to make the increase possible, the legislation provides for a periodic increase in employer and employee railroad retirement taxes.

Unemployment benefits were increased. The daily maximum benefit amount was increased from $5.70 to $10.20, and the legislation provides that railroad employees with 10-15 years service could receive benefits for a maximum of 26-weeks, and employees with 15 or more years of service could receive benefits for 39-weeks. The existing law had provided 13-weeks of benefits. The maximum employer contribution to the railroad unemployment insurance account was increased from 3 percent to 3.75 percent.

Farm Legislation

On May 20 the House passed an appropriation bill for the Department of Agriculture and the Farm Credit Administration. The bill was amended so as to limit Commodity Credit loans to $50,000.

Housing

The Housing Act of 1959 passed the House by a vote of 261-160, and now awaits the President's signature. The legislation provides $2.1 billion for housing for the elderly, college housing, urban renewal, cooperative housing, and 140,000 units of public housing.

Septic Tank Cleaners Should Have License

People who are working as scavengers in the county cleaning septic tanks, seepage pits and toilets without a license, were advised by the health department this week that they must have their equipment checked by the department.

Charles B. Miller, county sanitarian, said the department had heard of several people who were working in the county in this manner.

He said Maryland health laws state that people doing that kind of work are supposed to be licensed. He advised that before any citizen of the county hires some person to clean septic tanks, etc., that they should ask to see their state license. Miller said they also were supposed to have an individual license for each truck and tank which they operate.

WEEKLY SERMON

A Church's Reputation!

The popularity of a Church is seldom a sign of a healthy spiritual condition. What Jesus said of a man is also true of a Congregation. "Woe unto you when all men shall speak well of you!" (Luke 6:26). It surely is not a compliment for a Church when the wrong people speak highly of it. Surely the world of the ungodly are likely to have a strong prejudice against a Church that condemns wickedness. They will not exactly love them when they make it clear that the vast majority are on the broad road that leads the downward course to eternal destruction. Even the preaching of the Gospel is an offense to them for while it is the sweet savour of life to those who believe, it is the savour of death to those who reject it. The precious verse found in John 3:16 which tells of God's love in providing salvation to those who believe, speaks also of perishing to those who refuse to believe. So we see that a Church which believes in a clear-cut sounding of the Gospel and a denouncing of sin, is not to be spoken of too highly by the unsaved man on the outside. Jesus warned His followers in John 15:18-25 that would be the case.

"Goodness! Where's all the paint I got in the Want Ads?"

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Diploma-1959

From our two high schools here in the county this week, our young people have received their diplomas. This signifies they have completed a prescribed course of study, satisfactorily, and represents a high spot in their young lives. It has a special significance for each individual member.

Since each of the class members is an individual, different and unique, this achievement means something different to each one, for to it they have brought their own special work and effort. Some, I would suppose have done only the minimum required amount of studying, of concentration, of real intellectual effort. Others, have on the other hand devoted much time to research and had more than average class room response. To some the effort has come easily, to others it has been more difficult.

Years ago, at my own graduation, I wondered why the word, "Commencement" was used when it seemed it was the end of four years of study, of social activities, of growth, when we became very close friends. I know now that the word is appropriate for that is just what it is, a beginning, a commencement, based on the knowledge just gained for further study, more learning and the application of that knowledge. This should be the beginning of the kind of learning that broadens lives, enriches and motivates young people for lives of service and dedication.

I would wish for each one of our graduates a just pride in this achievement, for this is a worthy one. On the other hand, and this is not impossible, I would wish for them a deep sense of humility, realizing what a small part of the great storehouse of knowledge they have thus far attained. I would hope for them a mind open for knowledge, for wisdom, for understanding in the years ahead.

The president of the Ford Foundation for Education, speaking on a television program this week made the statement that too often young people have the mistaken idea that learning only takes place when they are seated in a classroom, along with perhaps twenty-five others, and a teacher to guide and instruct them. He pointed out that learning can and should take place anywhere, anytime, when the one who wishes to learn makes the special effort, on his own initiative to do so. He pointed out that it is a lifetime process, and can continue as long as we live.

He pointed out that too few students pursue learning after graduation. He stressed the fact that all of us need to appreciate learning and knowledge for their own sakes, not just for the extra income they can bring us.

How grateful all of us should be that this year's graduating class has so many opportunities in this good land of ours for learning. But, it is only when it is used and we avail ourselves of it that it has any meaning for any of us.

Best wishes to all of our graduates, and I hope they will pursue further knowledge joyously and I am sure their lives will be the richer and happier for it.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

A Summary Of This Session—Let's take stock. What is the situation in Congress and particularly in the Senate, as regards key items?

Public Laws Enacted: Hawaiian Statehood; Temporary Unemployment Compensation; Draft Extension; Wheat Program Extension; Railroad Retirement; Second Supplemental Appropriations.

Vetoed: REA Reorganization (veto sustained).

Now in Conference: Federal Airport Act; Bretton Woods Monetary Agreements; Housing Bill.

Passed by Senate: Area Redevelopment; Unemployment Compensation; Labor Reform; Bank Reserves; Bank Mergers; Federal Airport Construction; International Health; Wheat Marketing Quota and Price Program.

Reported in Senate: Farm products Industrial Use; Insurance Tax; Reorganization Act Extension; Military Construction Authorization; Tobacco Supports.

Current Hearings in Senate: Aid to Education; Mutual Security Authorization; Civil Rights; AEC Authorization; Agricuture Legislation; Appropriation Bills; D. C. Home Rule; Minimum Wage; Department of Science.

No Action Yet: Gasoline Tax Increase; Postal Rate Increase; Veterans' Pensions Revision.

John Foster Dulles—Numerous Senators took the floor to speak in tribute to the life, character and services of John Foster Dulles, until recently our Secretary of State, who passed on last week. Mr. Dulles was the great man of this era. Mr. Dulles' every diplomatic action was based on his deep-rooted religious feeling that the prineiples hehind Communism are profoundly wrong and must surely collapse if opposed with unyielding resolution.

Mr. Dulles was said to be rigid. In assessing the man, we must keep in mind the distinction between inflexibility of tactics, which is wrong, and inflexibility of underlying principle, which is heavenborn.

Broad Medical Research Bill—The International Health Bill, which I co-sponsored and which passed the Senate last week, establishes a program of cooperative international medical research. It will mobilize the world's top medical minds. The research, in laboratories in various countries, will be administered from the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md.

District Of Columbia Committee—The Senate District Committee, of which I am Ranking Minority Member, held hearings on the D. C. transit system, on the licensing of dentists, on child-placing agencies, on the question of fees for transcripts of birth and death certificates, and on appropriations for the D. C. hospital center.

Memorial Day At Antietam—I was privileged to take part in the Memorial Day program at Sharpsburg, Maryland, the scene of the Battle of Antietam, the bloodiest battle of the War Between The States. There, in that historic setting where General Robert E. Lee and General George B. McClellan fought to a draw, the two sides losing some 25,000 men, I compared weapons of warfare of those days to modern weapons of mass destruction.

Eisenhower Visits Maryland College—President Eisenhower last week dedicated a new auditorium at St. John's College, Annapolis, to the memory of Franels Scott Key, composer of the "Star-Spangled Banner" and a St. John's graduate. The President took this occaslon to make a major speech on the subject of sound economy.

Maryland People Honored—Cadet Stephen W. Fertig, whom I appointed to West Point, is to receive the Wm. P. Fickes Memorial Trophy as captain of the 1959 lacrosse team. Dr. Charles R. Anderson, of Brooklandville, Maryland, professor of American Literature, Johns Hopkins University, has been awarded a grant by the Department of State to lecture at the University of Turin in Italy, the award being made under the provisions of the Fulbright Act. The National Science Foundation has announced fellowship awards to three young people of Maryland: Mathematics: Janet Mullally of Bethesda and Kenneth Ireland of Baltimore; Engineering: Donald L. Fink of Baltimore.

Maryland Cities Plan Improvements—The Federal Housing Administrator has approved the program of Annapolis for the elimination and prevention of slums and blight. Such approval is prerequisite for Federal assistance. An official planning commission is to be appointed and a master plan prepared.

The Urban Renewal Administration has awarded a Federal grant of $60,000 to the Maryland State Planning Commission to continue its comprehensive planning for the development of the Baltimore regional area, including the elty of Baltimore and five surrounding counties, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Harford, and Howard. The work will involve an analysis of housing, including residential land uses and densities; preparation of plans for the location of parks and recreation facilities; and a study of the Baltimore corridor of the Baltimore-Washington Inter-regional highway system.

Monument To G. Washington For Cumberland—This past week I introduced a bill providing for the erection of a monument at Fort Cumberland, Maryland, to honor George Washington. The history of Fort Cumberland is interwoven with the life history of our first President. Among other things, it was while Washington was stationed at Fort Cumberland that he ran for his first elective office, member of the Virginia House of Burgesses.

No Modernistic Post Office For Denton—I have objected to the modernistic-type building planned for the new Denton Post office. Senator Butler and I sent a joint statement this past week to General Services Administrator Floete in which we said that the people of Denton desire a colonial type structure compatible with the charming Court House and the quiet dignity of this fine Maryland community, and that the plans for a modernistic building were unacceptable.

Goats Versus Modern Science—Goats—nanny and billy—are faithfully forecasting weather out in Oregon. It is almost as though they resented present-day scientific progress and are determined to retain certain prerogatives. The Oregon goats roam wild on Mt. Nebo, above Roseburg. Residents watch their movements closely. When goats come down to mountain-side eaves, bad weather invariably follows. But when you hear the heartening cry, "The goats are up!" you can then plan a picnic, a golf date, or a fishing trip, because you know the sun will surely be shining.

This Is Democracy? - - - -

Holding hearings on the West Coast, a Congressional subcommittee quizzed three Machinists recently expelled by their union for having supported right-to-work laws.

Said Jimmy Roosevelt, as a member of the subcommittee: "If it is right for management to fire a person for disloyalty, it is equally right for a union to do so."

The expelled union member under question replied: "Then you are putting me in the position of an employe of the union. I thought I was running this union!"

As pointed out by Edward W. Greenfield, writer of "Pause for Reflection," an employer at least pays you for the obedience required to run a company. The idea in his hiring you is that you work for him. The idea in paying dues to a union is that it's supposed to work for you. But here a union says, "You owe your livelihood to us. Do as we say, or else!"

The machinists claim their union was "perhaps the most democratically administered union in the country." Democratic government has always been "of the people, by the people, for the people." When Republicans win they don't deport the Democrats. But a union expels three men whose politics it doesn't like—and this is supposed to be "the most democratic union." That's ridiculous.

We are being slowly relieved of our precious freedoms.

Claims Chicken Coop Near Motel Is Hurting Business

Owners of a Deep Creek lake restaurant and motel have asked the Circuit court for an injunction to prevent nearby property owners from maintaining a chicken house and coop, manure and trash pile, which they claim is having a tendency to injure their business.

The suit was docketed June 9 by Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Vannucci, owners of Pt. View Inn since 1945, against Carl Harvey and Naomi Harvey, star route, Oakland.

The plaintiffs claim that a chicken house and runway were placed directly opposite and across the highway from their establishment after construction was begun on an 18-unit motel adjacent to the inn, in 1957 and that various complaints about the situation have been ignored. They declare the Harveys maintain a manure pile beside the chicken house and are beginning a junk pile, east of the chicken house.

The papers state that the plaintiffs have expended large sums of money and have a considerable investment in the property and that the unsightly premises of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey detract from the "beautiful and natural surroundings and depreciate the value of the plaintiff's property." They claim vile and foul odors are carried at times from the property to that of the plaintiff's place of business and that numerous guests have declared they will not return while present conditions exist.

They claim the noise is "engendered by chickens at all hours of the day and night, particularly night and early morning, 4:30 to 5 and at any time when car doors in front of the motels are being closed and that the noise awakens and disturbs the guests."

Mr. and Mrs. Vannucci are asking that the defendants be permanently enjoined from maintaining a chicken house and coop, manure and trash pile and ask for the awarding or such a sum as the court may deem proper for damages.

S. F. Hamill and F. A. Thayer are attorneys for the plaintiffs. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey have 15 days in which to file an answer, after which the Associate Judge, Neil C. Fraley, will set a date for a hearing on the matter.

Dr. William Graham Named To Faculty at West Va. University

Dr. William Lee Graham, associate professor of Oral Diagnosis, has been appointed to the faculty of West Virginia University School of Dentistry. His appointment is effective July 1, it was announced by Kenneth V. Randolph, dean of the school.

Dr. Graham was born in Crellin and is a son of Mr and Mrs. Spencer Graham, of Oakland.

His secondary education was received from Oakland High school from which he was graduated in 1942. Following a tour of military service in the United States Navy, during which time he attended schools of Hospital Orientation, General Dental Technology and Prosthetic Dental Technology, Dr. Graham received his predental education at Marietta college, Marietta, Ohio, from which he was graduated with a B.A. degree in 1948. In the fall of 1949 he was admitted to the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, and received his D.D.S. degree in 1953. Immediately following graduation he began practicing dentistry in Williamstown, W. Va.

After a period of two years in private practice, Dr. Graham's interests and ideals were directed toward dental education. He returned to the U. of M. to accept an appointment as instructor in the Department of Oral Diagnosis. He was promoted to the rank of associate professor, a position which he held prior to accepting the appointment at West Virginia university.

In addition to his duties in the Department of Oral Diagnosis, Dr. Graham has lectured to students on various facets of practice management. He is a member of the American Association, Maryland State Dental Association and Baltimore City Dental Society.

He is married to the former Mildred Biser, of Oakland.

Charged in Plotting Dynamite Violence

Boyd E. Payton, a former official of the Textile Workers Union in Cumberland, a former resident of Mt. Lake Park, and a graduate of Oakland High school, is among eight men indicted on charges of plotting dynamite violence in the bitter textile strike at Henderson, N. C.

Payton, of Charlotte, is Carolina's director of the TWUA and was named with three other union officials. Four strikers were also named. Each was freed under $15,000 bond.

The indictment charged the men with conspiring to dynamite a Carolina Power and Light company sub-station transformer which feeds power to the mills; dynamite the boiler room at the South Henderson mill; and destroy the main office building at the mill.

The strike began November 17 after the company called for removal of an arbitration clause in the contract. The two mills reopened for limited operations February 16. This was followed by sporadic violence. National guardsmen have been on the scene since May 12.

Mrs. Fleming is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hamilton, of Red House.

Assessment Dept. Is Reorganized

The reorganization of assessing procedures in this county and throughout the state will become effective July 1, it was announced by R. C. McComas, supervisor of assessments for Garrett county.

He said that after July 1 the office of the Supervisor of Assessments is the legal assessing authority in each county and will be responsible for making assessments, sending notices, making allowances because of transfer, sale, loss, etc.; recording of all property so assessed, and for preparing and delivering the necessary tax roll to the collector.

Previously the supervisors' office recommended the amount of assessments to the County Commissioners and the latter sent out notices to the property owners. After July the Supervisors' office will not only make the assessments but also send out the notices. Property owners still have the right of appeal to the Supervisors' office and if still not satisfied may then appeal to the County Commissioners. A final appeal may be made to the new tax court that has been set up in Baltimore city.

The method of assessing will not be changed.

The procedures for the new assessment program were outlined at a meeting in Frederick on June 4th. Attending the meeting were Mr. McComas, Jerry Moyer and Paul W. Fisher, assessors, and Mrs. Virginia Fizer, clerk of the Commissioners.

The reorganization is the result of Bill 619, of the House of Delegates, which was enacted into law by the recent legislature. Under the new system the State Tax Commission as such has been abolished and will be known as the State Department of Assessments and Taxation.

The Maryland Tax court and the State Department of Assessment and Taxation shall be separate departments of the State government.

A school for assessors is to be held in Baltimore June 21 to 26, which will be attended by Messrs. McComas, Moyer and Fisher, and also Kenneth Ridder, who is drafter of maps for the department. On June 25 the County Commissioners of the counties will attend for a discussion of the new set-up.

Mr. Moyer is scheduled to speak at one of the sessions on land valuation in regard particularly to property on Deep Creek Lake.

Carnation Workers On Strike; Farmers' Milk Accumulates

The results of a strike at the Carnation company plants in the area were being felt over the entire northern West Virginia area and into Garrett county and also Virginia.

The plant at Oakland was idled Wednesday by a strike of 118 production workers, members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Local 10295. About six of them are employed in the Oakland plant.

President of the company said the workers walked out in support of a new contract calling for "better working conditions." The old contract expired at midnight Tuesday.

The strike affects 18 independent milk haulers and receiving stations at Oakland, Cameron and Huttonsville. The Oakland plant had sent out word to the farmers that it would not receive any milk on Wednesday and the order apparently will carry through today and until settlement is made.

Some 800 farmers in the area are wondering what to do with their milk. They are losing several thousand dollars each day by their inability to dispose of their supply.

The milk is picked up daily along milk routes and large tank trucks then transport it from the Oakland sub-station to the condensery plant at Clarksburg.

Youth Rescued

Victor Reuschlein, LaVale, life guard at New Germany, was credited with saving the life of a youth about a week ago.

Michael Goebel, 14, of Mt. Savage and two older companions were swimming in the lake at the New Germany recreation area. They apparently swam out too far and young Goebel pulled one of his companions under with him in about 13 feet of water.

Reuschlein dived into the water and pulled the boy to safety.

Accepts Position As Band Director

Charles O. Warren has accepted a position as Band Director for Granby High School, Norfolk, Va.

For the past two years he has taught band at Northside Junior High in that city.

Mr. Warren is a graduate of Oakland High School, class of 1950 and Fairmont State Teachers College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Warren of Oakland.

Three Hospitalized In Week-end Wrecks

Two persons were hospitalized and another was less seriously injuried in separate auto accidents in the county over the week-end.

Arthur I. Fekland, who is stationed at Fort George G. Meade, was admitted to Miners hospital, Frostburg, early Sunday morning with injuries sustained in a two-car crash in the Finzel area.

Also injured was Thomas A. Bades, 20, of Meyersdale, Pa., driver of the car which struck a Jaguar sports car, driven by the serviceman, who was backing onto the highway from a tavern parking area.

Jack H. Phillips, 33, of Pittsburgh, was admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland with injuries sustained in a one-car crash Saturday night.

The accident occurred when Phillips failed to bring his vehicle to a stop before he entered U. S. route 219, from a country road, police said. He was forced to swerve his auto to the right in an attempt to avoid an oncoming vehicle. His car apparently went out of control and dropped into a deep ditch.

He suffered a scalp laceration and several broken ribs. He was reported in "good" condition. Tfc. C. H. DeWitt and Tfc. D. A. Tucker investigated.

Tfc. Donald R. Wade, who investigated the Finzel area accident, said Eckland will be charged with failure to give the right of way. He was kept at the hospital overnight and released Sunday. The Jaguar was damaged to the extent of about $2,500, the trooper said.

Local Business Man Put on Credit Corp.

Two Western Maryland business men were named on the temporary makeup of the new Maryland Development Credit Corporation, an agency created by the 1959 Legislature to promote the state's economic growth through loans to business and industry.

The group is expected to work closely with the Economic Development commission, also a recently created agency.

Charles A. Piper, president of the Liberty Trust company, Cumberland, and Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., Oakland business man, were named yesterday by Governor Tawes to serve as temporary directors, along with thirteen others throughout the state.

A development credit corporation is a privately financed agency whose purpose is to provide a source of long-term credit that will stimulate economic growth. Frequently this credit is used in connection with the financing of factory buildings to attract new industries into an area. The corporation set up allows banks and other financial institutions to pool part of their resources and jointly make certain long-term loans which they could not make individually.

Tawes said he believed the credit corporation would greatly assist the work of the Maryland Economic Development commission. "The two should be able to work hand in hand to stimulate the industrial and recreational development of our state," he said.

Mr. Rudy said this morning that the appointment had come as a complete surprise to him. He said there had been indications that he would be recommended for a position on the economic development commission, but he had no idea he was being considered for a member of the temporary credit corporation.
